CREEK AND RIVER THAMES
EACH CLAIMED A LIFE

Two Young Men Meet With Death by Drowning—A Sad Day's Record—The Particulars.

An exceedingly sad drowning accident occurred last night about four miles down the river, a young man named Whalen being the victim.

The unfortunate young man came from Leamington yesterday morning to work for Robert Huff, down the river, Raleigh. He worked all day yesterday and in the evening he went to the river with Fred Peel and some other young boys to have a bath.

Unfortunately he could not swim and a strong six mile current was running at the time. He ventured out a little too far and got beyond his depth. He cried for help and young Peel seeing his dangerous position, swam out to him and caught him by the arm. Whalen, with the instinct of a drowning man, caught young Peel around the waist and they both disappeared below the surface of the water, Peel struggling to free himself from the other's grasp.

After they had been under the water a few seconds Peel came up alone gasping for breath, and with considerable difficulty reached the shore.

Whalen, however, did not come up again. Efforts were immediately made to locate the body, but they were all fruitless.

At ten o'clock this morning Robert Smith, of Dover, passed along the creek, and was informed that the body has not yet been found. At that time they were fishing for the unfortunate man's wife.

ANOTHER DEATH.

John Franklin, a mason, who works with contractor Milton, who is putting up a building for E. Taylor up the Creek, went in bathing yesterday afternoon and was drowned. Franklin was an expert swimmer and had crossed the creek several times; on the last trip he called for help and instantly sank. The body was recovered about two hours later. The deceased was from Marine City and was a nephew of Will Robinson, of Botany.

STREET ROW

At Least it is Over a Change in Street Sidewalk—Judge and Mayor Mingle.

That Stanley avenue sidewalk still continues to cause trouble.
It seems that Stanley avenue, from Ninth St. east to the track, some 200 feet or more, does not follow the original survey. It encroaches 38 feet on Victoria Park and gives 38 feet to the old cemetery. Judge Bell had built his house facing the street as at present located. Some of the aldermen saw a chance to straighten out this street while the new cement walk is being put down. At the same time it was felt that Judge Bell could be annoyed considerably, as his walks all led to the sidewalk on the present street.

The Mayor considered the scheme for straightening the street a good one and the city solicitor was consulted. He advised that the street be left left as at present located. The land that would be taken from the cemetery was worth nothing, and if the road was changed it would run over the graves in the burying ground.

Added to this was the fact that Fred F. Quinn, the citizen most interested, and the people interested in the graves in the cemetery, all opposed the proposed change.

The city could make the change if they wanted to, by passing a by-law, although for forty years the road had been diverted from the original survey. In addition to this, the 38 feet was not used to the city, and the city would lose nothing by leaving the street as it was. At present, Judge Bell's residence has a command of the street, but if the proposed change were made it wouldn't.

It is said that the Mayor and Judge said things to each other about the proposal to straighten the street.

NEW INVENTION

Louis J. A. Staniewicz, foreman of The Planet book binding department, has received his papers for the patent applied for in the United States for his invention of a new method of binding books, which is now in use in The Planet's bindery. Mr.
Staniewicz spent many months in perfecting his invention, which will prove of great value to every book binder's establishment.

BARN BURNED

Wednesday night the barns of Geo.
Arnold, near Louisville, were struck by lightning and burned. Two hundred bushels of oats, two tons of hay, implements and 200 bushels of corn were burned. The lightning also struck the stable and although it shattered the building, didn't either hurt the horses or set the building on fire.
Although the stable was only fifteen feet from the barns, it was not burned.
The direction of the wind and the work of the neighbors saved the building. The loss is $1,000.

RETURNED HOME

S. T. Martin, Jr., returned last evening from an extended trip through Europe. Mr. Martin has been away for a number of months. His trip evidently agreed with him, as he is looking in the very best of health. After graduating in the ministry in Toronto Mr. Martin decided to study for some time in Europe. He went first to Scotland, where he studied during the winter. He then went to London, and from there to the continent, where he stayed for two months. He stopped off for a week in London on his way back and then left on the 19th of June. At that time London was all excitement, preparing for the Coronation.

Mr. Martin will remain in Chatham during the summer and will return to Toronto in the fall.

The firemen were called out to the residence of Mrs. Bennett, Bellkirk street, this afternoon about 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. Bennett was lighting a gasoline stove when it exploded. She did the best thing possible under the circumstances and smothered the fire with a mat before any damage was done.

Arthur and Miss Lilian Hughes, of Windsor, are visiting in the city.
