Spurgeon's Definition of Gout.

Mr. C. H. Spurgeon once said to a

"I have inherited most of my father's excellences, and the gout with them."

"What is gout like?" was the enquiry. "If you put your Land into a vice," replied Mr. Spurgeon, "and let a man press as hard as he can, that is rheumatism; and if he can be got to press a little harder, that is gout."

As a Last Resort.

"Well, doctor," said the patient, who was an incessant talker, "why in the world don't you look at my tongue if you want to, instead of writing away like a newspaper editor? How long do you expect I am going to sit here with my mouth wide open?"
"Just one moment more, please, mad-

He Announced His Intentions.

When his turn came he asked to be excused until later in the evening, saying that he must have time to think up a good one. So he was passed over until the very last, when the master of ceremonies asked him if he were ready.

"I am," he said. "Why is this conundrum like the first meal you eat on your first trip across the ocean?" And when everybody said they would give it up he said that was the answer.

More than he Bargained For,

"Madam," said a nervous passenger to the mother of a howling imp in the express train, "is there anything any of us can do to pacify your little boy?"
"Oh, thank you, yes," said the mother of the spoiled child. "You see the dear little pet just wants to throw his jam tart at the passengers, and I was afraid they wouldn't like it. Please to stand where you are. Now, stop crying, dar-ling. This kind gentleman wants to play with you."

"Will those who want our prayers please stand up?" said the preacher.

At this juncture the young man thought it was getting late and he would get his sweetheart and go home, but not just knowing where she sat he rose to his feet and looked over the audience.

The minister, mistaking his intentions, asked: "Young man, are you seeking salvation?"

To which the young man responded: "At present I am seeking Sal Jackson!"

Too Far Back for Him.

Tommy had been punished. "Mamma," he sobbed, "did your mamma whip you when you were little?"

"Yes, when I was naughty."

"And did her mamma whip her when she was little?"

"Yes, Tommy." "And was she whipped when she was little ?"

"Well, who started the darned thing. anyway?"

"Oh, Billy," he said, "can you tell me anything of my wife's whereabouts?"

No Trouble at All.

When the young man who sold chickens, cleaned and dressed, called one morning on his usual rounds, says the Boston Herald, the young housekeeper who was about to buy remarked: 'I should think you would hate to cut
