Poultry raising pays.

People who tell you that there is no money in raising chicks may have tried to make money in the business by using setting hens as hatchers, and they might as well have tried to locate a gold mine in the cabbage patch. The business of a hen is—to lay eggs. As a hatcher and brooder she is out-classed. That's the business of the Chatham Incubator and Brooder, and they do it perfectly and successfully.

The poultry business, properly conducted, pays far better than any other business for the amount of time and money invested.

Thousands of poultry-raisers—men and women all over Canada and the United States—have proved to their satisfaction that it is profitable to raise chicks with the

CHATHAM INCUBATOR AND BROODER.

"Yours is the first incubator I have used, and I wish to state I had 52 chicks out of 52 eggs. This was my first lot; truly a 100 per cent. hatch. I am well pleased with my incubator and brooder. THOS. McNAUGHTON, Chilliwack, B.C."

"My first hatch came off. I got 170 fine chicks from 190 eggs. Who can beat that for the first trial, and so early in the spring. I am well pleased with incubator, and if I could not get another money could not buy it from me. Every farmer should have a No. 3 Chatham Incubator.—F. W. RAMSAY, Dunnville, Ont."

"The incubator you furnished me works exceedingly well. It is easily operated, and only needs about 10 minutes attention every day.—R. MCGUFFIK, MOOSE JAW, Assa."

The Chatham Incubator and Brooder is honestly constructed. There is no humbug about it. Every inch of material is thoroughly tested, the machine is built on right principles, the insulation is perfect, thermometer reliable, and the workmanship the best.

The Chatham Incubator and Brooder is simple as well as scientific in construction—a woman or girl can operate the machine in their leisure moments.

NOTES FROM LETTERS FROM JAPAN.

A missionary aunt in Japan writes to her little niece at home on some long strips of paper, on which fishes are swimming about under the blue water, with bits of green seed floating here and there. She asks:

Don't you think this is funny paper to be writing letters on? Everything in Japan is rather funny though. You would love to see some of the little babies in their grand pink and blue and gold patchwork-looking kimonos. They ride pick-a-back all the time, but they do cry a lot, even though some people say the babies here never cry. As soon as they are old enough to walk they put on funny wooden shoes that lift them up out of the dirt. They really must be very nice, for they don't have any sidewalks here, and it is very hard on your shoes, especially when it is muddy. Then, when they come to the door of the house, they just slide their feet out of the shoes, and go in either in their stocking feet or with soft slippers without heels.

Did you have a Christmas-tree this year? The children in Kawagoe never saw a Christmas-tree, and so we had one in our parlor, and invited lots of little poor children to see it, and played games with them, and gave them each a bag of candy and an orange. Then we invited the Sunday School children, and gave them each a present and a bag of candy and one of those crackers that you pull and snap and find a cap inside. They had never seen those either, and thought they were very wonderful.

A little while ago there was a big lantern procession here. Hundreds of men marched around with lighted lanterns on the ends of sticks over their shoulders, and some of them carried a whole bamboo-tree with lots of lanterns hanging on the branches.

What do you think! The children in Japan don't like ice cream, and I'm sure I don't know what to give them to eat at parties. A party without ice cream seems very funny, but then the Japanese never have parties for children, so they don't give them anything.

Here in the room with me now is a little puppy, about eight inches long. She is white, with a black face, and some black spots on her body. She is asleep in her box, with a warm red blanket over her. She came up here on the train last night in a basket, and our cook (who is a Japanese man) went to the train and brought her home inside his kimono

THIS WILL INTEREST MANY.

F. W. Parkhurst, the Boston publisher, says that if any one afflicted with rheumatism in any form, or neuralgia, will send their address to him at 804-45 Carney Building, Boston, Mass., he will direct them to a perfect cure. He has nothing to sell or give; only tells you how he was cured after years of search for relief. Hundreds have tested it with success.

WHAT SULPHUR DOES

For the Human Body in Health and Disease.

The mention of sulphur will recall to many of us the early days when our mothers and grandmothers gave us our daily dose of sulphur and molasses every spring and fall.

It was the universal spring and fall "blood purifier," tonic and cure-all, and, mind you, this old-fashioned remedy was not without merit.

The idea was good, but the remedy was crude and unpalatable and a large quantity had to be taken to get any effect.

Nowadays we get all the beneficial effects of sulphur in a palatable, concentrated form, so that a single grain is far more effective than a table-spoonful of the crude sulphur.

In recent years, research and experiment have proven that the best sulphur for medicinal use is that obtained from Calcium (Calcium Sulphide) and sold in drug stores under the name of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They are small chocolate coated pellets and contain the active medicinal principle of sulphur in a highly concentrated, effective form.

Few people are aware of the value of this form of sulphur in restoring and maintaining bodily vigour and health; sulphur acts directly on the liver, and excretory organs, and purifies and enriches the blood by the prompt elimination of waste material.

Our grandmothers knew this when they dosed us with sulphur and molasses every spring and fall, but the crudity and impurity of ordinary flowers of sulphur were often worse than the disease, and cannot compare with the modern concentrated preparations of sulphur, of which Stuart's Calcium Wafers is undoubtedly the best and most widely used.

They are the natural antidote for liver and kidney troubles, and cure constipation and purify the blood in a way that often surprises patient and physician alike.

Dr. R. M. Wilkins while experimenting with sulphur remedies, soon found that the sulphur from Calcium was superior to any other form. He says: "For liver, kidney and blood troubles, especially when resulting from constipation or malaria, I have been surprised at the results obtained from Stuart's Calcium Wafers. In patients suffering from boils and pimples, and even deep-seated carbuncles, I have repeatedly seen them dry up and disappear in four or five days, leaving the skin clear and smooth. Although Stuart's Calcium Wafers is a proprietary article, and sold by druggists, and for that reason tabooed by many physicians, yet I know of nothing so safe and reliable for constipation, liver and kidney troubles, and especially in all forms of skin-disease, as this remedy."

At any rate people who are tired of pills, cathartics, and so-called blood "purifiers," will find in Stuart's Calcium Wafers a far safer, more palatable and effective preparation.
