

inserted in a casing, and shirrings at the shoulder edges draw the edges apart in V shape above the bust over a fitted, high-necked body-lining that is closed in front. A kerchief of illusion is softly draped about the neck and over the exposed part of the lining and the neck may be finished with or without a standing collar. A deep, round collar gives a dressy touch; it lies flat and is rounded to points at the ends, which meet at the bust, and milliner's folds of the material define its outer edge. The bishop sleeves are gathered at the top and deeply shirred nearly all the way round at the bottom, and their coat-shaped linings are finished below the sleeves to have the effect of cuffs. A belt finished in a point at the overlapping end encircles the waist. The gown measures four yards and a fourth at the lower edge in the medium sizes.

Soft, clinging textiles, such as cashmere, camel's hair or China or India silk, will be the best selections for a dress like this, and ruchings of lace or silk will provide the daintiest trimming.

We have pattern No. 8577 in thirteen sizes for ladies from thirty to forty-eight inches, bust measure. For a lady of medium size, the gown requires fourteen yards and three-eighths of material twenty-two inches wide, or ten yards and five-eighths thirty inches wide, or nine yards and a half thirty-six inches wide, or seven yards and three-fourths forty-four inches wide, or six yards and a half fifty inches wide, with a yard and an eighth of dotted illusion thirty-six inches wide for the kerchief. Price of pattern, 1s. 6d. or 35 cents.

LADIES' PRINCESS HOUSE-DRESS OR WRAPPER. (TO BE MADE WITH A ROLLING OR STANDING COLLAR AND WITH A SLIGHT TRAIN OR IN ROUND LENGTH.)

No. 8583.—This practical and graceful house-dress or wrapper is very generally becoming; it is pictured made of figured crêpon. It is adjusted to show the lines of the figure to the best advantage by double bust darts, single under-arm darts, side-back gores and a curving center seam, the shaping of the backs and gores below the waist producing flute-like folds that spread in graceful fashion. The dress may be made with a slight train or in round length, as shown in the engravings. With a train, it measures about four yards and an eighth and in the round length nearly four yards round at the bottom in the medium sizes. The closing is made all the way down the center of the front with button-holes and buttons. The one-seam leg-o'-mutton sleeves are gathered at the top and arranged over coat-shaped linings; they fit the arm closely below the elbow and flare above. The neck may be finished with a standing collar or a rolling collar, as preferred, both styles being illustrated.

Plain and fancy woollen goods, cashmere, alpaca and some washable fabrics will make up pleasingly in this manner.
