A MANIAC MOTHER

Kills Two of Her Children and Herself.

Mrs. Smith First Tried to Force Her Children to Drink Carbolic Acid. Then She Shot Three of Them—Only One of the Little Ones Living.

New York, Oct. 5.—Mrs. Lillian Smith, of Inwood, Borough of Manhattan, white, insane, shot and killed her two children—Mabel, aged 3, and Andrew, aged 8 years, and another daughter, Ethel, 12 years, lies in Fordham hospital, badly injured. She then committed suicide by shooting. Before shooting the children Mrs. Smith, with the cunning of a maniac, tried to force them to drink carbolic acid. Long brooding over the prospect of death is said to have been the cause of the woman's insanity. Mrs. Smith was the wife of Walter M. Smith, who had been connected with the grocery house of Austin, Nichols & Co., for 21 years. Inwood, the scene of the crime, is a suburban settlement on the banks of the Hudson River, just below Spuyten Duyvil. Mrs. Smith had been married for 13 years. Up to three weeks ago she had lived with her husband and her children in the eastern portion of this city, but of late she had been in poor health. It became necessary to take her to the country, and Mr. Smith rented a large old mansion, surrounded by great trees at Inwood. Apparently the change of scene benefited the woman. She drove her husband to the station in the morning, and appeared happy and free from care, and promised to meet him on his return from the city at night. It is believed that she went out in the morning after her return from the drive, and bought the pistol. Where and when she bought the carbolic acid is a mystery. With a pistol she bought a box of cartridges. Ten of these were missing from the box. In the pistol were found three discharged cartridges and two loaded. In the attempt to wipe out her family it is believed Mrs. Smith fired eight shots, all but two of which took effect.

At three o'clock in the afternoon Mrs. Smith instructed Mrs. Moore to have her husband have the coachman hitch up the team and take a ride on the speed-way. The Moores returned shortly before four o'clock in the afternoon, and they were met by Mrs. Smith at the door. The woman was only partly clothed, but she did not seem to be agitated. "Don't come in yet," she said, with a smile, "take a long ride. There's plenty of time for the afternoon." The Moores again went away, but they did not stay long. They returned at 4:30 o'clock, and discovered the tragedy that had been enacted in their absence. The little child was killed in the front room on the second floor of the house. How the mother induced a three-year-old baby to drink carbolic acid must always remain a mystery. Then the mother got the revolver and fired three shots. The chest of the little girl was literally torn to pieces.

It was about this time that Ethel, the eldest daughter, returned from school. She, too, tasted the carbolic acid and rejected it. Again the pistol came into play. The mother shot twice at Ethel, but only one shot took effect. A few minutes later the little boy returned from school, entering the kitchen through the back door. The mother met him at the door and shot him, killing him instantly. He fell to the floor and rolled under the kitchen table, his school books falling in his hand.

After satisfying herself that the boy was dead, Mrs. Smith returned upstairs. Walking into the hall she shot herself in the right breast. The bullet tore through her body, killing her instantly.

Mrs. Moore at once summoned Policeman Schiffert. An examination disclosed the fact that Mrs. Smith and Roy, the little boy and Mabel, the four-year-old girl, were dead. Ethel, the eldest child, aged 12, will probably recover.

Italy Wants Europe to Demand 'Em of all Persons From America.

Rome, Oct. 6.—A letter found in the possession of M. and V. an archbishop arrested in Milan on Tuesday, proves that the plot to kill King Humbert was hatched in Chicago. Assassin Bresci declares he has no knowledge of the plot, but reassures that all chiefs of states are marked for vengeance. THEORIES ABOUT CATARRH

Peculiar Ideas Regarding a Common Disease.

Mark Twain's cure for a cold in the head was simple, but he claims very effective in his own case; his plan was to eat nothing for twenty-four hours, or presumably until the trouble had disappeared. Although not able to speak from personal experience as to the effectiveness of this treatment, it certainly has the merit of extreme economy; but it occurs to us that the application of it to a case of nasal catarrh might be attended with difficulties. Catarrh, as everyone knows, is a chronic cold in the head, and Mr. Twain's treatment, if it should become a fad, would make us a nation of fasters, an army, emulating the example of the immortal Tanager who achieved world wide fame, by fasting forty days.

Catarrh is certainly becoming a national disease and there is little doubt but that errors in diet, particularly over eating is a very common cause. Most people, however, are more interested in the cure of the trouble than in the cause, and modern medical science has produced more effective and less heroic remedies than Mr. Twain's.

Guaicol is a new remedy, very effective in some forms of catarrh. Eucalyptol is another which on account of its antiseptic properties is very valuable, while many severe cases of chronic catarrh have been cured by the singuaria of extract of blood root alone.

Within a year an enterprising chemist has combined all of these remedies in tablet form, palatable and convenient and the superiority of this tablet over other catarrh remedies is so apparent that all druggists now carry them in stock to supply the popular demand.

They are called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, and it is doubtful if any medicine has achieved a national popularity in so short a time as this.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are used by thousands of travelling men because they can be carried in the pocket and used any time and in any quantity, being free from cocaine, opiate or any poisonous drug.

They clear the head and throat from the disgusting secretions of catarrh, very often in a few hours.

For nasal catarrh, they are far superior to any wash, lotion, or ointment the use of which is often as inconvenient as annoying as the disease itself.

For coughs, colds bronchial catarrh and catarrh of the stomach, these tablets give immediate relief and a permanent cure where lotions, douches and inhalers make no impression whatever.

This preparation is a boon to catarrh sufferers, and any druggist will tell you that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is a remedy that has come to stay.

AT THE THEATRE

"Prisoner of Zenda," one of the prettiest productions of the season, at the Grand to-night.

Lincoln J. Carter has a world wide fame as a past master of stage mechanism; to read the list of scenic effects in one play alone would tend to prove this. In the new, stirring and powerful American play written by Mr. Carter and Mr. Hal Reid, Mr. Carter has devised and executed the following life-like effects:—The entrance of the battleship Maine into Havana Harbor. The explosion of the Maine's The old vault with its falling foundation—the destruction of a Spanish fort by an American shell—and to top off this list nothing less than Dewey's destruction of the Spanish fleet and the bombardment of Manila. Most managers are satisfied with one effect to a play and here are five in one play alone, and done as only this master hand of effects for the stage can do them at the Grand Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 9th and 10th, first two nights of the Peninsular fair.

THE PRISONER OF ZENDA.

When Mr. Cairns recently guaranteed the excellence of the production of "The Prisoner of Zenda" the theatre-goers in the Maple City took him at his word, and turned out en masse at the Grand last evening. They found their confidence had not been misplaced and witnessed a presentation in every way of a most superb character. Everyone who has read Anthony Hope's great novel is familiar with the plot of last evening's production. How Rudolph Rassendyll, a young Englishman with a social skeleton in the ancestral closet, revealed to the audience in the prologue—bears a remarkable resemblance to the heir to the throne of Ruritania, and is elected through circumstances to personate the young king at the coronation, in order to defeat the machinations of the Duke of Strelau, his cousin, another aspirant to the crown. How in his borrowed personality he loses his heart to the Princess Flavia, the king's betrothed, his adherence and consummation of his resolve to right the king, and the final sacrifice of the two lovers upon the altar of honor. It is a drama which furnishes more than ordinary possibilities, and is rightly in the hands of an unusually strong and competent company. Eimer Buffham, who plays Flavia, the king's betrothed, is a young actor of exceptional ability and brilliance, and his efforts were repeatedly greeted with enthusiastic applause. The part of Michael, Duke of Strelau, was in good hands when it was entrusted to Wm. Clifford. The ladies had heavy parts, and scored a pronounced success, while the entire cast has been completed without a weakness. V. D. Collins, as Col. Asch, a martinet of the old school—was exceptionally good and a large share of the success of the piece should be his. The presentation will be reproduced at the Grand this evening, and should be greeted with another bumper house. The Planet can heartily endorse it as being one of the best productions ever on the bills here. By no means the least pleasant feature of the evening was the excellent renditions of the orchestra, and both manager and musicians are to be earnestly congratulated.
