Recent German Outrages Have Not Tended Towards Conciliation or Leniency-Speculation

London, Oct. 30—That the immediate release of all British prisoners will be insisted upon by the government as part of the armistice terms is confidently expected here. Sir George Cave, the home secretary announced in the House of Commons yesterday that the same conditions imposed upon Bulgaria in his matter would be insisted upon in any truce with Germany or Austria, and General Allenby had been instructed to follow the same policy in dealing with the Turks. There is plenty of evidence that British prisoners have received worse treatment throughout the war than the others, except the Russians. Such a demand will be a very important factor and it is not likely that the other. Allies will show less regard for their nationals who are suffering in German camps. St. John is showing its deep sense of sponsibility and obligation towards the Vectory Loan in a way which gives the committee reason to expect that the full amount allotted to this district will be taken up and the objective mark passed. It is not the number of large subscriptions which has aroused this feeling of confidence; it is the way in which the average citizen is digging down into his saving and pledging his credit at the bank in order to subscribe that has shown them that this community realizes the seriousness of the need for the success of the loan and that the people are determined that it shall be a success so far as it lies within their spower.
