DOG LAW A GOOD IDEA BUT LET THERE BE REASON

Head of Kennel Club Expresses Views About Order to Use Leash Always in Streets

"Personally I am fully in accord with the idea of the new dog law, but there are features about it that might well be modified," said J. Verner McLellan, president of the New Brunswick Kennel Club to a Times reporter this morning. "So far as the Kennel Club is concerned," he said, "there has been no action taken and I cannot say anythingh from an official standpoint except that the club is always willing to abide by the law. But I will say for myself that there are two things in connection with the new law that should be amended.

"The first and perhaps the most important is the matter of the disposal of the dogs after they have been placed in restraint by the catcher. I understand that several dogs have been caught and placed in a box stall together. Now, this is a most inhuman action; there is a possibility of a valuable dog being placed in there with a ferocious canine and some serious damage result. I think that the city could be called upon to assume damages in a case like this. There certainly should have been some preparation made for the reception of the stray dogs before the dog catcher was on his duty.

"Then there is the libaility of a valuable dog contracting disease; it would be a very effective way of spreading the diseases that are prevalent among the animals.

"With regard to the matter of having all dogs under leash; I think that some discretion might be used in the framing of this section of the law. For instance, there are some dogs which will not go under leash and there are also some dogs which do not require restraint while being taken about the streets. My idea of this part of the law is that the matter should be left to the common sense of the owner, and he should be made responsible for the actions of his dog. If a man knows that his dog will follow him about without wandering and doing damage, he should be allowed to assume the responsibility, and if the dog should do any damage he should be called upon to pay a heavy fine and then be compelled to keep the dog under leash. This would tend, in my opinion, to effect the same results as intended by the new law and yet not cause half the inconvenience. I firmly believe in the regulations governing the apprehension of stray dogs, but think that there is a reasonable limit.

"While speaking of dogs," Mr. McLellan said, "I might say that there are about fifty per cent of the dogs in the city that are nothing but 'tramps' and the city, as well as the dog population would be better off if they were got rid of."

Despite the protests against the strict enforcement of the dog laws, and particularly against the section that provides that dogs will not be allowed in the streets or other public places except under leash, Commissioner Potts is convinced that the law is a good one and should be enforced.

"The law is not aimed at the good dogs which are worth keeping, but at the worthless curs which infest the streets. There are hundreds of dogs roaming the streets which are of no value to any one, which are destroying property and making themselves objectionable and from many of which the city derives no revenue. We want to do away with as many of these as possible and I think we should have the co-operation of dog fanciers who know the difference between a good dog and a worthless mongrel. Even if a man does pay a license for his dog that is no reason why the animal should be allowed to roam the streets. There are very few instances in which the leash law will cause any real hardship and the benefit which the city will derive from the enforcement of the whole law is so great that we should have the support of all thoughtful citizens."

The announcement that the dog laws are to be enforced and the intimation that action will be taken against delinquent owners through the police court next week, has stimulated the call for licenses at city hall. During the last few days the number of applicants has largely increased and at noon today the total had reached 930. This is a very fair proportion for this time of the year, as only 1287 were issued altogether last year.

Summonses have been issued for those who have not yet secured their 1914 dog tag.

RUNAWAY

Excitement was caused in Main street yesterday afternoon when a horse attached to a light carriage collided with another team. One of the wheels of the carriage was smashed and the horse ran away. The carriage with only three wheels left was hauled along Main street with great speed, the driver all the time being balanced in his seat. The team collided with a telegraph pole and the driver was injured.

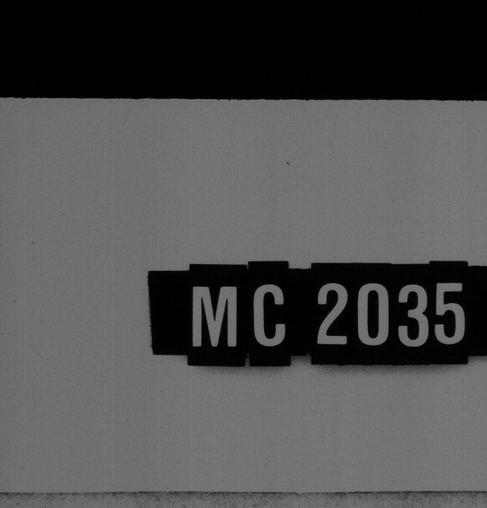
KAISER FROWNS ON "SMILING PRINCESS" AND BABY THAT HE WANTED TO BE A GIRL



Berlin, June, 18—The "Smiling Princess" has called down the wrath of her royal father, the Kaiser, upon her again. The royal infant born to Princess Louise and the Duke of Brunswick is a boy and the Kaiser wanted it to be a girl. The brith of the hereditary Guelph princeling opens up the old feud between Brunswick and Prussia and the War Lord is consequenaly sadly displeased.

In their castle at Gmuden, the "roy al love birds" are very happy, however, and proud of the sturdy boy baby that has so provoked his grandfather.

ANOTHER COLLISION

Pretoria Hits the New York in a Fog—Evidently No Damage

On board S. S. New York by wireless via Siasconsett, Mass., June 13—The Hamburg-American liner Pretoria, New York for Hamburg, collided with the American liner New York during a dense fog at 8.26 o'clock this morning. Fortunately the blow was a glancing one just abaft of the bow and the New York was not damaged.

No panic or undue excitement prevailed aboard the New York as the shock was so light that many of the passengers were not even awakened. Because of the fog the New York was stopped at the time of the accident. Later she proceeded on her voyage to New York.

Nothing is said as to whether or not the Pretoria was damaged, but the indications are that she was not, as the New York reported herself as proceeding to her destination, which she would not have done had there been any serious results from the accident.

HOPEFUL IN WEST

This Has Been Good Week For The Crops

Winnipeg, Man., June 13—The present has been a very favorable week for the western wheat crop. Not too much heat with showers over most districts is bringing along the young grain in good shape. Most of the rain fell where it is needed most, in Alberta and southwestern Saskatchewan.

At the grain exchange there is a pretty general impression that the crop could not be going along much better. This optimism is finding expression in the local jobbing and wholesale trades and offset what depression there might be over the failure of the Canadian Agency and allied interests which among them figure big in the west.

CATHOLIC LECTURER IN TORONTO AROUSES IRE OF SOCIALISTS

Toronto, June 13—Storms of interrogation assailed Peter W. Collins of Boston at the close of his lecture on "The Menace of Socialism" last evening in Massey Hall. Challenges galore were hurled at the speaker, challenges authorized and unauthorized inviting him to verbal combat.

"The Roman Catholic Church has been the greatest friend of the workingman," said Mr. Collins with emphasis.

"Boo-oo" roared the Socialists, who evidently disagreed with the statement.

"I've heard that kind of noise before," said the lecturer, "but it was around the pig pen." At another point he tried to mollify his audience by the remark, "I'd like to be a member of the Socialist parliament. It must be fine."

Mr. Collins, who himself is a Catholic workingman, and believes in labor organizations, maintained that Socialism was opposed to religion, the family, property and to the workers themselves. After the lecture the Socialist element gathered at the corner outside the hall and held a protest meeting, saying things about the lecture and lecturer which were not complimentary, but Mr. Collins was by that time aboard his train some distance from Toronto.

EVERY EFFORT TO HAVE BERRY HERE

Dugal Counsel Doing All Possible to That End — Reported in Boston

Mucir interest has been aroused by the situation arising from the departure from the province of W. H. Berry, chief scaler for the province, on the eve of the inquiry by the royal commission into the Dugal charges.

It was on the day that the commission was holding its organization meeting in St. John that Mr. Berry left his home in St. Stephen and took the train for parts unknown, telling his wife that he would be away for some time.

Mr. Berry, as he had every reason to expect, was named as one of the witnesses, and an attempt was made to serve the subpoena on him in St. Stephen last Saturday. He was not to be found, and Mrs. Berry explained the circumstances of his departure. She seemed greatly disturbed over the matter, and said that she would try to locate him and induce him to return in time for the next session of the commission.

Since then every effort has been made by the counsel for Mr. Dugal to locate Mr. Berry, and information has been received that he is staying at one of the principal hotels in Boston.

As it was changed that it was through his agency that the large sums of money were extorted from the lessees of crown timber lands, his absence from the inquiry would create a most unfortunate impression regarding the persons accused. Of course, it is but fair to say that Mr. Berry may return in time to testify. It must be hoped that he will—for the good of all concerned.

Concerning W. H. Berry.

(St. John Standard.)

Rumors to the effect that W. H. Berry, chief superintendent of government scalers, had left his home and that information concerning his whereabouts could not be secured have been in circulation during the last few days. The Standard was in communication with Mrs. Berry last evening, and she said that Mr. Berry had been poor in health for some time and he had gone away to consult a physician. If it was found necessary he would spend some time in a sanitarium. She could not say definitely when he would return, but she had heard from him since he left home.

PRINCE OF WALES ENTERS UPON PUBLIC LIFE

London, June 13—The Prince of Wales is now twenty years old and entered public life today by laying the foundation stone of a church at Lambeth which is upon his vast estate as Duke of Cornwall.

FUNERAL OF MRS. H. H. McLEAN

The funeral of Mrs. H. H. McLean will be held this afternoon from St. Andrew's church at three o'clock. The body will be taken to the church after a private service at her former residence, 29 Horsfield street. It is expected that Rev. J. H. MacVicar, who has been attending the Presbyterian assembly in Woodstock, Ont., will arrive home today and will conduct the service. Mrs. McLean had been a faithful member of St. Andrew's church for years and it will be a sad home coming for Dr. MacVicar to find that he has lost so valued a member of his congregation, especially since she was apparently in the best of health when he left.

At the church an impressive service will be conducted and the hymns Rock of Ages, Jesus Lover of My Soul, and Nearer My God to Thee, will be sung by a quartette composed of Miss Louise Knight, Mrs. Fred C. McNeil, C. A. Munro and Thomas Guy. J. S. Ford will preside at the organ. The pallbearers will be Dr. Thomas Walker, Dr. P. R. Inches, W. C. Whittaker, H. C. Rankine, Colonel M. B. Edwards and Alexander Wilson.

Arthur McLean, brother of H. H. McLean, has arrived in the city from Boston to attend the funeral and Hugh H. McLean, Jr., has been called home from Boston, where he had been on a visit.

Many beautiful flowers have been received from friends of the family both in the city and from various places in Canada and the United States, including set pieces from friends in Ottawa. Many messages of sympathy have also been received. The body will be laid at rest in Fernhill, where the grave has been completely lined with roses.

GREAT SUBWAYS FOR BERLIN

Berin, June 13—Plans are under consideration for three new underground railway systems in Greater Berlin, at an estimated total cost of $60,000,000. One line, from the northeast to the southwest, touching at the Royal Opera House, probably will be built in the near future. The other two are not yet beyond the stage of preliminary consideration. One would start in the Grunewald, pass under the Bradenburg Gate and Unter den Linden, and then branch off to the southward. The other is a proposed extension of the existing Schoenberg underground railway both to the north and south. It would connect the southern suburbs directly with the main lines of the city.

UNDERWRITERS LOSE BY FALSE MESSAGES

Empress and Two Other Recent Cases Are Quoted in London

London, June 13—The frequency of the receipt of false wireless messages at Lloyd's has led the authorities in London to take steps to remedy the evil. One or two proposals are to be submitted for approval. One is that all ships equipped with radio-telegraphic apparatus should be made to report "all well" once or twice every twenty-four hours, while another suggestion is that each vessel should have a secret password known only to the captain and the chiefs of wireless stations.

The result of scares is not only a good deal of unnecessary anxiety, but heavy loss to underwriters, who are in fact beginning to doubt the accuracy of serious messages. For instance, in the belief that the news of the foundering of the Empress of Ireland was a recurrence of recent canards, the overdue market at Lloyd's was found willing to write the risk of the total loss at the nominal figure of two guineas per cent., at which a fairly large business was done, with the result that heavy liability was incurred.

Not many weeks ago, it will be remembered a German steamer was reported abandoned in the Bay of Biscay, and reinsurances were effected at 80 guineas per cent., but it subsequently transpired that she had gone to the assistance of a vessel in distress. Another case was that of the Pacific Mail Company' liner Siberia, which was said to have stranded between Yokohama and Hong Kong, but which was all the time safe in port. That misleading message cost underwriters about $100,000.

SISTER OF FATHER DONAHUE IS MARRIED IN BOSTON

M., celebrated nuptial mass. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss May Donahue, while the bride's brother, Frank G., supported the groom. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. McDonald left on a honeymoon trip to Old Orchard, Me. On their return they will reside in East Weymouth.

Miss Donahue is a graduate of the General Public Hospital in this city and is a sister of Rev. Walter Donahue, of St. John the Baptist church here.

NOT ALL WELL WITH MANUEL AND BRIDE?

Deposed King and German Wife Said to Be at Variance

Paris, June 13—Although the repeated rumors of a divorce between the deposed King Manuel of Portugal and his German princess lack confirmation, friends of the family in Paris declare that their affairs have reached an acute stage. Manuel and his wife have never understood each other, and in spite of praiseworthy efforts on the part of both to arrive at an honorable arrangement of their life, they have never succeeded in bridging the gulf which opened between them immediately after their marriage.

The marriage was an idyll. Queen Amelia looked upon the daughter of her old friend, the Prince of Hohenlohe Sigmaringen as the ideal wife for her son, possessing all those qualities which were lacking in his character. The little princess had a will of her own and was not devoid of ambition. Might she not be the means of bringing Manuel back to his throne? Such a role, however, demanded, first of all, experience, and in this the princess was totally lacking. She found that Manuel was a careless, easy-going, almost irresponsible youth, irresolute but yet capable of sudden and unforseen obstinacy. He on his side saw in her a narrow-minded authoritative young person, with ideas which appeared to him out-of-date and provincial,—a passion for housekeeping and other domestic virtues which fell in neither with his tastes nor his requirements. Under these circumstances a quarrel was inevitable.

Queen Amelia and the intimates of the two families are doing their best to smoothe away the differences but they are not optimistic.
