

FUJI MICRO SAFETY ▲ N

The city, near Mr. Baird's, has been constructed and built with timber. Carried.

Mr. Dickson moved, seconded by Mr. Moffat, The Council having had under consideration the tenders received for the Bridge are of opinion they are all too high, and conclude, in the meantime, not to accept any tender, but to procure timber during the winter for said work from the Bay bridge.

Mr. Moffat moved, seconded by Mr. Dickson, That a contract be entered into with Charles Richardson, to furnish all the timber required for the Bridge across the Lake Indian River, $8th con. line. Carried.

Mr. McLean moved, seconded by Mr. Dickson, That the sum of twenty dollars be allocated to furnish stone for securing a foundation on Lookout Mountain, and that Mr. McLean see the same properly expended. Carried.

Mr. Moffat moved, seconded by Mr. Dickson, That Mr. McLean be allowed six dollars, for his trouble in superintending such work as he was doing in the Township. Carried.

Council adjourned.

DAVID CAMPBELL,
Town Clerk.

AMERICAN NEWS

-O-

Atlanta, Nov. 27.

The city is full of conflicting rumors about the battle of Chickamauga. We have many prisoners, estimated at 5,000 and 60,000, and dead and seriously wounded soldiers, and the casualties were enormous. In the attack on Lookout Mountain the enemy's loss was greater than ours. They drove us back by force of numbers. Skirmishing commenced on Saturday, and there was interfering on Sunday and Monday. The enemy retreated on Lookout Mountain, and we were strong, at the same time occupying the position of our right wing at the foot of Mission Ridge. The corps of General Breckinridge met the shock with unflinching courage and determination. In the p.m. the enemy increased in number and by repeated attacks succeeded in making considerable impression on our lines. At 4 o'clock in the p.m. the left of the centre gave way, the enemy pouring through this valley like a flood. Our troops seeing themselves cut off, fled confused and retreated in disorder. After dark the rebel line of army extended from the Ridge on Wednesday. We have six hundred prisoners. Washburn and Cobb Battery lost all their guns. Gen. Walther was wounded. Our wounded are arriving and being cared for. Gen. Bragg's headquarters are now at Ringold.

The Rebel line of army at Potomac, Nov. 30.—The two armies are divided by Mill Run Valley, crossing the Fredericksburg and Orange Plank Road, there two miles from the latter place. The enemy are strongly entrenched, and exhibit a determination to make a desperate resistance against the advance of our army. On both sides, in commanding positions, but they will probably be attacked to day or to-morrow. Nothing decisive has yet transpired.

Toronto, Dec. 1st.

Four or five of Morgan's fellow prisoners are reported to have arrived here to-night by the western train.

Cincinnati, Dec. 1.

The Commercial's Cumberland Gap correspondent telegraphs to-night that all available force has been sent from there to intercept Longstreet's retreat into Virginia. Says a courier from Knoxville brings intelligence of the capture of the rebel army on the river on Sunday, bringing on a general engagement, resulting in the defeat of the enemy, and the capture of Gen. Wheeler and division of 5,000 rebels.

Washington, Dec. 1.

Information is received from an armistice at the Potomac up to Monday noon. The train captured on the Plank Road on Friday is said to have contained a small quantity of ammunition, which the rebels exploded.

In relation to affairs in front on Saturday it is stated that, at Appleton, on the railroad crossing the Fredericksburg and Orange Turnpike at Robertson's tavern, on both sides of the road. Sloping a half mile on each side of the river, is an open space, and on the edge of the woods west of the River the enemy was in the midst of battle on both sides of the river. The Rebels had entrenched. The slope to the river is studded with rifled pits. About 1 p.m. the rain ceased but the roads were in an unpassable condition. Positions for battle were assigned to several corps and each was ready for action. It is stated that the number of men actually taken by the 2d corps on Friday had been exaggerated, only 60 have been reported. The medical director of our corps estimates our loss at 325 wounded and about 100 killed. The enemy retreated during the night, leaving their dead and wounded exposed. It is going to take some change of position it seems necessary for you to leave them there.

New York, Dec. 2nd.

The Tribune's correspondent furnishes the following account of Friday's battle—obedience to orders, the 3rd, followed by the 1st, Massachusettis, and the 2nd, followed by the Rapid at Jacobs Mills. The advance on no opposition except a shot or two from a few rebel vedettes stationed at the ford. On Thursday night they rested near Jones's House and yesterday morning continued the march to effect a junction with Gen. Warren's corps. Gen. Price's division of 20,000 men, after the advance had taken the head of the column reached a small clearing it was greeted with a volley from a line of rebel skirmishers. The first brigade of the 2nd division was thrown forward into line with the first Massachusetts as skirmishers advanced. The 1st Massachusettis advanced through a dense thicket fighting and pushing the rebels back to the vicinity of Mill Run, when the enemy strengthening his line, gradually forced upon our line. Skirmishing continued until 3 p.m., when the enemy, with shouts and yelling, made a dash for the advance of the 1st division. The fight which fell back, with some confusion, but soon rallied, and, with the aid of one section of Rhoadolph's 1st Island Battery and Battery K of the 4th U.S. which poured volleys of grape and canister into the advancing columns of the enemy, consisting of Johnson's and the 2nd divisions, the 1st division was twice gallantly repulsed the enemy, who were driven back in a perfect rout. The night closed at dark. The 3rd bivouacked on the field at the junction of the two roads first mentioned, six miles from Louisa Grove. When the rebels retreated they left behind all their dead, the ground between the 3rd and the 1st division, and a proportion of killed in the fight was very common and an inspection of the battle field leads to the conclusion that their casualties far exceeded ours. But one brigade of the 6th corps was engaged, that of General Renssell.

Fort Monroe, Dec. 1.

The Richmond Whig, of Nov. 28th, at 30th, contains the following:

Charleston, Nov. 27.

The Yankees kept up heavy mortar shelling on Sumpter last night, continuing this morning. Six shells were thrown in the direction of the fortification. The shelling of Sumpter, Mauldin, Johnson and Simpkins by the enemy from Groves and Wagner has been continuous;

[illegible]

Sixteen Parrot guns had been mounted on Johnson's Island, Lake Erie, in anticipation where each battery separated and took any wooden fleet that should attempt an entrance.

Died.

Drowned, while skating on the Mississauga river, on Sunday, the 5th instant, Robert N. second son of Matthew Anderson, 30 years of age; a fine singer, a good chant, Almonte, aged 12 years and 6 months, and a fine swimmer, and was deeply respected by friends, acquaintances and school mates.

A Year in Heaven.

One year amongst the angels, beloved, thou hast been
 One year has heaven's white portal shut to thee
 sound of sin;
 And yet, my angel, no whisper, comes floating down
 from thee
 To tell us what glad wonder, a year of Heaven would be.

Our hearts before it listen—the beautiful closed eyes
 The silence—thy presence around us; we listen and wait.
 It is thy heavenly birthday, on earth thy lilied bed
 And all thy little children, are, are playing round the room.

Thou lovest all things lovely, when waiting on us here;
 Now, from the heights of heaven, seems earth
 lonely dear
 We would not paint thee moving, in white-
 robe and star;
 Nor think that 'd, the' absent one, a cool and
 tant star

Heaven is by life made richer; therein can be lost;
 To meet our love and longing, thou hast no gu-crosses.

No admittance between us rears up thy rocky neck
 A veil before us only—thou in the light serene dost dwell.

That veil 'twixt earth and heaven a breath more would save
 When thou the ocean, beloved, we follow on our Passes into open vision, out of our mist and rain
 Thou seest how sorrow blossoms: how peace grows from pain.

So when the sky seems bluer, and when the life
 wears,
 Some tender mystic chiding we never knew
 there,
 We'll say, we see things, partly by light of
 eyes;
 She bends where we are gazing, to-day, from the stars.

Because we know thee near us, and nearer still,
 Him
 Who fills by cup of blessing, with glory to the brim
 We will not stain with grieving our heart, and
 But to sing to thee in spirit, as thou wert in sight.

And as in waves of beauty the swift years
 and go
 Upon celestial currents our dearer life shall float
 And all our heart's sweet corners, where bright inner came Love's chime the hours eternal, in earth and heaven
 the same.

Little Things.

Hearts good and true have wishes few
 In narrow circles bounded;
 Any day, to think on what God gives
 Is Christian hope well founded.
 Small things are best; grief and unrest
 To rank and wealth are given,
 But little things, on little wings,
 Bear humble souls to heaven!

Two Maps Found.

FOUND ONE DAY LAST WEEK Two beautifully executed Maps of the United Counties of Lanark & Renfrew, lined with cloth, mounted on rollers, varnished and finished in the best of style. The Maps were picked up out of the trash at the great, cleaned and taken care of, may be known by the owners from the following description.—The public have in these Counties, are carefully represented not merely in their general direction bearing, but with a most positive accuracy, showing their course, relative to lot, line, stream, &c. The exact location of dwellings is shown, telling the stranger in a glance, how the country is settled, and who the owners of settled farms are, as well as every farmer's name is engraved on lot. It shows also the location of schools, churches, mills, and business places, names and location of Post Offices and prominent corners. The location of ponds, lakes, streams, &c. Upon the margin of the maps are to be found beautifully drawn plans of the several towns and villages, on a large scale than the body of the Map, giving a definite idea of the relative size of each place, and the places with which it is connected. It shows, in neatly engraved type, some of the more important particulars of the history and progress of the County. A splendid engraving of the Parliament Building, at Ottawa, although outside of the Counties, is nevertheless of general interest to the public at large. Those who are requested to call at the Office, prove property, pay expenses of verifying and receive their maps, otherwise they will be sold for the costs.
