Yes, if you have not got mal; but if you have nerve and keep your eyc on his, and go the right way about it, you never need fear anything. I would not hear animal ever brought to this country was at large. I have again and again entered a cag in which has never been broken in before. A wild animal that has not yet been broken for you enter the cage it will show its testh and growl, and perhaps strike at you with its clawed me many times, but here is a wrinkle if ever you happen to be tete astree? When you are clawed and you feel the animal's cheetah or any animal of the cat tribe. When you are clawed and you feel the animal's clawed the many times, but here is a wrinkle if ever you happen to be tete astree? With ack, but go forward. If you jump back the claw teams away the flesh i whereas if you go prick." "How do you explain the fact that these prick." "How do you explain the fact that these prick." "How do you explain the fact that these fercoirus carnivora do not spring at you in a imngle?"
"Well, in the first case, animals bred in aptivity are as much accustomed to the sight of man as a dog or cat. But take the case of a wild tiger trapped in a jungle. Well, the tiger is ferocious chiefly when the tiger is a marketable commodity and never fails to effect a thoroug cure.
I wouldn't be in California.

The Crase for Roses. From the New York World. "Out of her bosom there grew a white rose." That was Lady Nancy Bell, in the ballad, who as antiquarians assert, died, "as you might say, to-day," and her lover, "he died vo morrow." Bke, however, was only an effect and medieval European, and white roses were the only things she could raise.
