

ministry, which, like that of a Sarah, in the work-house of Yarmouth; or an Elizabeth, in the gaols of the Metropolis; or a Florence, in the wards of Scutari; or a Mary, in the hospital of Kullalu; or an Angela, in endowing the episcopal office in the colonies; or a Catharine, or an *Anna*⁴, in going to work whithersoever they may be sent;—we cannot, I say, doubt the blessedness that rests upon that WOMAN'S MINISTRY, which is ever ready to sacrifice self, to glorify God, to edify the Church, and to save the soul of a fellow-sinner!

c. And beyond the helps found in education, and in the willing ministry of those holy women, whom to avoid a controversial title we may for the present call Female Missionaries, our soul-loving Pastor has also to look to soul-loving men to help him: men who, called by the same spirit, sealed in the same ministry, and working in the same vineyard under himself, well know how to sympathize with his difficulties, to share his labours, and to lift up his arms with mutual aid, as Aaron and Hur bore up the enfeebled, yet powerful, arms of Moses! One, working for him, has already earned for himself the title of "the Miner's friend." Another bids fair to be known as the Evangelist of the Chinaman. A third has left a noble reputation behind him in his sphere of work here, and promises to bring new honours in the Field of Faith to a name already ennobled in the annals of statesmanship and of
