Harbor Grace Notes

An aged and respected citizen of this town passed away at his home on Harvey Street, Thursday morning last, in the person of Mr. Augustus Pynn. He had been in poor health for some time, but had reached the good old age of eighty-three years.

The late Mr. Pynn was a joiner, cabinet-maker and wheel-wright by trade, displaying his talent by making many fine and intricate pieces. His leaves to mourn his passing his wife, formerly Miss Jane Alcock of this town; six sons, Messrs. Selby of St. George's, John of Petty Harbor, George W. of Gambo, Albert of St. John's and Henry and Norman of this town; two daughters, Mrs. Alice Moore, of Sydney, and Mrs. Arch Yetman of this town; one sister, Miss Lilly Pynn, also residing here, and thirty-six grandchildren. The funeral was held on Saturday, when all that was mortal was laid to rest in the Church of England Cemetery to await the Resurrection Morn. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved.

St. Paul's Women's Association and St. Catherine's Girls' Guild held their annual sale of work in St. Paul's Hall on Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week, and it proved a decided success. The various stalls were nicely decorated. Plain and fancy work was on sale, also candy and vegetables, each stall being well patronized while the centre of attraction was the refreshment table where the ladies were kept quite busy. The very fine sum of $396.00 was realized the first night, and on Thursday $105.00, making a most encouraging amount to the workers, as a result of their efforts.

The Ladies Aid and Girls' Guild of the United Church are holding their sale of work on Wednesday and Thursday nights of the following week, at Coughlan Hall, and we trust the ladies will meet with a good measure of success.

Mr. Robert Lee, Manager of the "Movie" here is now opening up a picture house at Bay Roberts, and will conduct two shows a week there, Tuesdays and Thursdays. The line of pictures shown at the British Hall here attract all movie fans, and we wish Mr. Lee abundant success at Bay Roberts.

Capt. Campbell, of the Salvation Army here, is leaving on Tuesday next en route to the United States, where he will remain for six months on furlough. He recently underwent an operation for throat trouble at St. John's, and is unable to carry on the Army work in his present state of health. Since coming to town, Capt. Campbell has made many friends who will wish him a speedy recovery to good health again, and a pleasant sojourn while absent.

Rev. Mr. Pickering, of the United Church, is visiting Bell Island during this week-end, to attend a missionary meeting which is being held there. Rev. Mr. Harris, the former pastor of the United Church here and now residing at Carbonear, will fill the vacancy at the Church here, during the morning and evening services on Sunday. The congregation will be glad to welcome him back again in their midst.

Sergt. A. Dwyer, who has been on fishery protection service on Labrador during the summer, returned home recently.

Mr. Jack Casey left here on Thursday last for Corner Brook, where he has accepted a position.

Mr. John Butt, Collector of Customs at Blanc Sablon during the summer months, returned home again recently.

Rev. Fr. Casey arrived in town last week from Fortune Harbor, on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Casey.

S. S. Meikle from North arrived on Wednesday afternoon, and after discharging a quantity of freight, continued on her trip, which we understand is her last for the season on this route.

The friends of Mr. Willis Stevenson, who has been seriously ill for several days past, will be pleased to know that his condition has shown signs of improvement, and we hope that he will soon be able to get around again.

Mrs. George Davey and Miss Irene Willis, of St. John's were in town last week on a visit to Miss Bertha Willis, "Lawthorpe Cottage." They returned to the city again by Wednesday afternoon's train.

Beebe's New Book Falling Leaves

There are many adventures, stirring deeds and other things that thrill in Mr. William Beebe's book, Jungle Days (Putnam's, 10s. 6d. net), but his chapter on "Falling Leaves," though told of the jungle, is so true of our own woods, forests and countryside just now that we cannot refrain from giving some of the paragraphs from this prose poem of Nature at this time of the year.

"The living leaf—both singly and in foliage mass—has been epitaphed, eulogised, sung, praised and smiled for centuries, but except for occasional references to the 'sere and yellow leaf,' dying, falling and dead leaves have been left where they lie, with only the incense of their funeral pyres woven into the haze of Indian Summer," states Mr. Beebe. Later in the chapter he writes:—

"Now and then, near my feet, a leaf draws its edges together, turns a little and rustles gently all by itself as if even in death it dreamed of some unpleasant trifle, something which would please a green leaf, in sunlight, swaying high in air. Then, like a crumpled bit of paper in a wastebasket, it settles lower among its fallen fellows. Here it will wait patiently for the impact of the heavy rains, three or four months hence, to soften its stiff, crinkling tissues, and remould it into incinerations of other leaves to come.

"Fallen leaves have a wind song all their own which is to be heard only when listened for consciously. When a fitful breeze is blowing, if the ear is held close to the ground, a low intermittent clatter and shuffling is audible, with occasionally a real 'rustle' as a delicately balanced leaf is blown over. Stand up and the carpet of dead leaves becomes silent, their gentle fall lost in the hubbub of living, moving foliage.

"In these jungles a falling leaf has a whole scale of sounds, as it runs the descending gamut of collisions.

The Pleasure is Mutual!

From the top of a tall tree a leaf may take fifteen or twenty seconds to reach the earth, disregarding the very good chance of lodgement, and each touch of vine, leaves—living and dead—the caroming off of branches and ripping through thorns, gives forth a different sound, of which our poor ears can distinguish very few, and which our language, spoken and written, is wholly helpless in reproducing.

"I would like very much to find a word or sound which would bring to mind the fall of a leaf upon leaves.

"I know it perfectly—the generic timbre—the composite echo etched in to my mind by a thousand conscious listenings. But it will not get past my consciousness to my lips, and utterly refuses to siphon down my arm and pen . . .

"A classic volume will some day be written on the adventures of fallen leaves, for when a leaf has evaded the inroads of insects and fungi, has resisted wind and rain, succumbing finally to the pull of gravitation, there awaits it, in addition to ultimate mould and desiccation, a host of possible adventures on the jungle floor."

Queen's College Concert will prove a real treat for lovers of good music and singing, while those who enjoy wit and humour will laugh as they have never laughed before.—nov21.5f

Our Dumb Animals

REPORT FROM CHIEF AGENT WEEK ENDING NOV. 21ST.

Attended to the landing of twenty-eight head of cattle from S.S. Ceuta. The cattle were very much bruised. Dr. Bishop was called to see a cow which was sick. Nothing could be done to save the cow, but the calf was saved. I called Mr. Cornick's attention to the condition and accommodation for cattle, which could be a lot better with very little expense. He promised to have it attended to. Humanely put to death a dog for Mr. J. Moore, Brien Street that had been run over by a horse and carriage. Found a pony on LeMarchant Road which, to my mind is very old and past its labour. It had strayed away and had been out all night. I found the owner who says it went away late in the evening and he couldn't find it. The pony will have to be destroyed. I have received several complaints from expressmen about delivering parcels late at night. Horses are yoked at 9.30 in the morning and are in the harness until 12 o'clock on Saturday nights. Some times, when people are not at home to receive their parcels, expressmen have to call twice. I think for the sake of man and beast things could be better and skidding be done earlier. I think there should be a law preventing clipping of cattle in a country like this and with such weather conditions. I have been informed that some ladies have refused to hire sleighs when the owners have their horses clipped. Attended to the discharging of fifty head of cattle, several horses, sheep, pigs and poultry from the Canadian Sapper. The steamer had rough weather and lost two or three head of cattle. The horses were exposed to much hardship, but came through alright. They were immediately taken away and the cattle were sold the same afternoon. Some registered cows were landed in boxes for Mr. A. V. Ross. All cows in this condition in the future will be landed in this way. Received reports of cattle being out at night under the bad weather. I received forty-two calls, all of which have been attended to. Quite a number of unlicensed dogs have been put to death. Also received complaints about dogs on the South Side attacking people. I will be attending to this. Cabmen are requested to keep their horses covered as much as they possibly can. An improvement is noticeable in truckmen giving their horses a spell going up hills instead of riding on their loads. I hope those who are in the habit of riding will do likewise. Four horses have been sent off the street for treatment.
