Meductic Mystery as Mysterious as Ever

The Evidence of Several Witnesse Called to the Stand - Case Adjourned Till Aug. 12th.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., July 31.- The Meductic mystery is as mysterious as ever. The coroner's court has had four adjournments. A large mass of evidence has been taken, but the evidence of the analyst is yet forthcoming. The next and almost certainly the last session will be begun at 10 o'clock on the morning of the 12th of August. As the matter stands now the most important testimony is that of the doctors who made the post-mortem. They are not able to account for death from anything they saw or found. Harold T. Marsten, it will be remembered, at a previous session testified that the day before George Marsten died, he had one of his spells, or rather, he had two spells. He gave something which he thought might do him good. There was some evidence of deceased and Peter Marsten, who lived about the hotel, having had a row, and of deceased threat-but evidently relenting. In the testimong given on the 29th, a good many questions were asked about strychnine having been found over a door in the house, and Edward Higgins said that Peter Morsten had old him last summer that he had found a bottle of strychnine over the house having a very moral reputation. Arthur Higgins said that he overheard a conversation between his mother and Mrs. Marsten before George's death. Mrs. Marsten told his mother a half acres in extent and has that she found strychnine over the door in the house. Mrs. Higgins correborated the previous witness. Mrs. Marsten told her strychnine was found. Mr. Hartley asked her what led up to the questions about poison, and witness said that there was a good deal of talk going on about poison.

Mrs. Marsten also said to her that when people liked to die so bad er so well as to take poison, she would like To Mr. Murphy this witness said that Mrs. Marsten told her that the row spoken of was caused by Peter getting drunk, and she was afraid he would make trouble, so took him to his room and they stayed in the room with him. She had heard poison mentioned in connection with Several women were at Mrs. Mar sten's between the time of her hus-band's death and the funeral. Testimony was given as to a conversation between her and Mrs. Ebbett and he daughter, Mrs. Gerow, that Mrs. Mar-sten told these ladies that she had given her husband eggs, and again beef broth, and that he had said the coming to her house one day and ask-ing for his breakfast. He seemed very down-hearted, and wanted to kno what was to be thought of a man's wood out of the box and throw it at him, and that she had taken a butcher

Wm. I. V. Marsten, brother-in-laof deceased, said that he came to his use one Sunday morning and said they had had a row. He wanted one of the boys to go down and try and settle it up. He told her he did not intend to kick up a fuss, but he saw something that morning and could not keep his temper any longer. To Foreman Grosvenor witness said that deceased had said something had happened that morning. He did not anything about having chased Peter with a gun. Witness said that when she asked

Witness said that when she maked deceased why he did not go and leave the whole kit, he replied he would not go; they would have to go.

Elisha Moore gave testimony as to conversations he had with deceased. Twelve years ago, when deceased's child died, he told witness that he thought the child was poisoned, that he gave it some milk left out on the table, and that after taking it the child died like a dog with strychnine. child died like a dog with strychnine His wife told him that a squaw, Hannah Debou, with whom she had had a quarrel, must have put poison in the milk. Deceased consulted witness, who was a magnetic healer, and he told him he thought he was being poisoned. He wanted him to go to Stan-ley with him and take his treatment, and at first he said he would go, but afterwards said he would not, that his told him he had better not go from home. When he saw him again he said he could do nothing for him. Witness said from his diagnosis he be-ieved deceased was being poisoned. To Mr. Hartley witness admitted that he was interested in the hotel at Meductic, across the way from Mrs. Marsten's hotel. He used to run the hotel and now leased it. The villagers can still talk of nothing but this sensation, and the report of the analyst is anxiously looked for. Mrs. Marsten, widow of the deceased, gave birth to a baby boy the night the inquest adjourned.

HIGH HANDED PROCEEDINGS. Hauls Off W. J. Kh

(Star, August 1st.) William J. Knox of Silver Falls ed action of the water department. In expropriating his land and stealing his copp of hay.

Some time ago it was decided by the common council that in order to give a greater head of water to supply power for the Silver Falls pumping station, lands back of the present lower reservoir should be expropriated.

Among these lands were pieces owned by the bishop, Mr. Lawrence and Mr. Knox. The two former were purchased by the city, but Mr. Knox did not care to sell and nothing definite has yet been done. He of course understands that he is powerless when the council decides to take his land, but he expected that at least some notice of their intentions would be given him. Nothing, however, has yet been done in that respect, and Mr. Knox has not yet been notified of the expropriation

Upon that section of his farm which is supposed to be required for water purposes a fine heavy crop of hay was growing. On Monday last, in the ordinary course of his farming opera-tions, Mr. Knox commenced cutting this hay, and on Wednesday evening ening to shoot the whole outfit, and of his securing a gun for the purpose, but evidently relenting

Yesterday Mr. Murdoch, accompanied by five teams, entered upon Mr. Knox's land and gathered up the whole crop of hay, which they hauled to a point near the upper reservoir. Mr. Knox was not at home at the time this was done, or some trouble might have door in the house; he thought George put it there; maybe he calculated to put him out of the way that way instead of using a gun. This witness also said that he had heard of the crop on it as his own, and would have strongly resisted any action such as was taken by Mr. Murdoch yester surveyed by the engineer. It is valuable land and has been in Mr. Knox's family for many years. Today Mr. Knox came to the city for the purpose of seeking legal advice, and if possible taking action against the city for the work of yesterday. He thinks it very strange that even a representative of upon his land and carry away his crops without anything being said to him bout it. It the city is so hard up for feed Mr. Knox has a patch of buck-wheat which he will be pleased to feed to the water department officials and EECENT DEATHS. After an illness of some weeks Mrs. Sarah Seek, widow of Arthur F. Seely, passed away at 10.30 Thursday night. Deceased was a daughter of Mrs. E. O'Shaughnessy, of Winter street, and a sister of Edward and Robert O'Shaugh-

Mrs. Mary Wilson, aged 62, and a resi dent of 42 Marsh Road, dropped dead on Brussels street Thursday night at 7.30 o'clock. Deceased had been wisiting her daughter, Mrs. Beckwith, on Erin street, and was returning to he own home when she died. She was seen to stop in front of M. McGrath's department store and look in the window and a few moments afterwards Officer Thomas Sullivan, who was mear, saw her fall on the sidewalk. She was picked up and placed in a chair and an attempt was made to revive her with water. Officer Sullivan telephoned for Dr. D. E. Berryman and in the meantime, Doctor Baxter, who was passing, was called said pronounced the woman dead. Doctor Berryman arrived shortly after and ordered the removal of the body to the deceased's late home. Coroner Berryman ascribed heart failure as the cause of death and does not think an inquest necessary.

The death occurred at his home at Nashwaaksis on Wednesday last of Thomas Sansom, sr., leaving a willow and one son. RE-SETTLING BOER FARMS. Almeady 9,000 Families Have Been Reinstated

PRETORIA, Aug. 1 -- Excellent progress is being made in re-settling the Boer farms. Already 9,000 families have been re-instated on their lands, although the work of replacing the farmers has been accompanied by many difficulties, especially in securing and feeding horses and cattle. Much com-plaint was caused by the military authorities auctioning of livestock, which was bought up by speculators who resold at large profits at the ex-pense of the needy farmers. The dis-posal of the army horses has been accompanied by an epidemic of gland-ers, which is now raging in Cape Col-

An interesting incident occurred here during the loading of the Mancheste Commerce for England. Fifteen hun dred sheep were on the wharf and were being taken aboard the steamer. Sud denly a number of black-faced sheep set up a tremendous bleating, which sounded loud above the din, and in spite of the blows and shouts of those herding them, the sheep rushed past, making for an old gentleman who was standing some distance away. The gentleman was William Fitzpatrick of Kildare Capes, who happened to be in town and went down to see the new steamer. He had sold these particular sheep a few days previous, and they suddenly recognizing the familiar face of their kind old master, rushed to him as the one friend among their strange surroundings. Their parting from him was effected only by force. Alex. Ferguson, formerly of St. Pet-er's Road and now of Miramichi, is visiting his old home after a continu-ous absence of 31 years. LONDON, Aug. 1.-Colonial Secretary Chamberlain made a stirring speech on the Empire tonight, when he and Lord Kitchener were guests at a banquet given by the Grocers' Com-

After paying tributes to Lords Milner and Kitchener, Mr. Chamberlain dilated upon the new conception of imperial destiny, in which, thanks to the South African war, he said, ideas of kinship and mutual obligations had been substituted for mere pride of posession or huckstering about profit and loss. The speaker said he foresaw in the reorganization of the newly acquired South Africa territ omething that would make the mighty empire more than a mere geo-graphical exposition. "We hope to make it a living entity, in which each part shall contribute to the success and security of the whole." Referring to the conference of col-onial premiers, the secretary said the end actuating all parties to this con-ference could only be reached through mperial defence or imperial trade. He did not suppose this ideal would be attained all at once, but he said he believed the conference would lead to a considerable advance, and, if this were so, he would be content for the pres-

NEURALGIA. This Distressing Complaint Due to Impoverished Blood.

When the blood becomes thin and watery, as a matter of course you become weak, vitality gets down low, and there is but little power in the system to ward off disease and pain. Neuralgia hunts out a weak spot, and makes a home there, so secure that it is hard to drive it out. But by using the proper remedies it can be driven from the system, never to re-turn. To obtain immediate relief, first apply to the painful parts a good quantity of Polson's Nerviline, and then bind on a hot flannel cloth. This local treatment will be found very efficacious, but must be followed by a course of Ferrozone treatm Ferrozone is a blood food, and a blood purifier, and quickly strengthens the never be feared. It makes the rich ed kind of blood, that gives strength and vigor to weak constitutions and puts them in good shape to resist neuralgia attacks.

This combined treatment of Nerviline and Ferrozone in Neuralgia, Sciatica, and Rheumatism, is marvellous ly effective, and cures after all else as failed. Because of the unique success of these remedies we have no hesitancy in endorsing their use to our readers. All druggists sell them.

Wych street, a quaint thoroughfare at the city end of the Strand, has now finally passed out of existence.

It was in the area of the tSrand-Holbern improvements, and its destruction had for some time been decided on. In a few months' time gigantic buildings of the most modern type will take the place of the quant old houses, rich in historic memories, that made one of the points of interest in London.

old houses, rich in historic memories that made one of the points of interest in London.

On Wednesday Jack Sheppard's house to this street was finally clesed and handed over to house-breakers. Jack Sheppard Breed there when serving an apprenticeship and carpenter. His name was carved by himself on a beam in the kitchen, where it remained until a few days ago. The beam is now being transferred to the Museum of London Antiquities and Curiosities being gathered by the London county council.

Wych street had many other associations besides this. The Shakespeare Head, 31, at one time had its inadiord Mark Lemon, the famous humorist, who in after years became editor of Punch. At the Globe Theatremany chapters of modern theatrical history occurred. The Globe is best known to modern theatre-goers as the scene of Mr. Penley's triumphs, and as the birthplace of Mr. Piero's Gay Lord Quex.

Almost opposite the Globe was the gigantic Olympic Theatre, a house noted for having perhaps more runs of bad luck than any other London theatre. Its great size and its ansortunate position gave it little chance. In recent years it was rarely ocupied Charles Dickens was associated with many revels around this street. A more tragic memory lies in the fact that Bishop Hooper was taken from the Angel Inn, then at the bottom, to his death at Gloucester.

Wych street took its name from Drury Lane, of which it was a continuation. In old times the lane was known as the Via do Aldwych. Among other houses of amusement which in the past have centred there was Astley's Amphitheatre.—London Mail.

THE EDITOR TALKED BACK.

Rev. Mr. Greene, a preacher at Findley's Lake, Pa., took his congregation to task a few Sundays ago because the members were not, in his opinion, giving suitable support to church work. The reverend gentleman mentioned by name several of those whom he regarded as at fault, but was injudicious enough to include Editor Boerman among the lot. "Why," said the preacher. "Mr. Boerman only paid a dollar toward my support." The editor retorted: "It was dear at the price," and Mr. Greene thereupon learned that it is dangerods to monkey with the buzz-saw.
