COOLIDGE VICTORY AIDS WALL STREET

Stock Prices Advance, and the Volume of Trading Exceeding 600,000 Shares.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, Nov. 5.—Wall street's first Am reaction to the presidential election returns was a sharp upturn in stock Am approximately a scole of needed with a point or more above Monday's closing quotations.

Large buying orders which had been withheld owing to pre-election uncertainties poured into the market from all sections of the country soon after the opening gong sounded. Individual sales of 1,000 shares or more were quite common. The advance, however, was an orderly one, the only outstanding gains being in Woolworth, which moved up 2%, and Missouri Pacific preferred, which climbed 1%, indicating to many traders that the election of President Coolidge had been largely discounted by the advance in prices this fall.

Railroad shares, trading in which had been restrained by the fear that an increase in the radical representation in congress would imperil the safety of the transportation act of 1920, again came to the fore, Atlantic Coast Line and Missouri Pacific preferred selling at new high levels for the year, while Union Pacific, Wabash preferred "A," Chicago Northwestern and Texas & Pacific climbed a point or more above Monday's final quotations.

Pacific climbed a point or more above Monday's final quotations.
Profit-taking sales were not long in making their appearance, particularly in the industrial issues. Railroad shares offered better resistance to selling pressure, special strength developing in New York Central, which moved up 1¼ points to 110.
Bond prices showed slight improvement on initial sales, the feature being a 3-point gain in Nickel Plate 5½s.
Cotton prices opened about ten points higher.
