AFFAIRS IN IRELAND

Carey, the self-confessed murderer, who to save his life has turned informer. The acceptance of his testimony on the condition of giving him his life is a crowning disgrace for the Government and reveals the utter rottenness of the English system in Ireland. It is known that there was a sharp struggle at the Castle before it was finally decided to bring him forward as a witness. decided to bring him forward as a witness. There were three different meetings of the Privy Council in Dublin at which the question was discussed and Crown Pro-secutor Murphy's apology shows how keenly the humiliation of their position is felt by the Castle officials, who are not at all thin skinned in such matters.

A sger is general among all classes of the community at his escape. According to his own confession he is as guilty as any of his associates and was the means of bring-ing many of them into the conspiracy. The reward expected by the Government for this infamy is the implication of the Land League leaders and Carey's evidence is carefully directed to that end. The fact that he is swearing to order stands out clearly in almost every sectence he utters. The attempt is a complete failure and the probable result will be a far great-er injury to the Ministry than to the Parnellites. The Tories too advantage of the incident to renew their allusions to the Kilmainham transaction, and reiterate the old charges of a betrayal of Mr. Fors ter by his colleagues. Their chief attack is directed against Mr. Chamberlain, and they seek to make the public believe that he encouraged outrages in Ireland for the purpose of wringing concessions from his unwilling colleagues.

The Tory speeches in the House of Commons are singularly bitter in tone and party feeling is running high. The Irish Party is thus enabled to maintain an attitude of reserve. Many attempts have been made to draw Mr. Parnell into an expression of opinion on the Dublin trials and a speech of apology. The Irish leader, having nothing to confess or con-ceal, maintains a dignified restraint. Carey's statement that the murder was suggested by an article in the Freeman is due to an old and bitter hatred to Mr. Gray, who opposed several swindling schemes which the informer had concocted against the Dublin Corporation. Shortly before the trial it is known that Carey uttered threats of murder against Mr. Gray, and he now seeks to wreak vengeance on him by establishing a continuous tion between attempts at murder and the on him by establishing a connec-Freeman's criticism on the Irish adminis

To sum up, the result of this infamou plot is that the excitement caused by the trials is passing away as the case against the Land League vanishes and the Government will lose prestige; first, for the fail the trials is passing away as the case against the Land League vanishes and the Government will lose prestige; first, for the fail ure to discover the plot earlier; and secondly, for their attempt to morally assassinate the Parnellites.

In Ireland the whole business is discussed without passion, and, after the first day's work, the Parliamentary agitation proceeds tranquilly. In Portarlington the revelations of the trial have produced actually no effect. Mr. Mayne, who is an excellent candidate, has a promise of all the Catholic votes and of several Protestant. His success is certain pulses LEAGUE ELECTION PROSPECTS. all the Catholic votes and of several Protestant. His success is certain unless a large amount of bribery is used. In the County Dublin the prospect is less hopeful. There is a majority of seven hundred for the Conservatives on the registry. that steps with regard to Egypt had not been taken earlier, was also rejected by a vote of 179 to 144.

Mr. Bradlaugh, as he threatened to do in his speech at Trafalgar Square, on Thursday week, reported in our last, entered the House at four o'clock that day. After the reading of the Queen's speech the Speaker read a letter from Mr. Bradlaugh, declaring he would present himself, and do all the law required in an endeavor to sit and vote. The Marquis of Hartington said the Government would at the breakfast table a forest while the breakfast table a forest with the breakfast table a forest while the breakfast and the breakfast and the breakfast table a forest while the brea

Mr. Parnell snnounced that he would offer an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne. He also gave notice that he would severely criticise the administration of the Crimes act, jury packing and iniquitous sentences when the discussion regarding English affairs was finished. Mr. O'Brien, in response to a challenge from Sir Herbert Maxwell, conservative, to explain the attitude of the Irish mem-bers with regard to the Kilmainham disclosures, said that crime in Ireland was distinctly traceable to evictions and tyrannical administration of the law by the offiincal administration of the law by the offi-cials of Dublin Castle.

Mr. Parnell gave notice that he would introduce a bill amending the Land Act. Mr. Justin McCarthy gave notice that he would introduce a bill to abolish the

Bad Thoughts

Irish vice royalty.

Bad thoughts, if cherished, will blight virtue, destroy purity and undermine the stablest foundations of character. They are like rot in timber; like rust in iron. They eat into the man. And when the process has gone on for a while, and there comes the stress of an outward temptation, down they go into a mass of ruins!

Just so bad thoughts, vile impure thoughts and imaginations, rot the manly oak of character, rust the iron of principle, slacken all the stays of virtue, and leave the man or woman to the violence of temptation with no interior reserve power to with stand the shock. Philadelphia, February 3.—A frolicso Ittle gray mouse occupies a cage by the bed-side of Archbishop Woods, and is the special pet of the kindly old man. For weeks his illness and growing infirmity have kept the Archbishop a close prisoner in his room. About a month ago he was much annoyed, especially during the right much annoyed, especially during the night, by the sharp, grinding sounds made by the mouse and the patter of its little feet as it explored the ceiling overhead. By his instructions a trap that would catch without hurting the little animal was set, and soon the Archbishop had his prisoner. the Archbishop had his prisoner. A Romantic Ragged $2 Bank Bill.

Many different stories are told about the prize which Underwood Fisher, of the Three Rivers House, drew in The Louisiana State Lottery. He stated the facts thus: Dec. 12th he sent $2, and received in return two-tenths ticket No. 31,401. He put the ticket away, and thought no more of it until three days after the drawing, when he received a dispatch saying that his ticket had drawn $20, 600, his share of which was $4,000. From M. A. Dawphin, Pres't of the L. S. L. Co., New Orleans, through the First National Bank, he received his $4,000. Little things make quite a differerce. He had a $2 bill ragged, and he sent it for a ticket. The moral is, that you send for lottery tickets when you get a ragged two-dollar bill.—From the Three Rivers (Mich.) Mr. Austin Jav, Copenhagen Ont., says he was so afflicted with Liver complaint that he was obliged to give up work. The druggist at Ayimer induced him to try Z-PESA with such good results that after using two bot-les he was able to resume work as u-aul. Says he go'relief from the first dose, and is s tisf of there is no better Liver remedy in existence. He gladly allows us to use his name.

THE STATIONS: OR WAY OF THE CROSS

Translated in 1882, from the Italian by Rt. ev. M. O'Connor, D. D., first Bishop of Pittsey, in urg.

"These prayers will be found to be beauti-ally touching. They are short but pithy; ally touching, they are short but pithy; "These prayers will be found to be beautifully touching. They are short but pithy; recalling the mysteries meditated upon, and forcibly impressing at the same time the moral lessons serived from them."

MR. Forster's base attack on Mr. Par in the British House of Commons on ruary 22nd, was one of those ebullit of impotent rage like that which the itrious chief of the Liberal Party when he wrote the infamous Vat pamphlets. It is an outrage on decand common-sense to consider Mr. F and common-sense to consider Mr. retr's reckless abuse in any other light. Parnell, with the exception of his inj cious visit to Paris, and his signing of "No-Rent" manifesto, has acted, un the most difficult conditions, with exc ing prudence and wisdom. He has ma record which, should he die to-morn would make him famous as the one g would make him famous as the one g Irish political leader, who marched unswervingly against deadly foes, v deadlier disaffection in his own camp. Forster's charges that Mr. Parnell and Land League countenanced assassinat are the vengeful cries of a man madde by defeat.

JUDGE Ingraham sustained the May decision not to grant Mr. Salmi Mor license to make money by blasphemy. Morse, a Jewish martyr to a burning de York by means of the "Passion Pla declares that he will wander from la to land until justice is obtained. I Salmi Morse is perhaps the wander Jew. He will wander through may ways before he can induce any Christ ways before he can induce any Christ people to tolerate a hypocritical, blasp mous burlesque in Passion or in H Week. The cant and drivel of this ptender are disgusting. He has hit up the expedient of giving "dress rehearsa—and the Herald describes the "Re Wannemacher as travestying the sacrespeeches of Our Lord before a sm speeches of a counett speeches of Our Lord before a sm audience, and the antics of a coquett Jewess as His Blessed Mother. Mors lawyers have decided that Judge Ing-ham's opinion is not law. But, nev theless, there will be no "Passion Pla in New York City; and the mercena blasphemer will make no attempts to eva-the law by civing "dress rehearsals" if: the law by giving "dress rehearsals" if t police do their duty. It is remarkal that, for all Morse's drivel and self-adve tising, he is almost without sympathiz even among the sentimentalists who a always ready to take up a "martyr."

M. Jules Simon, six years ago the her of a Liberal ministry in France, has ju published a remarkable book, "God, Fathe land, Liberty," in which, amongst othe startling things, he says:—"Let us no ask what we have done in the last three years. We have merely made ruins. We have degraded the intelligent by subject the says degraded the have degraded the intelligent by subjecting them to the mobs, and the mobs his depriving them of their beliefs. Such it true words is our history. . . . A home there is no longer a Governmen and abroad there is no longer a Franc Our material situation is lost in Egypt, or strength impaired in Algeria, our relation with Rome and London more than jer pardized. . . The peasant has sti beliefs. He has hopes of another life; h has not yet unlearned to pronounce the name of God. If he becomes a Nihilis we shall have the Commune in the town and the Jacqueries outside." To thos who have noted the conditions of France within the last three or four years th words of Jules Simon are burdened wit

WE would not for the world attempt t throw discredit on the assertions of such dead shot as Dr. Carver; but when he tel a reporter that the Prince of Wales testifie to his admiration of the marksman's ski by giving him a magnificent gold water and a valuable diamond pin, and that the other princes gave him diamonds and th like, and finally, that the crowned head of Europe in general presented him wit $150,000 worth of valuables, we onl wonder at the royal generosity. We dis sent however from his statement that "n such honors were ever before bestowe upon an American." It is on record tha Artemus Ward's uncle William so won the English heart, by the merits of his famous soap, which retailed at two pence a cake that "they offered him a ducal corone but he said "No! Give it to the poor." Dr. Carver is a marvellous shot, with rifl bitter truths.
