THE EASTERN TRUST COMPANY.

The business of the The Eastern Trust Company is to administer Trusts. In this work it specializes, and it does no other. But no kind of trust is foreign to its scope or beyond its power to administer efficiently.

The Eastern Trust Company never speculates. It invests. It depends for its prosperity upon the efficiency of its management of its clients' business and upon the security of its investments.

The Eastern Trust Company executes the office of executor or administrator with unexampled efficiency, and its usefulness in this field is becoming rapidly more availed of.

For instance:—In St. John, New Brunswick, where it has quite lately established a branch, the estate of James Ready, of Fairville, which has been sworn to under $651,300.00, is being administered by The Eastern Trust Company as one of the joint executors of Mr. Ready's will.

In Halifax, Nova Scotia, again, The Eastern Trust Company has just been chosen to administer the estate of Captain William Fleming, which is valued at more than half a million dollars.

To-Night Quo Vadis?

"Quo Vadis" the superb photo drama reproduction of Henry Sienkiewicz's world-famous novel, opens at the Casino Theatre to-night, and it looks as though Mr. George Klehe's remarkable production will establish a wonderful record for attendance.

Aside from the many spectacular features there is an undeniable fascination about the story of Vinitius, passion for the sweet Lygia and the adage that the "course of true love never runs smooth, etc." is proven as far back as A.D. 66 and 68 by this very picture romance. It is human and human nature is the same to-day as it was in the days of Nero and all the other Caesars and Roman Emperors. And that is what the public likes whether it is novels, dramas, paintings or photo dramas.

There has been much wonderment at the magnitude and beauty of some of the scenes, notably the interior and garden scenes. But the locale is Italy where landscape beauty is still a world sight. The Cines Company of Italy is composed of many of the wealthiest men of Rome and the Bank of Italy is also said to be largely interested in the company.

Many of the wealthy nobility are stockholders and when these pictures were being made the stockholders gave special permission for the use of their gardens and palaces. By this means many of the gorgeous scenes were produced with comparative ease whereas to have built the grounds and palaces specially it would have taken several million dollars and rendered it a business impossibility. Special permission had to be obtained from the Royal Cabinet for the use of some of the buildings and assurance had to be given that none of the historic arabesques and marbles would be disfigured. Even with all the advantages at the disposal of the Cines Company it is a wonderful achievement which could hardly be duplicated anywhere else than in "Eternal Rome." "Quo Vadis" furnishes amusement, instruction and inspiration and fully merits the great success it has achieved.

His Honor.

I'd hate to be a jurist and listen by the day to lawyers whom a purist would feel desire to slay; to hear their mangled grammar, their pleadings long and dull, and have at hand no hammer with which to bust a skull. I'd hate to sit forever, and watch attorneys rag the witness pert and clever, the witness with a jag; the witness scared and rattled until three-quarters dead, the witness who, embattled, would punch a lawyer's head. I'd hate to sit and ponder o'er books that bring despair, o'er stupid laws that wander and drive Jose knows where. I'd hate to have to harken to skates who talk too much with intellects that darken all matters that they touch. I'd hate to make decision on knotty points of law, and know the next court's vision is sure to find a flaw. To watch o'er stupid juries with minds upon the blink, would fill my soul with furies and drive me soon to drink. To sit for years and measure out law, upon the bench, and be denied the pleasure of taking monkey wrench and killing ten attorneys, and other headful sport— Oh, gee! I'm glad my journeys don't lead me into court!

Poisoned Girl Kept in Secret.

New York, Oct. 16.—Disappointed in a love affair, Miss Helen Richards, of No. 890 Cadwell avenue, the Bronx, took bichloride of mercury tablets, and although suffering intensely, concealed her condition for more than twenty-four hours.

She was found dazed and in pain wandering early yesterday morning in Second avenue near Seventy-fifth street, by James Devine, of No. 150 East Ninety-second street, who escorted her to Bellevue Hospital. On the way she told him her name and address. At the hospital she named as her best friend, Patrick Collins.

Healthy and Unhealthy Lighting.

Gas, it may be said, vitiates the atmosphere. True. But it also helps to purify it. Its purifying power is greater than its vitiating power. Electricity does not vitate, nor does it purify. Hear what three eminent men have said:

Much evidence has lately been adduced to show that gas is more useful than the electric light in promoting efficient ventilation of air. It is for this, amongst other reasons, that gas is being frequently substituted for the electric light. The latest example is, perhaps, the Society of Medical Officers of Health, which has recently installed gas on its premises, after experience with the electric light.—Dr. Jamieson B. Hurry.

He would merely add that no member who had experience of their meeting room under the old conditions could deny the improvement that had taken place since gas had been substituted for the electric light and the new system of heating and ventilation had been installed.—Dr. Reginald Duffield, before the Society of Medical Officers of Health.

I have in my mind's eye, at the moment, a hall which, in the old days, was lighted by gas, and in which a large audience, with comfort, sat through an hour's lecture, or with pleasure through a three hours' dinner, but which, with the march of civilization, had its illumination changed from gas to electricity, the latter being employed with all the latest refinements to effect the lighting under the best conditions, with the result that any large gathering within its walls leads to a state little short of asphyxiation.—W. B. Lewis, Professor of Chemistry at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich.—nov8.t

of No. 65 East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street.

Dr. Kilington of the Bellevue staff who has specialized in the treatment of bichloride of mercury cases soon decided that this was the poison the young woman had taken. She did not know herself. She had come upon a bottle in her home labelled "Poison" and swallowed several of the tablets it contained. She could not remember how many.

The girl, who is strikingly pretty, and of gentle bearing, begged the doctor to save her life, saying she keenly regretted her effort to destroy herself. When she learned the nature of the poison she became aware through reading of cases in the newspapers, that the result would probably be fatal.

"Oh, I don't want to die," she sobbed. "It was a foolish act. Oh, I don't want to die!" Late last night she lapsed into a semi-conscious condition, and little hope was held out that she could be saved. Dr. Kilington said that if she had received treatment within a short time there would have been an excellent fighting chance, but under the circumstances she would probably die.

Rod and Gun.

Rod and Gun in Canada for November (Publisher, W. J. Taylor, Ltd., Woodstock, Ont.) sustains its reputation as the leading Canadian magazine devoted to the interests of sportsmen. Big game hunting in British Columbia is described in several well written and illustrated articles; "A Labrador Room" is descriptive of a Labrador fishing village; "My Visit to an Alberta Trapper" details a successful day on the trap line; "How to Keep Game from Spoiling" contains some valuable information for the hunter of big and small game; "When Riley Tied Hanlan" is by way of variety and is reminiscent of the famous Barrie Regatta when all the world's big scullers had a try-out for the Championship. The regular departments are well maintained.

Two arrests for Shooting of Gama Warden.

Newburgh, N.Y., Nov. 1.—Benjamin Lucino, whose right name is believed to be Joseph Antonio Lucino, and who is familiarly known as "Henry" Lucino, an Italian, aged 22 years, and Catherine Auer, German girl, believed to be less than 18 years of age were arrested here this noon in connection with the fatal shooting of George Peinboldt, a game warden, near Tappan, N.Y., on Sunday, October 19.

Lucino, who is accused of having fired the shot from a shotgun which caused the warden's death, was taken into custody on a warrant charging him with murder in the second degree. A technical charge of carrying concealed weapons has been placed against the girl, who is being detained principally as a witness, a razor having been found on her person when arrested.

Wedding Bells.

CROCKER-BROWN.

On Saturday evening, at 7.30, the marriage of Miss Jennie Crocker, youngest daughter of Capt. Patrick and Miriam Crocker, of Trinity, one of the most popular young ladies of that town, and Mr. McKenna Brown, youngest son of James Brown, Esq., of King's Cove, B.B., took place in the C. E. Cathedral. The bride, neatly dressed in cream embroidered voile, looked charming in a black hat with willow plumes, carrying an Ivory Prayer Book. Mr. Cater Davis, cousin of the groom, acted as best man. The bridesmaid, who also carried an Ivory Prayer Book, was Miss Sadie DeGrish, of Trinity. After the nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. J. Brinton, the party left the church amid showers of rice, and drove to Wood's Restaurant where supper was served, after which they proceeded to Golf Avenue. They joined yesterday's express for Trinity, where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride wore a handsome pearl pendant, gift of the groom, the bridesmaid an opal ring, and the best man a pearl stick pin. The presents, numerous and useful and many messages of congratulation were received, all of which will testify to the popularity of the bride and groom. They will have the sincerest wishes of hosts of friends for many years of happiness and prosperity in their future home.

Mr. Brown has been in Vancouver for the past few years, where he was held in high esteem for his ability as captain with the "New England Fishing Co."

Address and Presentation.

On Thursday night last at the T. A. Hall, Mr. James Jackman was the recipient of an address and purse on the occasion of his departure for Philadelphia where he will join the Xaverian Order. Below is the address to which Mr. Jackman replied in suitable terms:—

Dear Friend and Brother,— It is with feelings of the deepest sorrow that the Guardians and Officers and members of the St. John's Juvenile T. A. and B. Society learn of your departure from us. Your nine years of continuous membership have earned for you the highest esteem of your associates. Your kind and genial disposition and the deep interest that you have always taken in the affairs of the Society have merited for you the love and respect of your brother members, and you will always live in the hearts that you leave behind you. Whilst regretting your loss, it is consoling to us to hear that you have chosen a holy life and are going to join the Xaverian Order to work in the service of God. That the Almighty will strengthen you in all your resolutions, and bestow on you all the graces necessary for the fulfilment of your holy vows is our sincere wish. In conclusion we ask you to accept the accompanying gift as a slight token of our esteem. Again wishing you Godspeed and bon voyage on behalf of the Society, we remain, Signed.— John Kelly, President; W. Dohany, Vice-President; W. Griffin, Treasurer; D. Power, Asst. Treasurer; Douglas French, Secretary; James Clancy, Wm. Billingsby, Patrick Breen, Wm. Gallivan, J. O'Toole, James Norris, A. Brien, Thomas Dunn, Vice-Chairman; M. Taylor, Thomas Walsh, M. J. Tobin, Chairman; John Murphy, Secretary.

Melee on Shipboard.

SEAMAN ANDERSON GETS DISABLED.

Yesterday forenoon, a fracas occurred on board of the barquentine Earlshall, lying at the Southside. Two seamen Nelson and Anderson, who were drunk, had an altercation, and as a result the latter got one of his legs broken. Capt. Coward, who was on board at the time, telephoned to the police station. Sergt. Mackey took two constables to the scene of the row and arrested Nelson who had a belying pin in his hand. In the meantime, Anderson, the victim, was taken to the General Hospital. It is alleged that Nelson was flourishing the weapon found in his possession, but it could not be ascertained as to whether he used it on his opponent.

Temperance Meeting.

Yesterday, at George St. Church, a Temperance meeting was held at which Mr. A. B. Morine, K.C., delivered an able and powerful address, for which the audience was deeply grateful. Mr. Watson gave a recitation and Mr. J. Spooner a solo. Both numbers were well received. Mr. C. Ayre, the leader of the Class, closed the meeting by the recital of prayer.

Charge New Series of atrocities in Northern Bolivia.

London, Nov. 1.—Diplomatic communications are now being exchanged between the British and American Governments with reference to what is described as another Putumayo scandal. This time the scene of the alleged atrocities is in Northern Bolivia, and the charges, which are of a most revolting character, implicate a highly-placed official in the service of the Republic.

There is reason to believe that the British Foreign Office, to whose notice the new series of atrocities was brought in the first instance, has so far contented itself with referring the charges to Washington without committing itself to any expression of opinion or declaration of its intentions.

Rightly or wrongly, the inference is drawn that Sir Edward Grey was not only not reluctant to hand over to the American Government the task of investigating the reported atrocities, but considered, especially in view of President Wilson's recent speeches, that it was the particular business of the United States to act as policeman in the South and Central American continent.

A book is in course of preparation by the author of the "Putumayo" and arrangements have already been made for the publication in this country and in the British colonies. The author was in the country at the time Mr. Hardenburg was making the investigations which resulted in the disclosures of the Putumayo scandal, and was well known to him. He possesses many photographs supporting his view that the exploitation of the Indian in the upper regions of Bolivia is of such a nature as to warrant interference by some civilized government.

The accountant's charges in the first instance were taken up by the "Australasian" Protection Society, then placed before Sir Edward Grey, who, as stated, contacted himself, with turning them over to Washington.
