CURRENT TRADE CONDITIONS. ONTARIO.

The number of transactions in white pine lumber during the past week has shown a slight increase, which is regarded by some as an indication that retailers and consumers are becoming convinced that lumber prices will not weaken in any marked degree in the near future. The conditions seem to favor the Canadian manufacturer of white pine, who, while experiencing a considerable local demand, is also receiving numerous inquiries for stock from the Eastern States. Some of these inquiries are due to the position taken by the manufacturers in the pine-producing districts of the United States, who have held their stock at what the eastern dealers consider an exorbitant price, and one not warranted by the demand. Generally, our manufacturers have few complaints of dull trade to make, as a brisk movement of stock is not expected at this season of the year. Recent heavy rains have swollen the streams in the Georgian Bay district, and most of the logs are getting along satisfactorily. One Georgian Bay concern, however, reports that a large proportion of their logs will not reach the mill till September, so that the lumber cut from these can scarcely be marketed this year. It is estimated that 160,000,000 feet of logs will come out of the Spanish river.

The tendency is towards lower prices for lath. The scarcity of this material has been relieved, and the demand at the present time is not large.

Hardwood lumber is moving only moderately. Consumers are pursuing a hand to mouth policy in respect to purchases, apparently believing that the dearth of hardwood lumber which characterized the trade of last year will not be experienced again this season. Notwithstanding the somewhat backward demand, manufacturers have been offering little inducement to buyers in the way of a reduction in price, and their action in this respect has greatly assisted in maintaining the strength of the market.

QUEBEC AND NEW BRUNSWICK.

The slight advance in the price of Quebec square timber seems to be justified by the receipts of timber at Quebec. The statement of the Supervisor of Cullers shows that up to July 14th the quantity of waney pine, white pine, red pine, and oak timber received at the port was less than in the corresponding period last year, while of elm, ash and birch there was a slight increase. The difficulty of securing tonnage, however, may have some effect upon the market. Only a moderate trade in lumber is doing in the eastern provinces. Export trade is satisfactory, but the demand from the United States has fallen off since the 1st of July. Notwithstanding, manufacturers and dealers look forward to a busy fall, although there is some uncertainty as to prices. Shingles are in steady demand. New Brunswick ce-lars have shown but a slight decline in price, and seem to have secured a strong hold in the New England market. On Boston rate of freight quotations are as follows: Extra, $3.10 to $3.25; clear, $2.65 to $2.85; second clear, $2.10 to $2.35; extra No. 1, $1.85.

UNITED STATES.

An increase in the number of enquiries for stock is about the only change in the lumber situation of the United States. Recent rains in Dakota and Minnesota have improved the crop outlook, and this has given retailers courage to buy lumber. Those who have been running along with light stocks are now more disposed to replenish their supply, but the uncertainty as to prices has had a deterrent effect. Several of the lumber associations, however, are holding meetings this week to establish a basis of prices for fall trade, and when this has been done a considerable movement of stock is confidently looked for. The indications are that building operations during the balance of
