"How did you know I was here?" asked the pretty girl.

"I heard you singing," replied the gallant young man.

"Hear me singing?"

"Yes, and I don't think I ever heard such a beautiful voice."

"Gracious!"

The song was so sweet and sentimental.

"But that was not a song."

"Not a song?"

"No, it was our college yell."

GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF SEA FIGHT

Japanese Outclassed Russians in Gunnery and Manoeuvring.

London, June 1.—In describing the naval battle, a correspondent of the Daily Telegraph with the Japanese fleet says: "An infernal concentration of fire reached its zenith at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. As the Russians advanced in the direction of Vladivostok, a Japanese squadron was lying between them and their destination, and the doomed Russians were battered on all sides. Between three and five o'clock in the afternoon, a cruiser of the Admiral Nakhimoff class and the repair ship Kantschatska foundered after their works had been shattered. The Russians broke in utter disorder, lost their formation and went zig-zag. The Japanese closed in and pressed them towards the Nagato coast."

The fight the correspondent says lasted until 7 o'clock in the evening. The correspondent continues: "Togo risked nothing and lost nothing. Darkness brought a glorious night, with smooth and transparent seas. The Russians were edging northward, with the powerful Japanese fleet in a horizontal line across their bows, forming an effective barrier. Then, under searchlights and the cover of the big guns of the warships, the Japanese torpedo flotilla began, like locusts, to sting and sink the enemy, the Russians, continuing to return the gun fire. At two o'clock in the morning, the fighting was fierce and intense, and no rest was allowed the Russians. With dawn of Sunday, the Japanese fleet came into still closer range. All day long the battle continued, and by evening was raging off northern Nagato. The Russians were powerless to offer any effective resistance.

Tokio, June 1, 7 p. m.—The navy department made the following announcement today: "Later reports from the different divisions of the fleet engaged in the naval battle of May 27 show as follows: The Russian battleship Orel was heavily damaged in the early part of the fight on Saturday, going down at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The first Russian vessel sunk was the battleship Sissoi Veliky. The armored cruiser Admiral Nakhimoff and Vladimir Monomach, after being in the general engagement during the daytime, were still further damaged by torpedoes during attacks by night and were eventually completely disabled. They drifted into the vicinity of Tsushima, where they were discovered on Sunday morning, May 28, but the auxiliary cruisers Shilano, Yawata, Tainan and Sada, which were about to capture them, but they all sank.

The crews of our auxiliary cruisers rescued 915 of the crews of the sunken Russian ships. The battleship Navarin was torpedoed four times after sundown on Saturday, May 27, and sank. The survivors of the Navarin's crew confirm the story of her destruction.

The cruisers Nilitaka and Otawa discovered the Russian cruiser Svetlana at nine o'clock on Sunday morning in the vicinity of Chappan Bay, and immediately attacked and sank her. The commander of the Nilitaka reported the fact.

It is suspected that the Russian cruiser Almaz and Aurora were sunk by torpedoes on the night of May 27. The former report includes the statement that the Russian cruiser Jemtechug was sunk, but it remains unconfirmed, and the cruiser's name has been excluded from the revised list of the Russian vessels destroyed.

Judging from this and former reports, the enemy's main strength, consisting of eight battleships, armored cruisers and three coast defence ships are destroyed or captured. With the second class cruisers and other vessels destroyed, the enemy's fighting power is annihilated.

Later reports show that during the night of May 27, our torpedo boats, numbered thirty-four, thirty-five and sixty-five were sunk by the enemy. Comrades rescued the majority of their crews. Besides the above there was no damage worth reporting. No warship nor destroyer suffered any loss of fighting or navigating power.

We anticipated a heavy loss of life, but find that our casualties were comparatively slight. They do not exceed eight hundred killed and wounded.

The casualty reports will be rendered as speedily as possible. Nearly the whole strength of both combatants met in battle, and the area of the fighting was very wide.

The first day proved foggy, and even without the smoke and fumes resulting from the battle, it was impossible to see five miles. Consequently during the day it was impossible to locate or observe all the ships under my command. Moreover, the fighting having lasted two days, and the ships being scattered for the purpose of chasing and attacking the enemy, some having received orders after the battle, it is impossible to collect and present any detailed report covering the whole battle at this time.

THE STAND FOR PEACE.

Washington, June 1.—Russia will know officially how ready this government is to assist her in commencing peace negotiations with Japan at the earliest possible moment if Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, carries out his intention of seeing the president tomorrow. For two days the ambassador has planned calling at the White House and would have asked for an appointment this afternoon but for the fact that the president was engaged in opening the Lewis and Clark exposition. The ambassador said tonight that he hoped to make an appointment tomorrow.

The whole situation was thoroughly discussed in an informal way by Count Cassini with his friend, the German ambassador, who dined at the Russian embassy tonight after having had a conference with the president early in the day. Indicative of the importance of the two conferences of the German ambassador was the statement of the Russian ambassador late tonight that he hoped to see the president within the next 24 hours.

Meanwhile it can be stated on the best authority that the Washington government is bidding its time, believing that Russia must be given time fully to realize the crushing character of her defeat.

Tokio, June 2, 1:30 p. m.—The reported sinking of the Russian cruiser Jemtechug in the recent naval battle has been confirmed.

New York, June 2.—A St. Petersburg despatch to the Times, from its correspondent there says: Details communicated to me from a trustworthy source leave little room for doubt that Admiral Nebogoff's sailors mutinied during the battle in the Japan Sea and either threw the admiral and many officers overboard, or, according to another version, bound them in their cabins and hoisted the white flag. I am assured that eight men in Nebogoff's squadron were ironed for mutiny while still in the Red Sea. Many people well versed in the affairs at the front declare that something similar is likely to happen in Manchuria when the armies learn the truth in regard to the naval disaster. They will doubtless learn the truth as usual from the Japanese.

You Owe it to Your Mother

To do your best to keep her youthful in appearance, as well as in spirit, by taking pains with her dress and the little accessories and details of her toilet.

Not to shock or pain her by making fun of her religious prejudices if they happen to be at variance with yours, or if they seem narrow to your advanced views.

To introduce all your young friends to her and to enlist her sympathies in youthful projects, hopes and plans so that she may carry her own youth into old age.

To talk to her about your work, your studies, your friends, your amusements, the books you read, the places you visit, for everything that concerns you is of interest to her.

If she is no longer able to take her accustomed part in the household duties, not to let her feel that she is superannuated or has lost any of her importance as the central factor of the family.

To remember that her life is monotonous compared with yours and to take her to some suitable place of amusement, or for a little trip to the country, or to the city, if your home is in the country as frequently as possible.

The girl who endeavours to pay back what she owes her mother is the one who will be most sought after by the people who are worth while, and be apt to make the most successful life.

"But my dear sir," protested the banker, "I don't see how you can spare the time to go to the baseball game. You don't know what is going on in your office while you are away."

"Oh, yes, I do," chuckled the old broker with the grandstand ticket. "The office boy is smoking cigarettes and the book-keeper is making love to the typewriter."

INTERESTING LETTER

WRITTEN BY A NOTABLE WOMAN
Mrs. Sarah Kellogg of Denver, Color. Bearer of the Woman's Relief Corps, Sends Thanks to Mrs. Pinkham.

The following letter was written by Mrs. Kellogg, of 1028 Lincoln Ave., Denver, Colo., to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.: Dear Mrs. Pinkham: "For five years I was troubled with a tumor, which kept growing, causing me intense agony and great mental depression. I was unable to attend to my house work and life became a burden to me. I was confined for days to my bed, lost my appetite, my courage and all hope. I could not bear to think of an operation, and in my distress I tried every remedy which I thought would be of any use to me, and reading of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to sick women decided to give it a trial. I felt so discouraged that I had little hope of recovery, but to my great surprise I found that I kept gaining, while the tumor lessened in size."

"The Compound continued to build up my general health and the tumor seemed to be absorbed, until, in seven months, the tumor was entirely gone and I a well woman. I am so thankful for my recovery that I ask you to publish my letter in newspapers, so other women may know of the wonderful curative powers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

When women are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such trouble.

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unequalled endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine. Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Health is too valuable to risk in experiments with unknown and untried medicines or methods of treatment. Remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.
