

Defeated In The West But Not Beaten In East

Warsaw, March 18.—Germany, although defeated in the west, is not yet beaten in the east and if her aims in that part of Europe are to be frustrated and there is to be peace, there must be a strong Poland, said Ignace Paderewski, the premier of Poland declared today.

"The importance to the peace of Europe of a strong and united Poland cannot be exaggerated," said the premier. "Germany made war not for honor and ideals, but for markets and raw material. The war has not been won. Germany is ready to acknowledge herself beaten in the west, but not in the east. "The same men who organized the present war count on re-organization of Russia in their own interests. If they do so, they will have an endless supply of labor and raw material.

"What stands in Germany's way is not France or England, which are so far off. Germany is at the gates of disorganized Russia and once let her combine with the Bolsheviks and re-organize Russia as she will have the leisure to do in peace time, she will dominate the world. A strong Poland alone can check this plan."

Federal Grant Of $20,000,000 For Good Roads

Ottawa, March 21.—Towards the close of a somewhat dull day in the house, Hon. J. D. Field moved the resolution providing for the payment within the next five years of $20,000,000 to the various provinces for the encouragement of the construction of good roads.

According to the terms of the resolution, each province will receive eighty thousand dollars every year, plus a further payment based upon populations as determined by the latest federal census of each province.

The payments shall be subject to the following conditions:

(A)—Any highway for which aid is granted shall be constructed or improved as the case may be, in accordance with the terms of an agreement to be made by the minister with the government of the province, which agreement shall contain such provisions as to cost, description, specifications or otherwise as the government-in-council may approve.

(B)—The aid to be given in any case shall be forty per cent. of the amount which in the opinion of the minister is the actual, necessary and reasonable cost of the construction or improvement of such highway, as the case may be.

Mr. Field in committee on the resolution entered into a detailed explanation of the various benefits which would result from the construction of good roads.

Some of the attacking party, who were about forty rifles in possession of the defending party. They had been handed out at 1.30 p. m., when the usual parade was held. They were handed out as a precaution, but at that time no ammunition had been supplied them. The major added that up to a certain stage instructions were that company and platoon commanders should organize and protect the record office. The adoption of a position was left to their discretion. The impression he got during the morning was that the men would be no respecters of the record office or canteen, but would break straight through. There was no reason why the men would want to go to the records. It was just wanton destruction.

Major MacLean said there were seventy or eighty arrests made. They were all in different military prisons and will ultimately be tried.

One of the killed soldiers, Private Dillon, belonging to the defence party, the major said. He could not say whether or not the other four were attackers or lookers.

Some of the attacking party received gun shot wounds, and the corner asked how it was that the defending party were in possession of ammunition, and when it was procured.

Major MacLean said his experience had been that most soldiers returning home from France have a few rounds in their kit as souvenirs, and when the men found how serious the situation was they used what they had on their persons.

The major said he believed two or three rifles were made against the attacking party, and prisoners were brought in. He was not there, however. The corner disallowed a question by a jurymen as to whether or not the first shot was fired by the attacking or defence party, on the ground that the

British Strike is Called Off

London, March 21.—The triple alliance — the railway men, miners and transport workers — at a conference to-night, reviewed the whole position of the mine, railway and transport workers and passed a resolution recommending that the railway men continue at work pending further negotiations with the government with a view to removing the deadlock. This action is interpreted to mean that there will be no strike before next Wednesday.

London, March 21.—One hundred and fifty delegates representing the miners of the United Kingdom, met this morning to discuss the interim report of the coal commission of which Justice Sir John Sankey is chairman, issued last night, and decide as to whether there would be a strike or peace in the mining industry. The conference met without any recommendation from the executive officers of the unions before them.

After reviewing the report of the coal commission, Robert Smilie, leader of the miners, said he deeply regretted the "foolish utterances" of Andrew Bonar Law, the government spokesman, in the house of commons yesterday, "in which he threatened the miners."

"If a strike ensued and the government beat the miners, they beat the government, the result would only show which side was the stronger," Mr. Smilie declared.

After a general discussion of the report the conference adjourned until four in the afternoon to enable the miners' executive to make its recommendations on the matters in question.

The adjournment of the conference was until 4 o'clock this afternoon. At that time, it was stated, Robert Smilie, the miners' leader would bring up a recommendation "on the pending question of the coal commission."

The conference, at the morning session, passed a resolution conveying to President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George, "Our appreciation and support in their endeavor to secure the establishment of a league of nations in order that the future peace of the world may be preserved."

At the afternoon session the executive committee advised the men to continue to work, pending negotiations with the government to secure some modifications of the Sankey report. The conference approved this procedure by an overwhelming majority. This is considered to mean an acceptance of the government's offer, subject to certain reservations.

The conference adjourned to meet again next Wednesday.

The Sankey report recommended seven hours of work underground for the miners instead of eight, from July 16 next, and six hours from July 13, 1932, subject to the economic condition of the industry, with an increase in wages of two shillings per shift for colliery workers under the sliding scale, and an advance of one shilling for workers under the fixed scale.

An effective vote in the direction of the mines for the colliery workers was recommended as was the substitution of nationalized coal for private coal, by national purchase or joint control, for the present system of ownership and system of working.
