CLEANINGS FROM LATE PAPERS.

AUSTRIA AND PRUSSIA

Austria has pronounced for "the Autocrat of all the Russias," against the Porte; and, while we record the fact, that "War of Principle," predicted by George Canning, and for which Europe has been fast ripening since 1840, may have been already initiated by the advance of the Russians into the Danubian provinces of Turkey.

From Austria, Turkey has nothing to fear; though in times gone by, she was one of the Porte's most formidable foes. Like Rome in her decline, Austria has her hands full at home. She feels that on her three ancient duchies, including Styria and Carinthia, she alone can place complete reliance. The gallant Huns are once again ready for revolt. Ten times, already, have this noble people battled for their liberty; and as often have they passed under the tyrant's yoke; but, such is the holy spirit of freedom, that the more a nation suffers for its sake, the more prodigal of blood will the people be when the day to "strike" arrives.

The Gallicans are decidedly Poles to the core; the Bohemians are as restless as the Huns; they never forgot that their fathers, in the fifteenth century, were the most intrepid defenders of civil and religious liberty in Europe; and in the eloquent language of their own historian:—"The strain on our banners at the Battle of the White Mountain, has yet to be wiped out—and the bright day will dawn, when the Black Eagle of Hapsburg shall be a stranger in our valleys."

Then, there lie the Venetian and Lombard States of Italy as a charged mine; and, thus, with the map of Austria spread, and modern history open before us, it is pretty obvious that she, at all events, can lend but feeble aid, if now, to Nicholas in any attempt to inflict a death blow on Turkey.

There was a time when Russia might have advanced on Persia as a ready ally against the Turk. But Persia advanced so much in her last disastrous quarrel with the latter, that the certainty is, she will range her hordes under the Ottoman banner, her natural antipathy to her earliest foes notwithstanding.

AUSTRALIAN MATTERS.—The dates from Melbourne, Australia, to the 22d of March. During the week ending March 19th, 5,495 persons had been added to the population of Melbourne. During the same week 35,104 ounces of gold reached Melbourne, making the total receipts, there from the first, eleven millions of dollars. There was a great demand for labour at high rates; carpenters obtained from $5 to $6 per day; compositor thirty-seven cents per thousand; blacksmiths $4, to $5 per day; seafarers for fish this season, so far.

Mrs. H. B. Sonnen-Swartz.—At a recent meeting of a Committee of the Glasgow University Alumnae Society with Professor Stowe, the gentlewoman stated "that Mrs. Stowe had contemplated the preparation of a work on the Temperance movement, similar in plan to "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and that it would have been her earliest publication, but for the necessity which had arisen to indicate the view she had furnished of American Slavery, by exhibiting the stern facts of the system, as has been done in the recent work called the "Key."

We trust that the distinguished Lady referred to may be enabled to complete the contemplated work at an early day, as eminent benefit to the cause of Temperance would result from her able advocacy.

The Galaxy Packet publishes the following as a "remarkable coincidence." The Kilkenny and Waterford line, Rallied on Sunday, was scattered on Saturday, the 17th, with the exception of ten miles of the Waterford side. The engine was manufactured by Mr. Shrigley, and a large portion of the line was constructed by Mr. Butler.

The sum of $11,000,000 has been invested in supplying the cities of England with gas.

LAWYER FROM ENGLAND.—Telegraph.—Lady Reliant at Quebec.—Loyalty of all Mariners in French Ports, fit for service, married and single, to join ships of War.—Austria fully APPROVES Monckhoff's proceedings at Constantinople. Austria and Russia are therefore concluded against England, France, Spain, and other continental powers. A tremendous Revolution in Europe expected.

UNITED STATES

Great Slave.—The locomotive that was despatched from Liverpool to Chicago for physicians at the late Dr. Doster, who was suddenly stricken with apoplexy, ran the entire distance and back 116 miles, in 100 minutes.—George Journal.

New York June 23.—A terrible riot occurred last night, at the residence of Dr. George A. Wheeler, in 17th street, caused by the finding of some human bones on the premises. A mob of 200 collected, armed with clubs, axes and stones. Dr. W.'s store and dwelling were attacked, the inmates driven out, and the premises completely gutted. Nobody killed, though some police officers were injured.

ANNOUNCING TERM.—The Convention now in session in Boston have passed to a second reading a resolve, purporting that it is not advisable to add the phrase "His Excellency" to the title of "Governor of this Commonwealth."

Waukesha, June 23.—The Unions of this morning announce the appointment of Robert J. Thorpe to the China mission.

A calorifer engine, the Ericsson structure, is to be exhibited at the Mechanics Fair to be held in Boston in September next. It is being built in New York by Mr. Ericsson himself, and is to be of one-horse power, with 14 inch cylinder, and three-inch stroke.

The return of Salmon in the Sacramento river this season has been enormous; four thousand were taken daily, weighing 17 pounds each on an average. The rivers of California and Oregon are alive with these fish at all seasons. They are beginning to sail and cure them largely on the Sacramento. We didn't know before our latest date that there were salmon in California—though gold good enough for them.

The Mountain River.—It is now generally admitted, that the Mayor, Mr. Wilson, did give the orders to fire, though the troops can not be sure what the command of their officer before obeying the mandate.

The Mayor has left the city to escape the odium that his conduct has brought down upon him from all classes of the community;—and Mr. Alderman Atwater was, at the last meeting of the Town Council, unanimously elected to act in his stead during his absence.—Quebec Mercury.

It is announced in Fredericton that the troops are to be withdrawn from that city, and we presume the whole Province of New Brunswick.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

(From the Halifax Advertiser.)

St. George's Bay, N. F., May 1853.—On the afternoon of the 17th inst., the French man-of-war schooner Fauvette, St. Clare, Com., arrived here from St. Pierre, via God Roy; where she stopped the British, who were fishing entirely for some days previous to her sailing from the latter place, immediately on the arrival of the F. at Bay St. George, who sent her boat about amongst the vessels in the Bay, (about 40 in number) all British, and gave notice, that she would allow them one day to get up their nets, and then to immediately proceed to leave the fishing ground. Next day, the 18th, it blew in a gale from the westward which prevented the vessels from doing anything towards preparing to leave, and on the following day, the 19th, the whole of the fleet were forcibly driven out, by the boats and guns of the cutter and this in the face of the still continued gale; numbers of them lost without wood or water, and many of them had to leave all their nets down, and nearly all of them totally unfit to proceed safely to sea.

One vessel that remained until after 6 p. m. of that day, was ordered to move within a quarter of an hour, or she would be fired into. She had, consequently, to put to sea, instantly under the alternative of being sunk by the guns of the latter, and left all her nets &c., it being impossible to secure anything.

The Seine Kouros, (Br.) Moussey, master, was the only vessel allowed to remain uninterfered with.

The F. remained, until relieved by another French cutter of war, when the F. proceeded to St. Pierre, where great praise was awarded to the commander for what he had done.

On the 4th June a French war steamer arrived, and notified all concerned, that next year the French would not allow the inhabitants, or any British vessels coming there, to prosecute the fishing there, or to interfere with them in any way.

The French officers alleged "that this is an act of retaliation, for the acts of the British men-of-war, in driving the French fishing vessels off the coast of Labrador last season, and it is only a matter of politeness and courtesy, that the French authorities have allowed the British inhabitants to fish this season, so far."

AUSTRALIAN MATTERS.—The dates from Melbourne, Australia, to the 22d of March. During the week ending March 19th, 5,495 persons had been added to the population of Melbourne. CHARLOTTE-TOWN NOMINATION.

We had engaged a Reporter, for the purpose of furnishing us with a general Report of the proceedings, and speeches; but, although the High Sheriff, John C. Blans, Esq., politely and kindly offered the best accommodation at his disposal, the Reporter found himself so disadvantageously situated, that it was quite impossible to accomplish his purpose. Besides this, many of the Candidates were unable to address the meeting at so great length as they intended; in the first place, they were interrupted personally by Mr. Coles; and secondly, by a small band of unruly men, who, at an early hour, placed themselves right in front of the hustings. To give Mr. Coles an opportunity of speaking at the commencement of the proceedings, and at the close would have been the most that should have been allowed in a properly conducted assemblage; and even that would have been an advantage, which we question whether he had a right to—but for him to be permitted to interrupt the speakers, and to engage in himself the half of the speaking, was an outrage upon the time and patience of the audience, which, we are surprised, the respectable portion of the assembly submitted to.

We believe the reason why Mr. Coles was not put down by the orderly portion of the audience, was, that they did not wish to create a disturbance, and that it would be better to let Mr. Coles have his ring there, than that respectable people should contend with the disreputable characters that were around, and who, in many instances, had no votes or influence. It might be said that Mr. Coles spoke for his party, many of whom took up but little time, this is just what we contend, they were unable to speak for themselves, and just such men as Mr. Coles wishes to us under his power, on the floor of the House of Assembly, upon such matters as we hope the constituents of this Island, will consider totally unfit to represent them.

We must not omit to notice one part of Thursday's proceedings. Near the close of the evening, some persons were pointed out as the firm supporters of the Government, when they were immediately hooted away from the hustings where the candidates stood. This was the signal for the friends of order and good Government to rise, and the respectable Candidates, and many of the audience left the ground. In order to state what took place, we will loiter and were much annoyed to see Mr. Coles supported on one side by Mr. W. McGill, and on the other by a confirmed imbecile, whose tattered clothes and battered countenance, at once illustrated to his audience the state to which they might be subjected, after a short subjection to the power and dictation of the present ruler.

KNIGHT'S COUNTRY.

The nomination of members before the Sheriff's Court, took place inside the Court House, which was literally "filled full almost to suffocation." The specifying took place outside, in front of the Court House, where many flattering promises were made, one would suppose we never would have a "had" member returned again. All spoke except Dr. Conroy and Jas. McKay.

REASONING FROM FALSE PREMISES.—The great expounder of false doctrines took every opportunity of telling the people how very much the Revenue had increased under the first year of Responsible Government but made no allusion to the falling off, that has occurred during that part of the year that has now passed. We understand, that the Revenue for the past Quarter was over £2000 short of the sum collected last year, although the Revenues of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have been on the increase since 1850. We cannot command the present government for promoting an increase in our prosperity but we have to command them, that it has not gone on steadily to increase as is the case in less favored countries. We know this also, that several gentlemen, of fortune, were detained from going to our shores, whose names I do not care to name, and that many of them have suffered considerable loss of capital, and of intelligence, in the majority of our rulers, and that now small gentlemen are making arrangements to leave, if the present party should be continued in power.

We had willingly indulged in some faint hope, that the hint of our loss would have been attended to, and that the hunting would have presented some appearance of good government for each other's qualifications for being appointed a Member to the Legislature of any other country. His speech was a singular blundering and calculated for the sake of a few votes, and the South of Murray Harbour who are and have been often gullied before, and are likely to be so again. Let them beware of how they vote. The Schoolmaster is to be among them to gall them. Let them mind that if he be under an engagement to a Teacher of Education will have a duty to perform.

Mr. Aldous promised unconditional support to the present Government, who would be not he was born in the same Town as myself, and Mr. Cole's father! that speech only qualified for being appointed a Member to the Legislature of any other country. His speech was a singular blundering and calculated for the sake of a few votes, and the South of Murray Harbour who are and have been often gullied before, and are likely to be so again. Let them beware of how they vote. The Schoolmaster is to be among them to gall them. Let them mind that if he be under an engagement to a Teacher of Education will have a duty to perform.

Mr. Aldous made a very neat and reasonable speech and was introduced by Hugh McDonald Esq., who is now a Government colleague, and he was of the defence system; and what he may be of the next or any other, time alone can tell.

Mr. Hartland obtained for himself a hearing, and squared himself in his usual mannerly style, baring back with towering pride the greatest merit, or highly meritorious, leaving a wide interval in his favor.

Mr. McAuley followed when the Government speakers and bairns gave considerable interruptions to the arrival of the F. at Bay St. George, who sent his boat about amongst the vessels in the Bay, (about 40 in number) all British, and gave notice, that she would allow them one day to get up their nets, and then to immediately proceed to leave the fishing ground. Next day, the 18th, it blew in a gale from the westward which prevented the vessels from doing anything towards preparing to leave, and on the following day, the 19th, the whole of the fleet were forcibly driven out, by the boats and guns of the cutter and this in the face of the still continued gale; numbers of them lost without wood or water, and many of them had to leave all their nets down, and nearly all of them totally unfit to proceed safely to sea.

It was an expression, that "fair play is a jewel," either the saying has lost its force, or a portion of the gathering of Thursdays audience were certain, that whatever was opposed to the party in power, attempted to hinder, or question the safety or integrity of the government.

It was a clear evidence, that the master of the vessel, or his friends, had been employed to prevent the master from being heard. It is true, Mr. Coles gave a share of quieting it down, and requested as a personal favor to himself, that his portion of the audience would let every candidate be fairly heard. This was a clear evidence, that he knew who they were, and that they belonged to his own party, most likely brought there for the purpose.

If it were so, there is doubt, but that it was very bad policy, for nothing is so apt to enlist the feelings and ensure the sympathies of the generous and free-hearted, than the attempt to prevent free discussion, and to carry by brute force, measures which ought to be the result of free and unrestrained opinion.

The master of the vessel, Mr. Thomson was on the ground and would have riddled Mr. Whelan's sophistry with a well unsparring hand. Mr. Whelan knew well it would not fit were he heard, and his friends acted accordingly. Mr. Thomson preferred a quiet end to the day's proceedings, more than the bare refutation of the so often before refuted and stale statements by Mr. Whelan in his paper of the credit due to the Government for reduction of Taxation—reduction of the public debt—opening the port—collection of the revenue—less charge on the public for public servants and services. Well did Mr. Whelan know that he had a set of axes to deal with and well did he make use of his opportunity. He is however, cautioned not to test too severely the forbearance of the friends of his political opponents with his barking and hissing; lest mischief might be the consequence.

Commodore or Hoistman.—The Sick contains the following:—"Generals Klappa and Lohing have offered to Redachit Pao, to form a corps of 30,000 Hungarian and Polish emigrants; the offer has not yet been accepted, neither has it been refused. Although hostilities have not yet been declared, they have in reality commenced. A Turkish vessel, with slaves on board, was captured by the rebels, and another vessel, with corn, has been captured in the Black Sea. At the departure of the French packet from Constantinople, a report was current that a steamer belonging to an Armenian company, having been summoned to surrender by a Russian brig of war, which had even fired several shot at her, ran into the Russian and sunk her."

Our old acquaintance Schamli is awaiting him self of the turmoil in the Russian camp, and has just defeated 40,000 men under the Russian General Wrotsky, in the neighbourhood of Arzille, in the Caucasus. Letters from Trebisond and the Persian frontier state that this gallant chieftain has captured 23 out of 36 canon, which Wrotsky brought against him, and that the Russians have never sustained so terrible a defeat since they commenced the campaign.

We all deserve praise it would seem invitoable to particularise, but original productions of genius and the fine arts always claim exception; and we stand ready to award the highest compliment to the author of the Temperance band.

CHINA.—We have received dies of papers from Hong Kong, to the 22nd April inclusive. The latest intelligence regarding the insurrection is to the effect that the rebels, having captured Nanking on the 21st of March, had been compelled to evacuate it.
