

blushing and trembling. He looked at the closed door for an instant, and then dropped to his knees and kissed the step on which she had stood.