OBITUARY.

Dr. D. J. U. Wiley. Dr. David J. Wiley, a native of Fredericton, who practised at Fredericton for twenty seven years, and removed to Tillamook, Oregon, in 1889, where he won prominence and was mayor of the town for two years, died there October 21st of neuralgia of the heart, aged 82 years.

Mrs. George Hibbard. After a lengthy illness she passed away yesterday at the residence of her son-in-law, Prof. Mac M. Sterne, in Amherst, one of Cumberland's oldest residents in the person of Mrs. Hibbard, widow of George Hibbard of Minville. Deceased was a daughter of the late Ames Seaman who in his day, was one of the largest property holders in Cumberland county, and deeply interested in mining at Minville and River Herbert.

Capt. Richard J. Loudon. Captain Richard John Loudon died in New Orleans on Sunday. As a native of Nova Scotia he shipped here for the first time in 1840, when he was captain of a ship in the European trade at twenty-three. He left his service to take charge of a lighthouse and eighth lighthouse districts, and constructed several lighthouses, including that on the Lewis and Clark coast at Timbalier Island, from which he branched into journalism in New Orleans, where he was an editor and sketch writer. Going back to the sea, he commanded the steamer Sandusky for seven years until wrecked on the Florida coast, with a loss of several lives. He then entered the theatrical profession, wrote several plays, and built the Pensacola Opera House and the Avenue Theatre in New Orleans, which he managed until its destruction in 1890.

Daniel Bonnall. Daniel Bonnall, of Roschville, Studholm, Kings County, died yesterday morning, aged 82. He leaves a wife, four daughters and five sons. He was a member of the Free Baptist church and was the oldest farmer living in that locality. The funeral will be held Saturday morning.
