It is probable that the question of locating the place will be left to a vote of the ratepayers. While a majority of the member are favorable to a down-town site, some of them think that the citizens should settle the matter and not they themselves.

At a meeting of the young people of St. James' Anglican Church, South Lonion, held Thursday evening, the quesion of whether or not examinations are ecessary to the promotion of education The affirmative was supported by H. LONDON TOWNSHIP MAN FOR HEAD FARMER

It Is Not Likely That Model Farm Will Be Established at the Asylum.

There is a movement on foot to have a model farm established in connection with the asylum here. The position of head farmer is now vacant, and Mayor Graham is anxious to have an expert appointed to cultivate the 800 acres along the lines so successful

" Ithink it can be worked," said Mayor Graham. "There is plenty of land there, and the same results obtained at Guelph could be obtained. Excursion into London would be run, and this city would become the Mecca of the farmers of Western Ontario."

However, the patronage for East Middlesex is in the hands of Mr. George W. Neely, ex-M.P.P., and it is understood that the recommendation for a head farmer has been forwarded to the department at Toronto. The man to be appointed will be Mr. R. Guest, of London Township, The Advertiser is informed. stocks He is a practical farmer, and would obtain the results necessary, but he is not an expert such as Mayor Graham has suggested should be placed in charge. Some of the county councillors are in favor of the movement suggested by his worship, while others are dubious. "It would be all right, if the county were not taxed in any way," said Reeve Currie of Glencoe. "I would favor it provided it did not interfere with the efficiency of the Model Farm," said Reeve Morgan of Ailsa Craig.

Mrs. Fraser added to Mr. McKillop hat she had a shawl over her head which the man tore off and threw to he ground.

Detective Down Testifies.

Detective Harry Down was next alled by the crown attorney. On Tuesday, Jan. 15, at 9 o'clock in the evening he arrested the prisoner on the south side of King street, west of Richmond street. Down was accompanied by Detective Nickle. After moving about forty feet with the prisoner O'Brien took his gloves off very quickly. He put his right hand in his right overcoat pocket. Down was then on the left side but jumped about and put his hand in the same pocket. In this manner he grasped the chain and locket belonging to Mrs. Fraser.

Down then produced a 32-calibre revolver which he obtained from John Lampman on Thursday of the same week, the shooting having been committed on Monday night. The pistol had one empty chamber, while the other four were loaded.

The Revolver. Mr. Bartlett endeavored to learn the manner in which the revolver was obtained, and was told that Lampman had brought the revolver to the police station.

To Mr. McKillop, Detective Down added that while in casual conversation with the prisoner during the afternoon at a King street hotel O'Brien or Maloney, had told him that he was a Toronto railroad man. Lampman Tells Story.

John Wilson Lampman, of 14 Camp. ell street, from whom the police secured the revolver, was next called. He did not hear of the hold-ups until after the prisoner's arrest. He knew the man, and had been drinking with him from 11 a.m. till 4:30 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 15, Lampman also knew O'Brien, or Maloney, in St. Thomas before that Three weeks prior to the holdups Maloney had been stopping a Lampman's home. The prisoner had gone back and forth between St. Thomas and London and had returned from his latest trip on Sunday.

Lampman was at a place on Monday night, and did not go home until after 6 o'clock Tuesday morning. O'Brien was then in bed, and did not get up until about 11 o'clock. Witness arose shortafter, and both started off uptown at about 2 o'clock. The witness had had two revolvers at his house, one FROM HON. ADAM BECK of which he throw in the throw in the Saturday before the hold-ups. The other was left, loaded in all five chamburgan drawer, and was there on Sunday morning. He next saw the gun in the drawer when the detectives demanded possession of it. One chamber was then empty, but the others were loaded as before.

O'Brien's Moustache. Lampman stated that O'Brien's moustache was fairly short, but had been trimmed. On Tuesday morning they shaved each other, and Lampman removed the prisoner's moustache.

Lampman cleaned the revolver in question on Sunday morning, preparatory to going shooting. On Saturday, he said, both were drinking, and each 'had all he could carry."

There had been no whiskey or drinking at Lampman's house for some days.

Pawnbroker's Evidence. Noah Fox, son of Joseph Fox, a awnbroker, of 213 King street, testified that he saw the prisoner at the pawnshop on Tuesday between 2 and fied that he saw the prisoner at the 2:30. He was accompanied by Lampman, who then gave his name as "Jack Smith." The prisoner had a mustache of medium length at the time.

Smith got $10 on a watch. Mrs. Fraser was again called to the stand and gave testimony similar to that offered when the first charge was Miss Volk on the Stand.

Miss Christine Volk, the victim of the other hold-up on the same night as the Fraser affair, but about 20 minutes earlier, was called to the stand to give evidence in the fourth case against the prisoner. Miss Volk testified that she reside at 500 Colborne street, and that on the night in question she was proceeding home shortly after 10 o'clock, She was met by a man who demanded her money or her life, at the same time threatening her with his revolver. She at first told the man she had no money, but when he persisted in his demands she opened her purse and emptied it into his open hand. As Miss ALMOST ASPHYXIATED Volk did so the purse suddenly closed. "I am no fool," he told her. "I want all of that."

> Witness again opened the purse and gave him the last ten-cent piece. She was then compelled to remove her gloves, the hold-up man declaring that he wanted diamonds. He took a small signet ring, but allowed her to retain another with an inexpensive setting. On being informed that a brooch set with brilliants was not valuable, he also decided not to take

"I don't see that you had much to fied by Miss Voik as the one taken be thankful for," remarked the crown from her.

"I suppose," commented the mag-istrate, "he left the brooches for the other two down the street."

Prisoner Again Identified. "Who do you think was the man who pointed the revolver at you and took your money?" asked Mr. Mc-Killop.

"The prisoner, there," was Miss Volk's reply. "He had a short moustache then, but that is the only change in his appearance." As to when she had first seen the prisoner, Miss Volk made the same answer to Mr. Bartlett as that given by Mrs. Fraser.

"I expected to see him in the room when the detectives brought me in,

she said. The hold-up occurred on the east side of Colborne street, south of Dufferin avenue, and comparatively close to an electric light, As she was detained by the man she endeavored to manoeuvre about the man in order to get the light on his face. In this manner she was able to positively identify him. "If he were placed in that crowd of spectators outside the court rail there, could you recognize him?" persisted Mr. Bartlett. "I could, readily," replied the witness. "You are a most remarkabale young lady," commented the prisoner's solicitor. "Did he use any violence to-

owing to its extraordinary blood-forming and blood-enriching qualities, supplies the necessary blood to the human organism—and one-fifth of the blood used by the whole body is consumed in the brain. It will not only restore your brain to normal condition but give you health, strength and vitality.

Dr. J. M. ROGERS, Ingersoll, Ont., says: "I found "Wilson's Invalids' Port" not only a pleasant wine to take, but a good blood builder as well. I now make it a practice when prescribing port, to specify "Wilson's Invalids' Port", and I am satisfied that my patients will get the results for which I am looking. So far as I know there is no other wine on the market at the present time that is its equal."
