of the Atlantic.

It is an astonishing fact that St. John has perhaps the best and most up to date immigration building in America. But such is the case, for the new building at Sand Point recently erected by G. S. Mayes is one which is a credit not only to the city of St. John but to the whole dominion, and which cannot fail to make a most favorable impression on the minds of those who from other countries are annually pouring in to settle and develop the resources of the Canadian west. is true that immigration sheds in other parts of America, such as the one at Staten Island, may be larger, but they are also older and are not so well fitted up and convenient as the one at Sand Point. No traveller could wish it possible for the occupants to do any amount of business just as easily as if they were in their own private of-be done. Mr. Mayes has a right to feel highly gratified over his success in having the work done on time, for never before in St. John has lumber been so scarce and wages so high as at the present time. In spite of this fact, however, he finished his work on Nos. 3 and 4 sheds on November 1st, and today two beautiful ould be seen was one large hole, A full description of the warehouses mentioned above has already been given in the columns of this paper, but
