

157.

April 15. Morning 10.20
to 11.30.

Present: Mrs. Wrentham, myself.

Arthur.

A few minutes after we were seated I heard "Good morning" in clear Scotch voice, and I said at once "Good morning Dr. Stang," he said this is the first opportunity, dear friends, I have had to come and talk, and how are you, and I want to thank you for the privilege of coming and talking. I said it was our privilege and I wanted above all to thank you for what he had done to make it possible - Dr. Stang said it is God who has made it possible - It is natural to be able to communicate - It is natural - It is a law of the Almighty. God has given us. It is the will of the Almighty that we should help each other day by day. Now I am not going to take up your time all the lonely ones are here and they want to see and hear you, I just want to wish you a great joy and happy life and (I hope) your career will be one to be happy and greater than it has ever been, more uplifting and long - You win your goal. It was a beautiful sort of a combined benediction and prophecy.
