PRIEST-SLAYER WITH BEARD, GIRL WHOSE PICTURE WAS FOUND IN HIS TRUNK

HANS SCHMIDT

The illustration of Hans Schmidt shows the priest with a beard, and that beard makes a wonderful change in his facial appearance. Somehow it softens the lines of his face and does not make it so cruel and cynical as it really is.

BERTHA ZECH

Historic record that flat on 8th St. Muret was not associated with the murder. There are no other flats of mine at present. I would like to have a furnished room with Anna but she is too young.

WORK WITH LABOR WHICH REALLY TALKS

Mr. E. N. Compton of the Department of Labor, Ottawa, arrived in the city yesterday in response to a complaint received by the Department on Sept. 15th. This was sent by the electrical workers of Brantford, and complained that alien labor was being employed in the construction of the additions to the Brantford Hospital and on the new theatre, Dalhousie street.

After consultation with the workers and then with the Buffalo firm having the work in hand, Mr. Compton succeeded in getting the latter to make a signed agreement that the Buffalo men would be removed and only Canadian labor employed.

Mr. Compton reports that he was received with the greatest courtesy by the men and the firm. He is certainly to be heartily congratulated upon the outcome of his efforts. When he took hold, the men already had the matter in the hands of a lawyer.

HARRY K. THAW FACES NEW HAMPSHIRE GOVERNOR

His Case of Extradition is Being Threshed Out To-day—Crowd Watched Him Into Capitol and Then Dispersed.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 23.—Harry K. Thaw's real fight for freedom began to-day. With the opening of the extradition hearing by Governor Felker, counsel on both sides realized that the hour of legal sparring for a temporary advantage had passed and that the outcome rested on the interpretation of points of law regarding which few if any precedents had been found.

William Travers Jerome, grim and silent, arrived just before daylight, deputized by the state of New York to obtain the surrender of Thaw as a fugitive from justice. Whether he would press the charge of criminal conspiracy to escape from the insane asylum at Matteawan in view of the fact that the Dutchess county grand jury had failed to report an indictment against Thaw on these lines was not revealed before the hearing began.

Counsel for the fugitive maintained their confident attitude that Governor Felker would not grant the extradition of a change visitor whose only offense was that he had escaped from a jurisdiction in which he had been held responsible.

Many disinterested lawyers held that the case would go from the governor to the federal courts for a final determination.

The senate chamber at the capitol where the hearing was called at 11 o'clock had been arranged for the convenience only of those directly concerned in the case and the newspapermen.

Thaw was up early and had a final conference with his attorneys before arriving at the senate chamber. He appeared to be further encouraged by the presence of his mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, who with his brother Joshua, came here last night to give him, as Mrs. Thaw said, "the support of his mother's presence in his light to keep away from the mad house." A great crowd gathered outside the capitol building an hour before the proceedings began.

Money is Tight. Mr. David Dick, manager of the National Sack & Material Co., was charged by five employees with non-payment of wages. Mr. W. S. Brewster, acting for Mr. Dick, admitted the debts, but objected to the information being laid against the manager of the company alone. The company, Mr. Brewster said, was very short of funds just at the present time.
