adhered to closely. Two stirring addresses were given on the subject from different standpoints. The first was by Dr. Goodspeed, on "What do for the current year to the income of the Scriptures teach respecting the the preceding year. condition of the heathen?" He dealt with the question in his usual logical and exhaustive manner. Starting with the hypothesis that Christ endured the cross of sin for all men, because all were under sin, he said Jew and Gentile alike were under the condemnation and power of sin, and would suffer the penalty unless saved. "The inference," said he, "is that the heathen are condemned, lost eternally suspending a resolution unless saved by the Gospel." But it was not merely a matter of inferences. The Apostle Paul held this opinion with the fullest conviction, and he himself had drawn the condition of the heathen in these gloomy colors in Romans i. They cannot be saved from this condemnation and penalty without the Gospel. It is sometimes suggested that if they are saved it must be in the next life; but there is no probation between death and the judgment. The decisions of the judgment and the amendment were laid on the table by a motion to adjourn, which carried by a small majority.

The speaker made a great many references to passages of Scripture in support of his argument. In conclusion he strongly emphasized the bearing of his solemn view upon the foreign mission work. Rev. W. H. Cline, B.A., B.D., of Paris, followed with an address on the subject of "What do the Scriptures teach respecting the obligations of Christians to the unevangelized world?" He said the obligation was not a supererogation, but a necessity. The great business of the world at the present time is to evangelize. Our obligation is founded upon our opportunity, our ability, our relation to the world, and on the direct command of our Lord. He held that the first duty was to cultivate an active sympathetic interest in the unevangelized. People here took little interest in the people of foreign lands. If a plague breaks out and there is any danger of it coming to these shores we are interest-ed. When the famine raged in India the question that stirred the minds of many was "How will it affect the price of wheat?" Instead of this selishness he would have people "look" and become acquainted with the con-dition of the unevangelized until their Shippers are paying from 3½c to a little over 4c per lb for good large sheep; lambs sell in lots at from $2 to $3 each; choice ones bring up to $4 each.

and allow the board to raise the mone as they saw fit. Dr. Goodspeed defended the resoluion, explaining that it had emanated from the largest contributors, after the board had made a special effort to wipe off a $10,000 deficit. the preceding year.
An amendment by Dr. Goodspeed, amounting to a suspension of the 1895 clause, provided for authority to the foreign mission board to make an appropriation for this special purpose. While the opinion was unanimous that if possible the missionaries should be sent out again, a number of the more conservative delegates were strongly opposed to rescinding under such peculiar circumstances, amounting as it did to a guarantee that expenses would be kept within the income that might reasonably be expected.

FRIDAY MORNING. Grand Ligne Mision, Quebec, was under consideration of the convention this morning. Mr. A. A. Ayer, of Montreal, president of the mission, was expected to be present, but was obliged to go to Ottawa. However, two of the advisory board, Revs. W. T. Graham and A. L. Therrien, both of Montreal, were on hand, and spoke enthusiasti-cally of the work of the Baptist de-nomination in Quebec. Mr. Graham said Quebec had given to Canada a Premier and seven members of the Dominion Government. "If we were not careful they would run the country," he added, with a smile, and a voice said, "You can run it."
