LOVE AND LUCRE

"What is it that you ask me to do?" inquired the professor.

"It is this," replied the captain. "I have never seen this man, who says he was a member of the Backbirds band; in fact, I never saw any of those wretches except dead ones. He has never met me; he knows nothing about me; this charge is simply a piece of revenge. The only connection he can make between me and the Backbirds is that he knew two negroes were once the servants of his wife, and that they are now the servants of my wife. Having never seen me, he cannot know me. Please ask the magistrate to send for some other man in plain clothes to come into this room, and then let the prisoner be brought here, and asked to point out the man he charges with the crime of being the captain of the Backbirds."

The professor's face brightened, and without answer he turned to the magistrate and laid this proposition before him. The officer shook his head; this would be a very irregular method of procedure—there were formalities which should not be set aside. The deposition of Banker should be taken before witnesses. But the professor was interested in Capt. Horn's proposed plan, in an emergency of the sort, when time was so valuable, he thought it should be tried before anything else was done. He talked very earnestly to the magistrate, who at last yielded.

In a few minutes three respectable men were brought in from outside, and then a policeman was sent for Banker. When that individual entered the waiting-room, his eyes ran rapidly over the company assembled there. After the first he believed that he had never seen one of them before. But he said nothing; he waited to hear what would be said to him. This was done quickly. Banker spoke French, and the magistrate addressed him directly.

"In this room," he said, "stands the man you have accused as a robber and a murderer, as the captain of the band to which you admit you once belonged. Point him out immediately."

Banker's heart was not in the habit of sinking, but it went down a little now. "Could it be possible that any one there had seen him in deeds of violence and blood?" He looked again at each man in the room, very carefully this time. Of course, that rascal second son, having fallen into disgrace in Spain, had gone to America, where he changed his name to Ramirez, and performed a number of discreditable deeds, among which was the deception of several of his discreditable comrades in regard to his family. They could not help knowing that he came from Spain, and he made them all believe that his real name was Ramirez. There had been three of them, besides Banker, who had made it the object of their lives to wait for the opportunity to obtain blackmail from his family, by threatened declarations of his deeds.

"IN THE SPRING TIME" the blood should be purified by way of the kidneys. They, above all others, are the organs of purification, and it is by helping the kidneys that Dodd's Kidney Pills win their signal victories. In the spring the blood should be purified by way of the kidneys. The organs more than all others combined have to do with purification. Medicine itself cannot cleanse the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills help the weak and sluggish kidneys to action, and these organs do the cleansing exactly as nature intended.

"Gentlemen,—After using one box of your Dodd's Kidney Pills, which I saw highly recommended in the papers, I am much pleased to say that I am completely cured of chronic backache and pain in the side. I got help from the first dose, and I am recommending them to every one who complains of similar ailments. Yours truly, J. KENDRICK, 404 Rectory Street.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.
The following series of resolutions was passed at the last meeting of the Epworth League of Christian Endeavor of the Dundas Street Methodist Church: "We, the members of Dundas Street Methodist Epworth League of Christian Endeavor, having read a report of a recent address of the chairman of the Board of Licensed Commissioners, in which he seeks to justify their action last year in extending the time of sale for intoxicating liquors in our city, desire to express our extreme dissatisfaction with the explanation he has made. We regret to see that the commissioners still assume to think that their action in this matter was right, and that they wholly disregard the resolutions passed last year by numerous Christian and temperance organizations of our city. We are of opinion: First, that the liquor traffic is a gigantic evil, and should be abolished; second, that as the time for its sale is extended, and the number of licensed places increased, the evils are thereby increased; third, that as the time for its sale is shortened, and the number of licensed places reduced, the evils are correspondingly lessened. We therefore respectfully request the commissioners to exercise their powers in reducing the time for sale and the number of licensed places, and we direct that copies of this resolution be sent to the commissioners and to the city press."

Will Circle the Earth.

Dr. Depew Will Try to Send a Telegram 24,000 Miles.

Power Generated at Niagara—All Cables Will Be Cleared for the Greatest Test of Advanced Electricity.

New York, April 25.—Chauncey M. Depew expects to perform on May 1 the greatest triumph of modern electrical science. He expects to rival the famous first telegraph message, "What hath God wrought?" with an epigrammatic cable message that is to be sent around the world by a current of electricity generated by the power of Niagara Falls.

For many days Mr. Depew has been studying over what is to be heralded as his greatest epigram. It must not be more than a dozen words in length, and it must express the master thought of a master mind. All this famous talker's eloquence, all his learning and all his ready wit must be concentrated in the one sentence.

The object of sending this message is to demonstrate the triumph of electricity over distance. Telegraph wires reach now to nearly all parts of the world, and some of them make single jumps of hundreds of miles, but everywhere throughout the world, and the long distance transmission of electricity is impossible. Nicola Tesla said he would prove that it was possible, and the Niagara Electric Company backed him with millions of dollars.

Mr. Depew will make the great trial of sending one continuous cable message around the world, or as nearly around the world as the cable lines will permit. His message, addressed to either E. D. Adams or F. W. Hawkey, of the Niagara corporation, will be telegraphed from Madison Square Garden over 24,000 miles of cable and be received again in the same room.

The certificates of telegraph managers at the various points of land it touches. The electric tour will be over in a very few minutes, but just how long it is impossible to say.

The message, leaving New York, will go over the Western Union cable to Penzance, England, and under water to Singapore, and the Malay Peninsula. The next place it will be heard of is in a desolate spot on the northern shore of Australia, and then in Melbourne.

If there was a cable under the Pacific Ocean, Dr. Depew's epigram could make a circuit of the world completely by a single trip. The work would be done, but that cannot be done. So the message will rebound on its trail, and by running under the Cape of Good Hope, it will reach Cape Town. Then it will jump to Lisbon again and start across the Atlantic Ocean to Pernambuco, Brazil. South America will be heard of in a desolate spot on the northern shore of Australia, and then in Melbourne.

Dr. Depew's epigram will be sent this morning. He expects to send this message, "said Mr. Hawley yesterday, "because his fame has spread throughout the world more, perhaps, than that of any living man. He expects to send this message, "said Mr. Hawley yesterday, "because his fame has spread throughout the world more, perhaps, than that of any living man. JINGOISM SCORED

By President Eliot, of Harvard University —A Bishop's Views.

Washington, April 25.—The conference for international arbitration, which has been very harmonious, closed with a mass meeting, in which President Eliot of Harvard University severely arraigned the foreign policy of the United States. The personalities which President Eliot uttered in cool, measured tones were so pointed that they created a decided sensation.

"The country has been surprised and discouraged at the immense war spirit it had encountered," he said. "We have seen the new phenomena of men employed as Cabinet officers, who have absolutely no experience in public affairs. This has introduced into public affairs a new danger—the danger of inexperienced men from the law into Cabinet offices. There has recently been an importation from Europe of ideas utterly repugnant to us, called 'Jingoism'—a detestable word for a detestable thing."

Some applause followed these remarks, but there was great applause when Bishop Keane, rector of the Catholic University, who spoke next, began: "I am not here to blame the President or Congress. I do not believe it is our purpose or our right to blame either of them. But we, as American citizens are free to say that it is a pity that things are as they are, compelling the President and Congress to talk of war with another civilized nation."

The other speakers were J. Randolph Tucker, of Virginia, and President Patton, of Princeton University, who declared that international arbitration would be enforced by "the gradual evolution of an international conscience."

PAUPERS ON STRIKE.

Forty of Them Went Out Rather Than Work a Little.

New York, April 25.—Forty paupers at the Hudson county (New Jersey) almshouse have gone on strike and are now without a home. It had been decided to quarter some paupers in the old insane asylum at Rye, called the "Barn," the most able-bodied men—about 100—to assist in transferring the furniture. About 60 men went to work with a will, the remaining 40 objected.

"See here," said one, "we did not come here to work. We ain't convicts."

"We won't be made beasts of burden just because we're poor," said another.

"Look here," said old "Bill" Jones, "we don't propose to work, so that's all there is about it."

Then they left the poorhouse in a body. When last seen they were trudging towards Jersey City.

CURE

Fair Building Contracts.

Work of Razing Must be Completed by May 9.

The Lucky Tenderers—Great Variety of Figures.

A meeting of the Western Fair building committee was held last night to let tenders for the preliminary work at the park. There were present: Ald. Farnell (chairman), Capt. Porte, Ald. Dreahey, A. M. Smart, ex-Mayor Taylor, Ald. Cooper, Ald. Wm. Heaman, Ald. O'Meara, Superintendent Hook and Secretary Browne.

Secretary Browne explained the question raised at the last meeting in connection with the wording of an advertisement registering the debenture bylaw. In it the city clerk called on all who had objections to come forward and state the same within three months. Mr. Browne consulted the city solicitor, who said that there could be no doubt of the validity of the debentures, and that the advertisement had to be inserted in that manner in order to satisfy outside purchasers.

It was then decided to open the tenders for the work. Ald. Farnell suggested that in case one man should tender lowest on all the work he would hardly expect to get it, anyway.

This point was decided upon, and the secretary placed a bundle of tenders in front of Chairman Farnell, who looked like a postoffice letter-sorter at Christmas time.

Tenders were first opened for the razing of the cattle, sheep and swine barns. The work was divided into five sections, and there were easily 500 differences in the totals of some of the 25 or 30 tenders. Some of the tenderers showed an evident lack of familiarity with the work required. George T. Dodd's tender was the lowest in all five sections, but the members of the committee felt that they were doing a charitable act in saving him from ruin, in awarding him only three sections—Nos. 3, 4 and 5, at $22, $36 and $34. The next highest figures were $52, $49 and $59.

J. E. Rogers, 928 Dufferin avenue, was given section 1, at $39, and Mr. Wm. Stewart, 755 Grey street, got section 2, at $48. Mr. Stewart's figure for No. 1 was $35, but when he was awarded section 2 it was decided to give section 1 to Mr. Rogers.

Edward Howie was given the contract for moving the big machinery hall and rebuilding it, for $1,915. Mr. Howie also got the job of moving the horse barns, at $45, and the dairy hall, for $74.

The contract price for moving the machinery hall is $300 under the estimate.

Specifications for the new buildings will be advertised as soon as the plans are ready.

It was decided that the barns must be torn down by May 9, and that all building work must be completed by Aug. 5.

The engineer will at once prepare plans and specifications for the grading of the track.

Metallic shingles will be advertised for.

Several trees will have to be cut down in order to make room for the buildings. Mr. Burdick will do the work, and will be awarded the timber.
