Passing Liners Pay Respects to the Dead Where Empress Sank. [By Special Wire to The Courier]

MONTREAL, June 2 .- The watch Mr. E. Seybold of Ottawa, which was reported as having been lost, has been turned over by the captain of the Storstad to the C. P. R., which has forwarded the same to the owner.

The funeral will take place this afernoon of Martha Hatton, wife of Chas. D. Tylee. A little girl's body, about 7 years old, has been found on the shore at Little Melp. There is a piece of string around her waist, the only method of identification at the noment. Instructions have been sent o Little Melp that her body should e forwarded to Quebec. Her body must have travelled at least fifteen beore it went ashore.

Captain Kendall, who was almos nervously prostrated on Sunday, was greatly recovered to-day, but his face till showed signs of the terrible ordeal through which he had gone.
"Captain Kendall did not leave his

P. R. official yesterday. Survivors still come into the city n a shamefaced fashion.

A signal evidence of the respect and sympathy caused everywhere by the disaster was given by White Star, Dominion Liner Megantic last Saturday when passing the place where the Empress of Ireland disappeared from view. All mustered on the port side, the ships engines stopped to allow the vessel to become stationary, and all the passengers uncovered and joined in the singing of 'Abide with Me.'
Going out on the same day, the White Star Liner Teutonic mustered the ship's company by bugle call at six o'clock in the morning to do the same thing. The buoy placed in position by the department of marine and fisheries, just where the Empress of Ireland sank it is believed gave rise in the excited minds of some passengers on vessels passing the spot to the idea that they saw the funnel of the submerged vessel. The admiralty report states that the vessel is apparently ying on its side, and that the least counding is nine and a half fathoms t low water, over it. This report is
