

KENTS WILL TOUR WHOLE COUNTY FOR ALL OF NEXT WEEK

186th Battalion Plans for Extended Manoeuvre.

TO ERECT ITS OWN CAMP Will Visit Several Villages and Hopes to Get Recruits.

One of the most pretentious military manoeuvres planned by overseas battalions of this military district will be carried through next week by the Kents (186th Battalion) on the return of that unit from Camp Borden. For a whole week the Kents will tour Kent County, and will afford the residents of that municipality an opportunity of seeing their own boys in action.

The 186th is slated to leave Camp Borden on Sunday morning, and will detain at Bothwell some time the same afternoon. Under present arrangements this will be about 2 o'clock. The unit will immediately erect its own camp, and will go under canvas for the night.

Monday the battalion marches to Thamesville, where it will spend the night. On Tuesday Ridgeway will be reached. On Wednesday the Kents will march to the village of Merlon. On Friday, Tilbury is the slated bivouac, and on Saturday the 186th marches into Chatham, where it will have its winter quarters.

A 75-Mile Hike. The county-wide route march will mean a distance of 75 miles to be traversed by the Kents. It is their present state of efficiency that will be tested. Full equipment is being carried by the battalion, which is to sleep each night in canvas tents. The mere erection of that camp will be a military feat that bids fair to excite unusual interest in a country.

Not only does the unit intend to make all its camping arrangements, but it will feed itself. The food will be issued from London, and the company cooks, with their equipment of field kitchens and so on, will provide all meals.

A regimental train of 25 horses, a motor ambulance, a big S. C. motor lorry, and six A. S. C. transport wagons will be taken on the march. It is the intention of the officers to leave as early as possible in the morning, after the night's bivouac, in order that the next stopping place may be reached early in the day. This will allow the men freedom during the afternoon.

Sports Feature. Military sports will be a feature of these afternoon sessions. Football, ball and baseball games between the military teams and those from the towns visited will be given. There will also be evening concerts if possible, but in any event the battalion band will put on musical programmes that should prove attractive. The band came second in the Camp Borden musical contest.

The object of the trip is a dual, and in fact a triple one. First, it is for training purposes, to give the boys an idea of service conditions; second, it is to show the people of the home county what the boys are doing, and to have evening concerts if possible, but in any event the battalion band will put on musical programmes that should prove attractive. The band came second in the Camp Borden musical contest.

It is expected that the presence of the soldiers will be a stimulus to recruiting. The 186th is returning to London on Friday morning for the A. S. C. equipment and other articles of the trip, and will afterwards be in the details in the different towns to be visited.

"SPANKING" PRINCIPALS' TRANSFERS ARRANGED Spanked Bugler Boy Goes to 153rd, Spanker to Signalers.

Pte. Renton, late of the 142nd Battalion, and one of the principals of the "spanking" episode, as a result of which Lieut.-Col. Graham was temporarily suspended from the command of his unit, has been attached to the Divisional Signalers. Pte. Belanger, the youth who was spanked, has been transferred to the 153rd Battalion.

Instructions were received from authorities at Camp Borden to have the transfers put through to the 153rd. The incident, which aroused considerable feeling, occurred on Thursday, October 21, at Camp Borden. Pte. Belanger, who had been up before his company commander, Lieut.-Col. Graham on several occasions for minor offenses, was reported for insubordination.

Lieut.-Col. Graham, despairing, he believed, of any improvement in his conduct, ordered him to be "spanked." The order was carried out by Pte. Renton, acting on explicit orders from Lieut.-Major Collier.

The matter got to the ears of the camp commandant, who asked for the resignation of Lieut.-Col. Graham. Renton and Belanger were shipped to London, and Renton was informed that he had been discharged. Major E. M. McLean forwarded instructions to local headquarters to discharge Renton, but he was asked to supply higher authority.

Both men were attached to the Special Service Company temporarily, and have been awaiting instructions from Camp Borden. Lieut.-Col. Graham went to Ottawa, where a result was indicated in command of the 142nd.

Instructions definitely place both Renton and Belanger.

CAPTAIN HAGERMAN RETURNS TO LONDON Capt. Hagerman, late of the 24th Battalion, who has been engaged in recruiting in the western part of the province during the last few weeks, has returned to the city from Windsor. He expects to be attached to some overseas battalion in a short time.

The captain states that recruiting has been fair and is improving. The 242nd is expected to leave soon for the front.

Kents Are Coming

Through an error, it was stated in a heading in this morning's Advertiser that headquarters at Camp Borden had refused to allow the Kent Battalion to come to Bothwell as planned. This should have referred to the 168th (Oxford) Battalion, members of which were to be sent to their homes before going overseas.

The 186th is scheduled to arrive at Bothwell on Sunday afternoon. Lieut.-Col. Neil Smith, commanding officer of the 186th, wires from Camp Borden as follows:

"186th (Kent) Battalion will leave Camp Borden on Sunday at 7:30 a.m. for Bothwell, and complete proposed route march. Your report erroneous."
"LIEUT.-COL. NEIL SMITH, O. C. 186th Battalion."

HOME ON FURLOUGH, HE RE-ECHOES PLEA FOR MORE RECRUITS

Popular 18th Non-Com. Declares Need Is For Men.

GERMANS AIM TO WOUND Figure Wounded Allied Soldier Better For Their Cause Than Dead One.

Company Sergeant-Major Ed. Walker, 18th Battalion, one of the prominent London non-coms, who went overseas with Lieut.-Col. W. W. Wagle of the 18th, has returned to the city on sick furlough. He expects to return to the front in November. Dysentery sent the sergeant-major home.

On his return to London he saw for the first time a new arrival in his family in the shape of a 15-month-old girl, since the 18th left for overseas service. He was reticent as to his personal experience in the big war, and as he has been invalided in England for nearly five months he could give little news relating to his comrades of the 18th Battalion. He stated that they were all well when he left them, although their number had been greatly reduced.

He emphasized the need for "men, more men, and yet more men," before the war could be brought to a successful conclusion. He stated that the new recruits were much in demand and that although the experience of men who had been on the firing line for months was valuable, their health and constitution could not stand that of the new recruit. The recklessness of the new man, too, aided him greatly, as men who had been wounded and returned to the firing line were over-relied on.

This accounted for the fact that casualties occurred chiefly among new men. They were not alive to the dangers of trench warfare and exposed themselves needlessly. The fighting, he asserted, had produced many surprises from the standpoint of quality of certain men.

"The knock in this game are a little different from those you get in other games, and it takes a different type of man to withstand them," said the sergeant-major.

He explained the reason so many of the men now reported in the casualty lists have received wounds in the legs and lower parts of the body. The Germans were using high explosives to a greater extent than at the beginning of the trench warfare. This has brought about more open fighting, and in almost every action German machine-gun fire had been directed low with the object of only wounding the legs.

"It is of more advantage to the Germans to have a foe wounded than killed," he said. "In the former case he has to be transported back to the base, receive treatment in the hospital, utilizing altogether the services and time of nearly a dozen men, and in many cases remaining a source of expense to his country. If he is killed there remains only the cost of burial, and in many cases not that."

"Conscription," he said, was working out in Great Britain, and nearly all the Canadian boys now in England were anxious to see it passed here.

"They're close to the fight there and they realize what it means," said Lieut.-Major Walker. "I wouldn't want to see any part of the British Empire, much less Canada, in the same condition as the countries in which the fighting has taken place. I have seen whole towns absolutely destroyed, in many cases the cellars are wiped out by the heavy gunfire."

"One of the latest drafts to our battalion included a number of men from the 23rd Battalion. They were as fit as men as we ever had and they have made a name for themselves 'over there,' although working under many disadvantages."

Lieut.-Col. Graham, despairing, he believed, of any improvement in his conduct, ordered him to be "spanked." The order was carried out by Pte. Renton, acting on explicit orders from Lieut.-Major Collier.

The matter got to the ears of the camp commandant, who asked for the resignation of Lieut.-Col. Graham. Renton and Belanger were shipped to London, and Renton was informed that he had been discharged. Major E. M. McLean forwarded instructions to local headquarters to discharge Renton, but he was asked to supply higher authority.

Both men were attached to the Special Service Company temporarily, and have been awaiting instructions from Camp Borden. Lieut.-Col. Graham went to Ottawa, where a result was indicated in command of the 142nd.

Instructions definitely place both Renton and Belanger.

SAM GETS A SOAKING INSTEAD OF SALUTE FROM CAMP STRENGTH

Planned March Past at Borden Called Off.

JUP. PLUV. TO BLAME Proves Mightier Than Even Would-Be War Lord of Canada in Staging Spectacles.

[Special to The Advertiser.] CAMP BORDEN, Oct. 13.—A drenching rainstorm chilled everyone and Lieut.-General Sir Sam Hughes today, who, when he found that the divisional ceremonial review had been called off, left early in the afternoon, via special train. At an early hour this morning the battalions began to parade out to the ceremonial area in the rain, but Col. H. C. Bickford saw that there was not likely to be any cessation of the downpour and ordered the units back to their lines. The minister of militia arrived at 10:25 a.m. and was met by Major-General W. A. Logie, Col. S. C. Mewburn, Col. H. C. Bickford, Lieut.-Col. H. C. Osborn and several other members of the headquarters staff. The Ottawa party included Lieut.-Col. J. D. Langton, Hon. Lieut.-Col. T. A. Duff and Major H. M. Daly.

After a conference at headquarters Sir Sam motored to the 1st Brigade and inspected the latrines, incinerators, messes of the men and was greatly interested in a mechanical potato peeler.

In the afternoon he visited the 2nd Brigade and since the 15th Battalion, which was preparing to move to a point east later in the day. Troops Do Camp Credit. In speaking of the troops in a camp Gen. Hughes said they were a credit to him and compared favorably with any he had seen. When it was suggested that recruiting depots for local units which have won fame at the front would assist recruiting, rather than the battalion scheme now employed, the minister replied that he had no objection to the idea, especially since the men now clearly understood that their commanding officers could not go with them farther than England. He also admitted that under the depot method interest would soon fall off, as in everything else. He professed ignorance as to other current topics, such as rumored appointments, or created the questions by pleading ignorance because of stress of time.

The Simcoe battalion entrained for a point east this afternoon and several hundred visitors were present to cheer their departure, despite the heavy rain. The 18th Battalion went on last leave. This is the last unit of those warned for overseas to have leave.

186th Not To Return. Headquarters announced definitely that the 186th Battalion would not return to Woodstock or any other place before going overseas. In fact, as stated some time ago, all battalions trained for overseas will proceed overseas direct from the camp.

The announcement that headquarters was sitting in state to weigh out a few sentences on the Oxford unit brought their absentees back in a hurry, and practically all have been accounted for now. It is learned from good authority that headquarters has decided not to take any decisive action at this late date after taking into consideration the good record of the unit during the summer training.

Major F. W. Kirk, C. S. C., will preside on a board of officers, of which Capt. R. W. Angus, of the 186th Battalion, and Lieut. A. H. Murphy, 142nd Battalion, will be members. In examining the non-commissioned officers of the ninth brigade.

London's Own to Bayonet. The 142nd London's Own Battalion will have bayonet instruction in bayonet fighting and physical training tomorrow morning, while the 114th Highland and the 161st Huron Battalions will undergo tutoring at the district bombing school.

WESTERN "U" UNIT IS NOW SERVING AT FRONT Casualty Lists of Today Announce Patients Being Sent to No. 10 Hospital.

That the Western University Hospital Unit (Stationary Hospital No. 10) is now serving at the front is indicated by casualty messages sent to London today. This is the first intimation that the local doctors and nurses who form the Western "U" Unit have been assigned to duty together. Letters recently received in the city said that the staff had been split up for instructional purposes, but the fact that London soldiers have been reported admitted to No. 10 Stationary Hospital at Rouen is taken as proof that the Western "U" men have at last attained their desire.

If the casualty messages are to be taken as a basis for making the assertion, then Pte. Robert Bell, 22 Gunn street, West London, is the first London soldier to be treated in the hospital or other institution in his own home town. Pte. Bell went overseas with the 70th Battalion, and a message to Mrs. Jane Bell, 22 Gunn street, today announces that he was admitted to "No. 10 Stationary Hospital, Rouen, with gunshot wounds in the left eye and buttock on October 5."

859 PAIRS OF SOCKS FOR "LONDON'S OWN" Women's Auxiliary of 142nd Sends That Many Of This Week.

The Women's Auxiliary of the 142nd Battalion meet this week at the home of Mrs. (Major) Calder to arrange for the sending of socks to the N. C. O.'s and men of the battalion as a parting gift.

During the afternoon 859 pairs of socks were packed. The auxiliary takes this opportunity of thanking those who so generously donated to the fund. The following donations were recently received: Overseas, Miss Young, 2 pairs; Mrs. Moore, 2 pairs; Mrs. H. Henderson, 3 pairs; Mrs. Alex. Hay, 4 pairs; Mrs. Wilson, 5 pairs; a friend, 5 pairs; Miss P. Magee, 2 pairs, and one pair from each of the following: Miss A. Yeates, Mrs. Cron, Mrs. Wigham, Mrs. Trudell, Mrs. B. Clement, Miss Hannah, Miss Murray, Mrs. D. C. McGregor, Mrs. Joe Brown, and Mrs. Paterson (Ingersoll), Miss McMillan.

THREE MORE LONDONERS LISTED AS WOUNDED

Two Are Reported Shot in Left Eye and Third in Face.

Three London soldiers of as many different battalions were reported wounded in messages sent through from Ottawa today.

Pte. Albert Horne, 41553, Infantry, has been admitted to No. 11 Stationary Hospital at Rouen, with wounds in the left eye, according to a message sent to Mrs. Lucy Horne of 677 Talbot street. The soldier was admitted to the hospital on October 4.

Another Londoner reported wounded in the eye is Pte. Robert Bell, 124178, a former member of the 70th. He is also reported to be wounded in the buttock in a message received by Mrs. Jane Bell of 22 Gunn street, West London.

Company Sergt.-Major Jos. Frith, 13072, a member of one of the most popular units that ever mobilized and trained here, is in No. 11 Stationary Hospital with gunshot wounds in the buttock in a message received by Mrs. Frith of 10 Argyle street.

ALL TROOPS PARADING TO CATHEDRAL SUNDAY

Will Attend Divine Service at St. Paul's at 9:30 o'Clock.

Sunday, all Protestant soldiers will parade to St. Paul's Cathedral for divine service. The men have been ordered to appear in their parade dress at 8:30 a.m. and will move off at 8:45 a.m. The service will be held at 9:30.

The men will march down Battle street to Adelaide street, Queen's avenue, to Richmond street, to the cathedral. At the conclusion of the service the men will be marched back to camp.

Roman Catholics will march to St. Michael's for church at 9:30 a.m. The officer in command at the Cove will make his own arrangements for church parade.

NO CHANGE OF 118TH GOING TO KITCHENER

[Special to The Advertiser.] KITCHENER, Oct. 13.—"Do you expect to winter in Kitchener?" was asked a prominent officer of the 118th Battalion. "No, I don't," was his answer. "We leave Camp Borden on Monday, October 18, and our destination will probably be Clair, although no definite orders have been issued regarding this matter."

It was declared today that the reason for not sending the men to Kitchener was that representations had been made to the Government that harmony did not exist among the people of Kitchener over the name change question, and that the presence of a battalion of soldiers would not help to heal the breach.

SHIPS CAR OF SHORTHORNS. WYOMING, Oct. 13.—Duncan Graham, second line west, shipped two carloads of thoroughbred shorthorn Durham calves Thursday to Mr. Crosby of Tulsa, Okla.

THE ONLY WAY TO CURE RHEUMATISM Must Be Treated Through the Blood and the Poisonous Acid Driven Out.

The twinges and tortures of rheumatism are not confined to the camp weather as so many people suppose. Rheumatism comes from poisonous acid in the blood. This is a medical truth. The acute rheumatic sufferer should realize that there is only one way to cure rheumatism—it must be treated through the blood. All the liniments and rubbing and so-called electrical treatment in the world will not cure rheumatism, and the sufferer who tries them is not only wasting money, but is allowing the trouble to become more firmly rooted in the system and harder to cure when the proper remedy is tried. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have had remarkable success in curing rheumatism because they get right to the root of the trouble in the blood, driving out the poisonous acid, releasing the stiffened joints, clearing away the torturing pains, and giving the victim renewed health and ease.

Mr. Vincent Brown, Havre, Quebec, N. S., says: "For two years I was an almost constant sufferer from rheumatism, the trouble being so bad at times that I could scarcely get about. The trouble seemed to bring with it anæmia, and altogether I was in a very bad condition. I used doctor's medicine for almost a year without relief. Then on the advice of a friend I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I think I took altogether about a dozen boxes, with the result that I am again enjoying perfect health."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added will turn grey, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation of your hair's fading strength and grey. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of the best "Wetley's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, grey, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By arkening your hair with Wetley's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all grey hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Velvets and Plushes for More Exclusive Styles

The Fashion Mirror

Women are changing a little, says Mrs. Westermann, America's leading fashion artist. To know just why—read her letter published here today.

"Oh, yes, that is the style, and you certainly must wear such a suit!" Having delivered this sentence, there was nothing left for one to do but to appear in the suit, no matter how unbecoming or utterly unsuitable for the purpose. A jacket had to be so long—or, well, one might just as well be counted out. Today it is quite different, women demand a length suited to their figure, so short, medium length, long and very long jackets are shown in the leading Fifth Avenue, New York, shops. Some jackets fairly hug the figure to the waist, and then flare alarmingly; others descend from the shoulders with a graceful dignity, giving the waist more of a straight line effect. Velvets and furs occupy first position for the more exclusive styles, the jackets of which are generally quite long. The materials much favored are Broadcloths, Gabardines and Serges—but velvets and plushes for novelty styles are most popular. And most suits have fur collars or band trimming, notwithstanding its scarcity.
