Woman Had Narrow Escape From Death in Cistern.

Barn and Contents Destroyed by Incendiary Last Night.

Brantford, Ont., Aug. 31-Mrs. Lewis residing at 54 Dalhousie street, fell in-to a cistern in the rear of her house this orning, and barely escaped drowning woman stood on tiptoe for over an hour keeping her head above the water until her cries for help were heard by the woman who lives in the front part of the house. When rescued from the cistern by Market Inspector Cutcliffe she was nearly exhausted, and the res cue was made in the nick of time. Her husband is timekeeper at the Massey

Fire last night destroyed the big barn of Fred llett, a farmer on the Paris toll road, including 30 tons of hay, 550 bushels of grain and a number of live stock. The damage will amount to $3,000, covered by $2,000 insurance. Ilett claims the fire was due to incendiarism.

PETITION IS FILED

Asking for Incorporation of School

Section No. 8.

W M McClemont acting for the property owners of S. S. No. 8, a part district east of the city which annexation is being sought, has petition with sufficient signatures of owners and tenants to entitle them to incorporation as a village, which the are asking for in the petition. The peti oners are freeholders and tenants in the southern part of the district, who the southern part of the district, who prefer incorporation as a village to annexation. They are not opposing the north enders in the annexation movement, but think that incorporation would suit them better. Their petition states that the section seeking incorporation consists of over 405 acres of land of the assessed value of $401.498, and contains a population of over 1.886 land of the assessed value of $461,498, and contains a population of over 1,186 inhabitants. This application to the County Council and that for annexation of the north end owners are likely to raise new complications and legal points for the Railway Board to grapple with. Each section claims it is entitled to what it is asking for, and each is amplicated to different legal tribund. is applying to a different legal tribuna rant it. These differences will prob-arise when the Railway Board deals with the matter of their meeting to co sider the petition for annexation.

NOT TEDDY.

Man With Roosevelt Hat and Gun Excited Curiosity.

Business on one section of the market was at a standstill this morning. While all necks were craned at the man behind the gun, loud whispers were heard "There's Teddy Roosevelt, just back from Africa."

The crowd gathered round the suppos ed "Teddy" as he marched through market on the south side of the City Hall, with a boy's rifle in his hand and his finger on the trigger. His head was covered by a hat resembling the illustrious African traveller's, but he walked

"Teddy" was accosted on York stree-and his rifle examined. It was found to be similar to those given away with suits of boys' clothes, and he was found to be a farmer from "away back" under the influence of stumbling sap.

He was allowed to go on his harmles way.

AFTER AUTOS.

New subscribers to the semi-weekly Bunch of Cases For the Police Court To-morrow.

The police have decided to start an other crusade against automobilists exceeding the speed limit in the city. In numerable complaints have been made against the danger pedestrians are ex against the danger pedestrians are exposed to when crossing the streets, and as a result several constables are on duty, prepared to stop any driver who exceeds the allowed speed of ten miles an hour, and four miles past busy corners, such as King and James streets.

The chief offenders, the police consider, are Hamilton citizens, though many touring cars dash through the city at a dangerous speed, especially American tourists, whose machines are geared up to a high speed.

Already a number of summonses have been issued, and some cases will be heard in the Police Court to-morrow.

AGAINST CITY

For Accident to Horse on the Jolley Cut.

Messrs. Kerr & Thomson have issued writ for J. W. Hammond against the city for $60 damages to a horse and saddle. The plaintiff says that while coming down the Jolley Cut mountain his horse became frightened, bolted to one side and fell over the railing down the side of the mountain. His contention is that of the mountain. His contention is that the railing was not high enough to af-ford proper protection. His horse was badly cut and the saddle destroyed. At the time the accident occurred he was leading the horse and possibly escaped serious injuries to himself in that way.

CONSERVATORY PROGRESS.

CONSERVATORY PROGRESS.

This city's institution of music announces its reopening for the season 1909-10, to-morrow. Few realize what an immense power the school has become in Hamilton's music life and art. It now stands the second largest of its kind in Canada, while no less an authority than A. S. Vogt pronounced this year's standard as second to no centre in the Dominion, other than Toronto. It has been the prime object of the music directors and staff to make the institution stand for all that is best in the art, and spare neither trouble nor expense in building up an institution that citizens are compelled to take pride in.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 31.—Chief Mount Pleasant, of the Tuscarora Inwhere he expects to find Edward Bissell, wanted by the Tuscarora Council, in connection with the theft of $1,000 from Alexander Garlow, an aged Tuscarora half-breed. Garlow does not believe in banks, and hid his money in his house on the reserve near here. Two weeks ago he missed the roll, containing over $4,000, and Chief Mount Pleasant started an investigation.

William Bissell was arrested, and is now in the county jail. His brother, Edward, wisited him there, and last night Chief Mount Pleasant accused the brother of having the money. He left in the night, and Chief Mount Pleasant learned that he intended to join the Mohawks. He then gave chase, and is about five hours behind the fleeing man. where he expects to find Edward Bis street north, assaulting James Ripley. Kipley is a moulder, on strike, and Feeley works at Gurney-Tilden's. One day last week Feeley met Ripley on the street and said to him: "All the others have used me all right, except you." However, that passed off, but a few nights after, Ripley told the court, he reproved Feeley for trying to flirt with a little girl in a local theatre, whereat an altercation arose in which Ripley received blows, and Feeley was afterwards arrested for assault. Joe also got drunk yesterday, and paid $2 this morning for so doing, and for assaulting Ripley he was sent to jail for two weeks, without the option of a fine.

It was Tennyson, in his "Maud," who said: "Below me lies the "flage; how quiet and peaceful it looks?" That may be applied to Dundas, and yet lately Hamilton has been receiving several undesirables from those apparently peaceful precincts. Daniel McKenna came from there, but the vag crusaders said they had seen him in incubators of crime. When spoken to about it, P. C. Barrett said, he became abusive.

Dan said he has been working for some time as a moulder, and at present had a job at Moore's foundry.

He was requested to hasten thither and get to work right away. He left the court on time, and could have shown Longboat how to acquire speed.

A mother's pleadings undoubtedly touched the heart of Magistrate Jelfs so he let John Brown go when he again appeared after a day's remand for vagrancy. Mrs. Brown promised to send John to friends in Utica, N. Y. She is allowed two weeks to do so. If he is not gone by then he will be sent to the palace of correction.

Frederick Redman, after being fined $2 for allowing his dog to run at large, called down P. C. Gillespie, and told him to call at his house again and get his dog, and at the same time run in the battalion of wandering canines belonging to his neighbors.

Joseph Sabo rode his bicycle on the sidewalk. Through his interpreter he professed ignorance of the law. His lack of knowledge cost him $5.

Geo. Moneur sued Herbert Clayton, manager of the Crystal Palace Theatre for $11, he claimed as wages. Clayton said Moneur gave a week's notice, and at the expiration of it he was allowed to go. The case was dismissed.

The case of Lawrence & Sons, and Goss over wages was adjourned till to-morrow, as Young Lawrence sent in a plea of sickness. His worship commented on the fact that he had done the same thing before.

The business of the Sanford Manu facturing Company is increasing by leaps and bounds, and within a short time the company will erect a very large facon the site just purchased on Catharine street, between Main and Jackson streets—a site 73x280 feet. The property has its main frontage on Catharine street, with a depth of 73 feet on both Main and Jackson. The company has decided to erect a temporary building on a portion of the site right away. The Burton & Baldwin Company's lease does not expire for another six months, when their new factory on Sanford avenue will be ready. As soon as they move, the Sanford company will be able to go ahead with the propositions they have in view. The building they propose putting up at once will be to house some of their contractors, who are at present scattered about in various parts of the city, and the company wants to get them all together. Magistrate Jelfs expressed himself very strongly this morning, on the conditions at present existing in the pail and the asylum. He said that when the of Anthony Locke, again comes up on Saturday, he will refuse to grant another remand, as Locke has been up repeatedly and the necessary papers have gone through for his committment, yet, he cannot be sent to the asylum owing to its overcrowded state. If he refuses to grant a remand, there will likely be some complications, as a man cannot be kept in the jail for insanity without in order from him, and he feels by constantly remanding an insane man to the jail, he is taking on himself too great a responsibility. Then again, he thinks the jail is not a fit place for the insane. Besides being an annoyance to the other prisoners, they required care and treatment that cannot be given to them there.
