hearing of the charge was postponed until this afternoon, when his evidence could be heard. Nickerson denied selling the liquor. This is the third man whom Mrs. Henderson has charged with supplying liquor to her, and all have pleaded not evilty. Mrs. Henderson is the ed not guilty. Mrs. Henderson is the chief witness in the three cases. Besides Nickerson there are John Porter and Edward Burke. Since Chief Inspector Wilson is in the city today, His Honor decided to clean up this afternoon the liquor cases which have been pending. Besides the cases of Nickerson, Porter and Burke, the case of finding liquor on the steamer L. C. Cann will be taken up this afternoon The case against Burke was scheduled to come up at 11 o'clock this morning, and the prisoner and his counsel, E. S. ent was awaited. His Honor pointed out the reasons for which it had been postponed; but in view of the evident dissatisfaction of the defendant's attorney, decided to give judgment.

"All right, then," he said, "we'll have it your way."

Many applicants were in attendance.

When the students have been classified the regular hours for evening classes will be arranged.

Chief Laquot and will leave again to the city today and will leave again to night. In speaking to a Times reporter this morning, he said that the wonderful success of the administration of the prohibition act in the upper counties applied readily be seen from a single in-ADDRESSED EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Members of Senior Epworth League of Portland Methodist church met in their hall in Portland street last evening and heard an eloquent address given by Rev. W. R. Robinson. He spoke on topics of interest and his address was greatly enjoyed. On motion of Frank W. Merrill, seconded by J. Howe, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speaker by the chairman, R. H. Maxwell. Rev. Neil J. McLauchlan, pastor of the church, was also heard in a brief address.

RECEIVES FINE OFFER.

Joseph McNamara, physical instructor at the Y. M. C. I., yesterday received a flattering offer from Rumford Falls, Me., to take charge of a new $25,000 building and plant just established there. The offer gives Mr. McNamara first choice and names a fine salary, but he is declining it to continue the work he is the second of the duministration of the prohibition act in the upper counties could readily be seen from a single instance, which he quoted. Last week 250 people, mostly men, interested in the clections, made a trip from Edmundston to Campbellton for electioneering purposes. A matter worthy of note was that in all the assembly there was not a drop of intoxicating liquor.

It has been suggested, in view of the great quantity of liquor and alcohol, which has been confiscated in the course of enforcing the act and which is now held by the authorities, that some use he made of it. There are several thousands of gallons, and it has been suggested that all the liquor
