A MYSTERIOUS BREAK. One of the large panes of glass in the front door of R. C. Burt's drug was completely broken out during last night. The proprietor left the estab-lishmant before nine o'clock and knew nothing of the matter until the store was reached this morning. Whether or not the bold had burglar had been around or whether the break was the or not the bold bad burglar had been around or whether the break was the result of a drunken man's accidental meanders, it was impossible to say. So far as yet been discovered nothing is missing from the store, nor was anything noticeably out of order. In fact there is no other trace of the unwelcome visitant than the broken glass. The fact that the glass had been removed from the sash in its entirety, seemed, however, to indicate that the break was not wholly accidental.

Richard Ebere feels, and not without good reason, that his efforts in rescuing the three boys who fell into the river a couple of days ago were not properly appreciated, Mr. Ebere was at work upon one of the boats lying at the Hadley docks when he heard the boys' cries. There is so much howling done in and about the Valley of Brooklyn that at first he paid no attention to it. The moment he learned the nature of the trouble he rushed out upon the thin ice, which gave way with him, letting him in for an icy bath. While in the water with the three boys he managed to get Jim Foster out and slide him clear of danger on the solid ice. Being helped out himself he hastened to the second opening, where

This is far from being the only occasion upon which Mr. Ebere has distinguished himself by rescuing people from the water. In Wallaceburg, about twenty years ago, before he could swim, Dick plunged in after a child who had met with a peculiar ac-

More recently a lad was rescued from the Thames by Ebere.

Near the Erie & Huron river bridge a boy was drowning when Ebere jumped from the bridge to the ground, plunged in and saved his life.

And a colored youth got in the river near Third street bridge. Ebere, who was working in the tailor shop near the bridge, took in the situation at a glame. He rushed to the little verandah and sprang from it to the ground—a distance of about twenty teet—and got the body out.

"This one," said Ebere, "was in no worse state than young Bellaire was; but they didn't work with him as well when he got out, and he never rement was well calculated to wound the feelings of many of the readers of the Planet. That I may not be misunderstood, permit me to say that I do not object to your definition of my attitude. The allusions to myself were correct, with the exception of some minor details, and fairly represent my views. What I do most strongly and justly object to is the very irreverent and intolerant tone of the article. It was, I maintain, ill advised and absolutely devoid of regard for the religious convictions of those, who, like myself, believe in the observance of Lent, and are experimentally qualified to testify to its spiritual benefits.

It is not my intention to dwell, as well I might, on the antiquity of Leut or cite authority to justify its observance, but I would merely say that a season honored and observed as sacred—as an appropriate time for special religious services—by so large a portion of Christendom and which has been hallowed by the voice of prayer and praise for centuries, should not be flippantly treated and burlesqued, as it certaintly was in yesterday's issue of your paper.

(Via L. J. Atwater's Private Wire.) Chicago, Mar. 6.—It was a day of evening up, wheat traders having in mind that the crisis would be reached in the mediate matter Sunday and by Monday would probably see the foreign situation settled one way or another. Shorts did not care to take the risk of possible war and holders did not care to risk the drop in prices. With outsiders keeping all off and with professionals evening up it was naturally a siders keeping all off and with professionals evening up it was naturally a small market with the tendency a little downward. Consols showed no advance but the European exchanges were less paniky. Liverpool was higher but not enough to help prices. The Ohio raport made the W wheat condition 83 compared with 57 last year. Argentine shipments 192,000 bu. against 1,152,000 last year. Minneapolis reported continued liberal demand for flour.

Corn and oats were both firm with sufficient demand for the short interest to absorb the offerings. Argentine shipments were 40,000 bu against 850,000 last year. Receipts are light and will be while the roads are bad. Provisions were less active but held firm closing higher than yesterday. There was considerable realizing by smaller holders. The cash demand for ribs was reported good.

Mr. Harcourt also informed Mr. Bennet that it was not the present intention of the Government to unite the license districts of Cornwall and Stormont, and

Bill to amend the act to provide for the division of the Township of Tibury West.—Mr. Auld.

To legalize and confirm an agreement entered into by the municipality of Dysart and others.—Mr. Carnegie.

Mr. Crawford moved the second reading of the bill to amend the Assessment Act, which is promoted by the city of Toronto. The bill provides that in cases of appeal against the decision of the Court of Revision upon an appeal against assessment of corporations, etc., the final decision shall rest with the three judges of the county where there are three judges, instead of with the senior judge of the county in which the appeal arises, and the senior judges of the two nearest counties as at present.

Mr. Crawford, in support of the bill, urged that it would be preferable to have such an appeal determined by local judges instead of by strangers, who were not acquainted with the surrounding circumstances.

Hon. Mr. Ross, who was leading the House in the absence of the Attorney-General, pointed out that this was a purely local matter and affected Toronto alone.

Hon. J. M. Gibson could see no reacon why such an appeal could not be a purely local matter and affected Toronto alone.

Hon. J. M. Gibson could see no reason why such an appeal could not be considered by a tribunal composed as required by the law at present. It was altogether probable that the senior and junior judges of a county would entertain the same view. He did not mean that it would necessarily follow, but in matters of municipal policy it would be more than likely the senior judge's opinion would be coincided in by those who are his juniors. If an impartial tribunal is wanted, he thought it would be much easier to obtain one that is free from local bias

Some of these questions of special and the sound like some provision by which the assessments of great corporations should be subject to appeal to the Court of Appeal, where an authoritative decision might be obtained. The bill might be referred to the Municipal Committee.

Mr. Howland regretted that in the past legislation had been asked for by the City Council of Toronto in which the council by no means represented to this bill, he was not prepared to say that he was very strongly opposed to the principle of it. There is, however, a certain amount of argument in favor of it, the principal of which is on the ground of economy. He fully agreed with the Minister of Crown Lands that a disinterested tribunal is necessary. There is a great deal of force in the objection that a tribunal constituted of the judges of the locality is not at all in the best position to deal with the question.

Mr. Crawford again urged that the

LARAWAY IS GUILTY. The Charge of Robbing the Canadian Mails at Detroit Proved -Affecting Scene

With His Family. Detroit, Mich., March. 5.—The trial of Henry Laraway, charged with cutting open and rifling mail pouches at the Fort-street Union Depot was concluded in the United States Court to-day. After Judge Swan had charged, the daughters of the prisoner burst into a violent fit of weeping, giving way wholly beneath the long strain which had been imposed upon them. A moment later they, with his wife, went to the side of Laraway, where they remained for a considerable time in earnest conversation. The court room was densely packed, chiefly with friends of the family. The jury were out less than an hour, returning a verdict of guilty. The wife and daughters of the prisoner were deeply affected, weeping and wringing their hands, but the affecting scene was cut short by the prompit remanding of Laraway for sentence. The prisoner himself was also deeply affected by the distress of his family, but accepted the situation with the coolness which was conspicuous in his conduct all through the trial. When his wife and daughters gathered around him, clinsing helplessly about his neck in bidding good-bye, his lip quivered perceptibly, but he made no other demonstration. The usual ten days was granted in which to move for ment later they, with his wife, went to days was granted in which to move for a new trial.

could swim. Dick plunged in after a child who had met with a peculiar accident. The young one was seated in a little red wagon which its sister was pulling up the hill, when the tongue of the wagon came out. Hence the plunge. This baby is "getting a big boy now."

enthusiasm of the members present was any indication, the prospects of the club this year are very bright.

The president, N. H. Stevens, being absent in Detroit, the chair was occupied by the vice-president, Dr. R. V. Bray, who gave a very good account of the affairs of the club during last season. The secretary, J. S. Black, read a statement of the finances of the which was received and discussed by the members, all agreeing that the out-

S. J. Sutherland spoke of the merits of bowling and expressed the correct idea of this porular game, when he said he considered it an excellent form

Editor Planet, Your article of yes-terday re the Princess Bonnie entertain-ment was well calculated to wound the feelings of many of the readers of the
