INDEX TO THE MUNICIPAL LAW OF ONTARIO.

Second edition by ALLAN M. DYMOND, Law Clerk to the Legislative Assembly.

An index to the provisions contained in the Revised Statutes of Ontario (1887), and the annual volumes of Statutes for subsequent years, affecting Municipal Corporations, their Councils and Officers.

This work enables persons consulting it to find without loss of time, those provisions, scattered throughout several volumes, which affect municipal corporations, and includes the amendments made during the sessions of 1893 and 1894, with addition for 1895.

The original work has been carefully revised and corrected and changes made wherever they appeared necessary to make the book a useful guide to municipal officers and members of the legal profession having occasion to consult it.

DAY-BOOK, CASH-BOOK & LEDGER

COMBINED FOR

MUNICIPAL COUNCILS AND SCHOOLS,

BY
ARTHUR L. WILLSON, B.A.

After twelve years practical working of this system of Bookkeeping, no other method has been introduced by means of which Treasurers can so readily and correctly enter up their accounts. By using this system no special course of study or commercial training is required to enable an intelligent school boy to solve the mysteries of Municipal Book-keeping.

Cloth, $3.00; Half-calf, $3.75.

The Book contains from fifteen to twenty vertical dollars and cents columns, the first two, being devoted to total receipts and disbursements, respectively, from which a cash balance may be had at any time; the other (ledger) columns have written or printed headings (as required) specifically grouping and classifying in the several vertical columns the amounts appearing in the first and second columns, the total of the first column must correspond with the aggregate total of the several columns of receipts, and the total of the second column must in like manner correspond with the aggregate total of the disbursement column—thus each page proves itself, as stated by Auditors of the Township of York: "A new book has been prepared—combining all the books heretofore used whereby the receipts, disbursements and balances can be seen at a glance at the end of each page."

LAW OF THE CANADIAN CONSTITUTION.

BY
H. P. CLEMENT, B.A., LL.B.

Giving the origin of our constitution, the sources whence it came, and the relations existing at present between the Provinces themselves, the Provinces and the Dominion; and between the Province collectively and individually and the Mother Country.

After dealing with the prerogatives of the Crown and the Governor-General, the author gives us a knowledge of our position as a colony prepared to receive our Magna Charta. * * * This work is the first comprehensive and scientific one on the law of our constitution, and will be found valuable throughout the Dominion, both as a text book for students and a book of reference.

This work is divided into: Part I, Introductory; Part II, The Results of our Colonial Status; Part III, The Original Group; Part IV, Subsequent Growth.

Appendices comprising Colonial Laws Validity Act, Draft of Letters Patent, constituting the Office of Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada.

Draft of Instruction passed under the Royal Sign-Manual and Signet of the Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada.

Quebec Conference—Resolutions of 1864, 626 to 636, which with Tables of Cases cited, Index to Statutes, etc., make a work of 668 pages.

Cloth, $5.00; Half-calf, $5.50.
