WHOLESALE PRICES.

The crop prospects throughout Britain and Ireland, especially in the latter island, are for the moment unfavorable, and consequently the English markets are steady as to price. The Russian crop prospects, according to the official reports from forty-nine provinces, are poor, and these no doubt have had a greater effect than even the home advices. The latter have as yet plenty of time for recovery. The Chicago market is about steady at the closing prices of yesterday. Corn is also firm. The local grain market is dull and easy. Canada Spring Wheat is nominal at $1.20 to $1.25. Corn, 50c to 504c to arrive. Peas, 92c per 66 lbs. Oats, 331c to 34c per 32 lbs. Rye, 80c for forward delivery. Barley nominal.

FLOUR.-Receipts, 4,776 barrels. The market is somewhat more active at the decline. Fall wheat flours are steady, while spring extras, which have hitherto been supported in price by their scarcity, have declined about 10c per barrel. The following sales were reported to-day: 100 barrels of Superior Extra at $5.55: 100 do at $5.50: 100 bbls Extra Superfine at $5.40: 100 Spring Extra at $5.60; 50 bbls. Strong Bakers' at $0.40; 100 Medium at $6; 150 Superfine at $5.30; 100 Choice do at $5.40. We quote: Superior Extra, $5.50 to $5.55; Extra Superfine, $5.40 to $5.45; Fancy, nominal; Spring Extra, $5.60 to $5.65; Superfine, $5.25 to 5.40; Strong Bakers' $6.00 to $6.45; Fine, $4.55 to $4.65; Middlings, $4.10 to $4.30; Pollards, $3.70 to $3.90; Ontario Bags, $2.75 to $2.85; City Bags (delivered), $3.10.

MEALS -Ontario Oatmeal is somewhat easier at $4.40; Cornmeal, $2.70 to 2.75 per bbl. ASHES are steady. Pots being quoted at $4.55 to $4.60 per 100 lbs.

WHOLESALE PROVISION MARKET. The tone of the market is generally favorable to holders of cheese, but unfavorable to sellers of butter. Shippers appear to have considerable stocks of butter on hand, and some claim to have sufficient for their regular trade up to the first of September. Though not such a general practice as in former years, it is yet too common for producers to hold on to a portion of their stock until it is anything but fresh, and consequently depreciated in value. Since the "rush" for butter subsided, about three weeks ago, stocks have gradually been accumulating in the country, until almost every farmer has a little lot of from five to 10 packages on hand. A freer movement is desirable. We quote :- Choice Eastern Townships, 20c to 21c; fair to fine, 18c to 20; choice Morrisburg, 19c to 20c; fair to fine 17c to 18c; choice Brockville, 19c to 20c; fair to fine, 17c to 18c; Western 15c to 17c. Fifty packages of fancy creamery are reported sold at 21c, and we give 2301024c as the range of values. The Liverpool cable having advanced to 60s, cheese is very firm and excited, but we do not hear of much business passing at the moment, though sales have recently been made in the country equal to 13c laid down here. We quote fine to finest at 11 to 12 c for present delivery; do for future delivery 12 c to 13; medium qualities, 10c; skims, 6c to 81c. Eggs are firm at 13c to 14c per doz.

Hog Products.-Mess Pork, $17.50; Lard, 10]c to 11; for pails, according to lot. Smoked Hams, 11 to to 12c; Bacon, 9to to 10to per lb.

MONTREAL, August 9.

An improved demand has set in for shipping cattle, and exporters were busy to-day picking up all offerings at from 4 to 5 to per lb., live weight. Butchers' cattle were also in good demand at from 3c to 4c, and 4kc for good stock. one of our principal butchers stating to-day weight. Hogs sold at $5.25 to $5.50 per 100 lbs. Sheep in good demand again for the British markets, the glut in the supply along with the depreciation in values recently experienced there having now given place to a much healthier state of affairs. Sheep sold to-day at Viger market at $4.00 to $5.50 each, and lambs at $2.25 to $3.76, as to size and quality. H. Benallack bought 9 lambs for $3.75 each, and 21 do at $2.60 each. BUTTER AND CHEESE.

LIVERPOOL, July 29, 1880. BUTTER.—The market has ruled active during the week with an advance of three to five shil-lings over last week currencies. Receipts have been light, which has enabled the receivers of them to make outside prices, and at the close been light, which has enabled the receivers of them to make outside prices, and at the close buyers find it difficult to supply their wants in American or Canadian goods The sale of butterine and other imitations of butter have had a free sale in consequence, and prices have steadily advanced until $4s$ has been reached for extra choice brands. This is the most active of all English markets for American and Canadian butter. French butter is off 4s during the week in all the principal markets, and Irish lower by 2s, which has had the effect of checking the upward tendency here, notwithstanding cable advices from New Yerk and Montreal reporting higher prices. It is quite probable this market will now be influenced more by the course of home. Irish and French butter, than by American advices.

Cheese.—The business of the week has been

by American advices.

CHEESE.—The business of the week has been rather tame, and buyers have only suppited their immediate wants at a concession of 2s on last week's value. This is owing to the heavy shipments of last week from the States and Canada, but to day's advices from these countries, reporting probable moderate shipments and quotations of 53s to 54s, C. F. & I., has a tendency to check a further decline which was making itself manifest yesterday. The course of market the coming week will depend entirely upon reports from America. Weather fine and favorable.

Rutter.—Finest creamery, 114s to 117s, 5ne.48

Butter.—Finest creamery, 114s to 117s; fine do, 108s to 112s; com. to fair do, 104s to 116s; finest dairy, 105s to 110s; fine do, 100s to 104s; com. to fair; 55s to 98s; Western finest dairy, 95s to 100s; fine do, 90s to 94s; com. to fair, 85s to 88s. Cheese.—Finest Canadian factory, $2s to 5is; fine do, 49s to 5is; com. to fair do, 40s to 48s.—George A. Cochrane's Circular.

Agriculture.

HINTS FOR THE MONTH OF AUGUST. Compost.—There are many waste matters about the farm, and they should be gathered into a heap and there rotted into a valuable fertillizer. Weeds of all kinds that do not contain ripe seeds, and refuse of crops, should go into the compost heap.

ripe seeds, and refuse of crops, should go into the compost heap.
Fall fallowing.—It is wise to plow as much as possible for spring sowing. It is a half-way fallowing, and in so far an advantage to the soil; it is of more benefit to heavy land than light, and the earlier it is done the better. Fall plowing greatly facilitates the farm operations in the spring.

Mangels and Beets.—The root crops need frequent cultivation through August, and as long as the foliage will it. Sugar-beets are the best if carthed up until the root are entirely below the surface. Mangels do not require this care in "hilling up." in "hilling up,"

Potatoes should be harvested so soon as they are ripe, otherwise the tubers may sprout, especially if the weather is wet; they are more apt to be affected with the rot if not removed from the soil as soon as they are mature. Burn and also shade from the hotsun of the summer noon-day.

Sheep The coupling begins soon, and a good ram should be used. If possible, secure a pure blood—a poor ram is poor economy. The The Lambs should be separated from the dams and given a good pasture by themselves. If early lambs are desired for the spring market a Southdown cross is preferable for quality, though in size the Cotswolds are much larger than the Southdowns.

KITCHEN AND MARKET GARDEN.

Weed killing will still be required, though weed killing win still be required, though most of the crops are beyond injury from them. A weed that goes to seed now—and they do very rapidly—means a full supply of young plants to stock the ground for another season. If the crop is removed from any portion of the garden, an occasional run of the cultivator over it will keep the weeds down, and at the same time improve the soil.

Spinach, Late Turnips.—Spinach to be wintered should not be sown until next month. "Yellow Stone" and "Aberdeen" are good turnips to sow now; the Strap-leaf will do if sown next Beans.—It is not well to hoe beans when the vines are wet, as it is said to make them rust.

For pickling or salting, the "Refugee" is best. Sow "Early Valentine" for a late crop of snaps. The stems of Limas need pinching of when at the top of the poles. Beets need frequent hoeing and thinning. Use the young plants for greens.

Cabbage and Cauliflower.—Set for late use. The "worms" are best removed by using hot water (180°), sprinkled over the plants through a dra hose. Carrois to do well require clean culture. When too large to hoe, pull the weeds that show them-selves. Celery should be set out at once, and in well manured moist soil. Hoe earlier plantings frequently.

Corn for late orop should have the soil kept open, mellow, and free from weeds. So soon as the ears are picked the stalks may be cut and fed to the cows or other stock, or cured for Melons.—The late sets will not mature; therefore pick them off, that all the nourishment may go to the earlier ones. A mulch of straw just before the vines begin to run will keep the ruit from the ground. A more uniform ripening is secured by occasionally turning the fruit when near maturity.

Onions.—Harvest the crop so soon as the tops die, and after being well dried, store in an airy

Potatoes should be dug so soon as ripe, which is known by the dying down of the vines. Clean the ground of all weeds.

Squashes.—Pull out the large weeds after hoeing is over; and watch for any injurious in-Sweet Potatoes.—Vines should not root at the joints, as small potatoes form there at the expense of the large ones. Move the vines when

DIED.

FRYER.—At St. Therese, near Chambly, on the 2nd August, James Fryer, aged 33 years, youngest son of the late Vickerman Fryer. May he rest in peace.

IN MEMORIAM. MISS M. L. STUBBS.

Ah! why those sad tears that flow from your that for good beef he had to pay 41c per lb., live And call forth such deep—such heart-rending sighs,
Your flower is gone—the fairest of all,—
Nipped in the bloom—now wrapt in the pall,
Nay! cease those sad tears, nor sigh, nor complain, Your flower will bud in spring time again; For our Lily beloved, so pure, so mir, Henceforth shall bloom in our Mother's parterre.

Yet, still fond parents will seek for their flower, In every nook and in every bower, But vainly they seek—their flower so bright' (build no longer bloom 'neath shades of night. Transplanted to realms of eternal day, Its beauty expands 'neath celestial ray, And our Lily beloved, so pure, so fair, You'll surely find in our Mother's parterre.

Ah! Blessed Mary, thou knowest too well, A mother's grief, and its anguish can tell, A soothing balm, ah! deign, deign to bestow, Oh the breaking hearts a like anguish know. Our Lily let's see with the crown she's won, Reposing forever with Christ thy Son, For the Lily beloved, so pure, so fair, We know doth bloom in our Mother's parterre.

There forever she'll sing on harp of gold,
The virgin song of that glory untold,
Here oft her sweet notes ascended on high,
Oh! Jesus, Mary, with you let me die!
The mortal lyre is, alas! unstrung,
But fond mem'ry 'll keep the notes as sung,
And with perfume sweet our matchless flower
Evermore shall bloom in our Mother's bower.

Her relics repose 'neath our northern skies, 'Neath the shrine of Our Lady—a boon to prize— For one who so loved at this shrine to kneel, As the shadows of eve did round her steal. And her prayer ascended like incense sweet To that home of love where we'll one day meet, And our Lily beloved, so pure, so fair, We'll evermore see in Mary's parterre.

-On High street, a boy of ten, richly dressed, sat on the steps eating an orange, and a boy with a cartload of picked-up wood stood across the street looking at him. The contrast was very great, and a pedestrian, who saw the situation, said to the poor boy :-· That chap over there is pretty well fixed, isn't he ?" "Yes," was the reply. "Lives in a big house and wears good clothes ?"" Yes." "Probably has lots of spending money?" There was a minute of silence, and then the boy with a cart started up his load, saving, "But I don't care a cent about it-he eat with a fork and say, 'Yes, ma'm' to SUMMER ARRANGEMENTS, everybody."-Detroit Free Press.
