LONDON LADY WEDS IN CALIFORNIA

Marriage of Miss Annie B. Wall to Ontario (Cal.) Barrister.

The Los Angeles Times of May 15 contained the following:

"At the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Wm. Pollock, No. 124 East Thirty-fifth street, an interesting wedding was solemnized at twilight yesterday, when Miss Annie B. Wall, trained nurse, of London, Canada, and J. R. Pollock, barrister, of Ontario, Cal., were united in marriage. The bride presented a pretty picture, dressed in a beautiful white silk gown, with baby Irish trimmings, and carrying a shower bouquet of bridal roses. For traveling she wore a jaunty brown suit, with hat, gloves and shoes to match.

"Immediately after the ceremony an elaborate dinner was served in the dining-room, which was gay with quantities of Cecilie Brummer roses, and showers of pink sweet peas. The drawing-room was massed with the same kind of roses, while in the library white roses, with a background of greenery, formed an attractive arrangement. Mrs. F. H. Wall, mother of the bride, was present, having recently arrived in the city from London, Canada.

"Upon a request of the bride that the party be not showered with rice, the friends instead threw great quantities of rose leaves into the happy company as they left for the depot in an automobile, with a bundle of old boots quaintly bringing up the rear.

"After an extended trip to several points Mr. and Mrs. Pollock will receive their friends at their home in the pretty little town of Ontario, Cal."

Miss Annie Wall, mentioned in the above, having always lived here, has many friends in London. After graduation as a nurse from Victoria Hospital three years ago, she left for the Canadian West, and later for California, where she is making her home.

Miss Wall was at one time actively engaged in the work of the South Baptist Church, where she rendered valuable assistance in the choir and Young People's Union.
