Death of Mrs. A. Puddicombe.

Another old resident of London has passed away in the person of Mrs. A. Puddicombe. The sad event took place Monday at the family residence, 25 Henry street, South London. Mrs. Puddicombe was born in 1814 near Great Torrington, Devonshire, Eng. In 1858 she emigrated the Canada, and since that date had lived in this city. Her husband, three children—two daughters and one son—survive her. The eldest daughter was married to Mr. Charles McClary, and the second to Mr. Osborne, of the old firm of Hobbs, Osborne & Hobbs. Her son Robert is inspector of the London Loan Company. Deceased was an exemplary vife and mother and a consistent member of St. James' Anglican Church, South London, for many years. She bore her long libres with remarkable patience, and when the end came it was perfect peace. The
