THE BY-LAWS

The Town Council are now taking active steps to enforce the building by-laws, which is the correct thing to do if the government of the town is to be carried on in a business-like manner. Four persons, who were given one month to roof their buildings with material in accordance with the by-laws and who have not complied are to be proceeded against. This is as it should be for everyone ought to do their best to keep the laws rather than break them. On the other hand the shacks on Water Street, according to the by-laws were to be removed before the 31st of Dec. 1911, and it is now May 1913 and nothing has so far been done to enforce the laws here. It would look a great deal better if the council had first proceeded against the violators in the proper fire district and by the time the shacks were removed the others would be ready to do their part, and feel that they had not been treated so harshly after all. It is understood that two of the four who will stand proceedings are willing to comply with the by-laws but are not at present in a position to be able to do so. It is a much easier proposition we admit to get after the little fry and make them squirm than to get up against a lawyer, for instance, who might own a wooden building in the prohibited area or a merchant who was to brick his building according to his permit and die. For the benefit of all concerned we might point out that the town solicitor in a recent opinion to the council said (relative to another part of the by-laws) that "the by-laws could be enforced if it were shown that they were reasonable, in accordance with the act of incorporation and were without discrimination." Herein lies the matter. We submit that the council are discriminating in the enforcing of the by-laws and if they proceed as they have arranged to do against the four persons for roofing violations, they must also take suit against the owners of shacks in the fire district. The four unfortunate citizens who can't afford steel shingles on their roofs, got thirty days to comply with the law. The owners of the shacks have had 17 months beyond their allotted time and there is nothing doing yet. Query. What is discrimination?

A SHARPER

Two of our merchants in town have been done by a person presenting cheques signed James A. MacDonald. The attention of storekeepers is drawn to this, not to cash cheques to strangers unless they are reasonably sure that the document is genuine, as in the two cases brought to our notice the cases were forgeries. Mr. MacDonald will, we are sure, give any storekeeper who calls on him, information as to how he could detect the forgery, and if any cheque is presented without his sign manual, information should be at once laid with the police.

CONSECRATED AT BATHURST CHURCH

Many Prominent Church Dignitaries Assist in Elevation of Dr. O'Leary

Bathurst, N. B., May 22—In the presence of a congregation which filled the sacred building to overflowing with the edifice beautifully decorated with flowers, candles and papal colors, and with the usual impressive ritual and pomp of such a ceremonial, Rev. Dr. O'Leary, of Chatham, was elevated to the bishopric in the Catholic church here this morning. From all sections of the maritime provinces visitors came to witness the ceremony, the consecration of the youngest bishop in all Canada. The gathering included his friends amongst the clergy and the laity, attracted by the importance of the event in the history of the Catholic church in the eastern jurisdiction.

The papal delegate, His Eminence Mgr. Stagni presided at the consecration, being assisted by others of the hierarchy in Canada, among them Archbishop Bruchesi, of Montreal; Archbishop Pratt of Kingston; Bishop Barry, of Chatham; Rev. Canon Lepailleur, of Montreal; Bishop LeBlanc, of St. John and others. The ceremony was beautiful and impressive and was followed with rapid attention by the largest congregation ever present in the church. The consecration was held here instead of in Charlottetown because of the burning of the Cathedral there a few months ago. His Lordship Bishop O'Leary will now have charge of the Charlottetown diocese, a very important and responsible jurisdiction for even a much older cleric than the newly consecrated prelate.

The Rev. Dr. O'Leary is only thirty-three years of age and will be one of the youngest Bishops in the Church. He is a son of the late Henry O'Leary, of Richibucto, and of Mary O'Leary of St. John. His near relatives are the Rev. Louis O'Leary, D.D., secretary to Bishop Barry, of Chatham; Mr. Wm. O'Leary of Montreal; and Messrs. R. O'Leary and A. O'Leary of Richibucto; half-brothers, and Mrs. George V. McInerney, of this city, half-sister. The late Father Wm. O'Leary, of St. John diocese, was an uncle of the new Bishop.

Bishop O'Leary took the degree of B. A. from St. Joseph's College, Memramcook, in 1897 and then took the four years' theological course at the Grand Seminary, Montreal. Following this in 1901 he was ordained in Richibucto and then spent four years studying in Rome, where he received his degree of D.D. On his return to Canada he was located in Chatham and other parishes on the North Shore for some time and then returned to Rome as representative of the Bishops of the maritime provinces and of the Archbishop and several of the Bishops of Ontario. After spending more than a year in Rome in that capacity he again returned to New Brunswick and was given his present charge in Bathurst where he has been for more than three years. During this period he has been very active in building up the parish and has undertaken the construction of several church buildings.

Rev. Dr. O'Leary's natural talents, his years of preparation for his work, his energy and his devotion to the church have marked him as a man whose career was bound to be an interesting one.

RAILWAY BRIDGE SOON UNDER WAY

Delegation Appear Before St. John River Commission at Van Buren

A meeting of the St. John River Commission was held at Van Buren, Me., last Friday evening, at which the matter of the erection of a railway bridge over the St. John river connecting the International Railway with the Bangor and Aroostock Railway at Van Buren was fully discussed.

The meeting was held at the Hammond House, all the commissioners with secretary and attorneys present.

Chas. A. Oak, manager of the New Brunswick Railway Lands Co., presented in a clear and forcible manner the reasons for the erection of the bridge, the benefits which would result from its erection, and much other valuable information in reference to this undertaking. He also told of the abounding resources along the line of the International railways.

Judge Botkin, U.S. Consul, and Messrs. A. E. G. McKenzie and E. H. Anderson also made statements, placing additional information before the commissioners.

The commissioners were deeply interested in the information given and as there seemed to be no objections to the erection of the bridge they promised to report promptly so that work could be commenced at once.

So confident are the promoters of the bridge that everything will be favorably settled and the erection proceeded with, that they have already on the grounds an engineer representing New York capitalists. Unless the start is delayed the company predict that trains will be running over the new structure by January 1st, 1914.

Besides attending the meetings of the commission, the Campbellton delegation were shown the sorting gaps at the great boom at Keegan, on the St. John river, a short distance above Van Buren. Here every log cut on the upper reaches of the St. John must pass through the gaps, the down river logs being permitted to continue on their way, while those for the local mills are put into booms.

On the return to Van Buren the large mill of the St. John River Lumber Co. was inspected by the party under the guidance of President Parker of that company.

In this mill nearly four hundred men are converting round logs into finished lumber, laths, shingles, pulpwood, etc. Even the edgings are barked and converted into pulpwood. This mill cuts about 250,000 feet per day of long lumber and 600,000 shingles.

The proposed bridge site was also visited.
