

In the new world of communications networks,
one word stands for change.