

WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cape Wolfe, Canada.—"Last March I was a complete wreck. I had given up all hope of getting better or living any length of time, as I was such a sufferer from female troubles. But I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am in good health and have a pair of twin boys two months old and growing finely. I surprised doctors and neighbors for they all know what a wreck I was.

"Now I am healthy, happy and hearty, and owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies. You may publish this letter if you like. I think if more women used your remedies they would have better health."—Mrs. J. T. Cook, Lot No. 7, Cape Wolfe, P.E.I., Canada.

Because your case is a difficult one, and doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ailments such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and it may be exactly what you need.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinacies of women—ills that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a cure?

TEN TO ONE

The blood of the breed holds good. All the modernist piffle about the enervation of ultra-civilized folk, all the militarist doubtings over the efficiency of colonial irregulars, vanishes like a fog in the sunlight of Langemack's glory. Read this again, from the official story of that great day:—

"With the Canadian Highlanders extended to double their normal trench front, one-half of it in the open, and assisted by the Tenth Battalion from southern Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, they not only held ten times their own number in check, but they actually retook the guns from the enemy and maintained their position, but the loss, as must have been expected, was appalling."

And this:—
"About sixty thousand Germans, got in the rear of the Highlanders, thus cutting them off, but they refused to surrender, and the firing was heard far into the night, the Germans, being in front, on the left flank, and on the rear."

Ten to one, and not only holding their ground, but pressing forward! Surrounded, cut off, hopeless of reinforcements but fighting on with the old flag flying until the last bullet is gone! Why, Drake's men never did better than that; nor they who fought at Minden; nor the gallant gallopers at Balaklava; nor Nelson's heroes; nor the thin red line at Waterloo! Never throughout the splendid history of British warfare have sons of Britain fought better or died better.

And these are our own boys. Not trained soldiers; not even bred in a military atmosphere. Just ordinary folk like the rest of us—lads from desk and counter, from farm and ranch, and lumber camp, brought up far from the sound or rumor of war. Peaceful, and, and no hatred in their hearts; but with the same spirit thank God, that filled their fathers who in their turn fought and died for their vision of liberty and for Britain's honor.

So, though we mourn, our sorrow is ennobled by an uplifting pride, that they whom we have lost have died in the old British way with their faces toward an overwhelming foe, and their flag flying.

When shall this world see again
Such a breed of mighty men
As come forward, one to ten,
To the song on bugles blown—
England—
To the skies on your bugles blown!
—Montreal Star.

MANITOBA'S CHANGE

Resignation of the government of Manitoba as the result of disclosure in connection with the construction of the new Parliament buildings, probably created little surprise in the western province. An election a few months ago put the parties nearly on an equality and made evident the growing desire of the people for that change which experience has demonstrated it is desirable to make in Canadian governments after a few years of office. The government's determined opposition to a Royal commission investigation in connection with the Parliament buildings scandal, changes intensified public dissatisfaction, while other questions of local concern, not the least important being the school question, occasioned, it is apparent from the letter of Premier Roblin, the loss of friends and sympathizers to such an extent that the government realized the hopelessness of longer continuing a struggle which was bound to end in the light of day being let in on transactions the government was so determinedly fighting to cover up and hide. Beyond doubt, there is a big story to come out in connection with this Parliament buildings inquiry, but the letter of Premier Roblin raises a suspicion of doubt as to what will happen next. With a majority of seven in a House of forty-nine members, and with three years of rule assured them, the Premier and his cabinet have adopted the most unusual course of resigning and handing the reins of government over to the opposition. To give the new government an assured majority in the House, several supporters of Premier Roblin are resigning and it is announced the new cabinet and the new Liberal members are to go back by acclamation, while Premier Roblin, only sixty-two years of age, and the members of his cabinet, instead of remaining in the House to defend and justify their administration, retire from politics. The new Premier and the late Premier have been in consultation for some days, and the arrangement arrived at is manifestly the result of some understanding and agreement. Is the investigation, which of course must be held, to be a whitewash? A significant sentence in Premier Roblin's speech of farewell, admitting the necessity of adjustments between the government and the contractors, says: "The government also realizes that constitutionally they were responsible for the acts of their officials in matters of this kind." It will be well to keep that sentence in mind for the suggestion it contains of the probable finding of whatever committee investigates the Manitoba scandal. Satisfaction the Liberals of Manitoba and of Canada naturally feel over the accession to power of their party, but Liberals and Conservatives alike must be deeply chagrined at another evidence of political corruption on a large scale. It was no occasion to surprise if this Manitoba development determines the Federal government to postpone indefinitely the much talked of general election.—St. John Globe.

WHAT DEPENDS ON US.

London Chronicle.—Everybody now in the prime of life has to remember that this country, which now calls on him in its emergency of life or death, has a past and a future far beyond his individual lifetime: a past enriched and ennobled by the industry, fortitude and honesty of those who went before, to which he owes an incalculable debt; a future which it is our duty, so far as in each of us lies, to hand down intact the heritage that we have received. What is at stake in the present crisis is not merely the handiwork of us of the present day, but the work of men who lived centuries ago; and the issue of the great conflict will affect not merely the participants, but our children's children for untold generations. We are the trustees for fortunes much bigger than our own.

WHY THE DELAY.

Why, when every report from France and England says more men are needed, are good and brave men kept impatient in Canadian barracks? Why not move them on and then drill more Canadians? There are thousands waiting to answer the call of King and country, but as men are kept in barracks it is difficult to make others realize the need of more men. Many a brave Canadian lad is ready to go to the front and fight, but unwilling—and who can blame him?—to spend month after month parading the streets of some Canadian town or village, apparently getting no nearer taking his part in the great work patterned and a sense of duty fired him with enthusiasm for. Men kept at home in Canada when they enlisted for service in France are growing impatient of delay. They are losing interest. They are becoming sick at heart, and some are taking means to end an existence which to them has grown intolerable. Good men are being spoiled and the army, sadly in need of brave hearts and stout arms, is losing the services of some who in the post of danger would do and die, but who are unable to withstand what is worse to them than death. Let Canada send to the front the men who months ago offered their services, and recruits will rapidly fill the ranks of new corps. But so long as men of the Second Contingent remain apparently unneeded, it must prove difficult to make others understand that a real need for men exists.—Globe.

NON-PRODUCING

The "War Budget," brought down by the Hon. Mr. Whit, went into effect so far as tariff matters generally were concerned on February 12th last. The stamp tax, however, was not levied until April 15th. Thus the last fifteen days of April was the first real test of Mr. White's Pretended "War Taxes" as a Revenue Producer.

Instead of an Increased Revenue as was predicted by Mr. White it has fallen off over two million dollars over the preceding month.

Here are the figures:
1915 $10,523,344
March 11,641,970
April 9,627,787
Was Sir Wilfrid Laurier right when he stated in his Budget Speech that these new taxes would produce little or no additional Revenue?

When the Falcha was sunk by a German submarine, the St. Louis Post-Despatch, in pointing out that the press comments on that horror equalled, at least in vigor, those printed concerning Belgium said:

"Poor Germany! Her leaders must be blind indeed not to see that the inevitable effect of the policy of ruthlessness enforced against non-combatants and neutrals as well as combatants is alienating world sympathy. Nations can afford to be beaten in honorable warfare. Nations have with the moral support of others, risen to greatness from the ashes of defeat. But no nation can afford to offend the moral sense and humane sentiment of mankind. No nation is strong enough to survive on might alone. Leaders of a nation who ignore 'decent respect for the opinions of mankind' lead it ultimately to disaster—to a day of reckoning when it appeals for sympathy and support in vain."

This paragraph is doubly forceful since the disaster to the Lusitania, which can only be characterized as a crime against humanity.

The gentle but sure laxative for children is Rexall Orderlies

The intestinal organs of children are so delicate that only the most gentle, mild and natural bowel regulator should ever be used. On account of their healthy, mild and natural action, and freedom from harsh or injurious drugs, Rexall Orderlies are safe, gentle and most desirable bowel regulator for children, and they are as easy to give as candy.

They do not weaken nor depress the system, even by continued use. On the contrary, they tone up the bowels and tend to keep them in a healthy condition. Incidentally, they are as good for grown people as they are for children. Small Storekeepers everywhere recommend Rexall Orderlies, and refund your money if for any reason they fail to satisfy.

Montreal Journal of Commerce.—Reports from the West received by The Journal of Commerce are most optimistic. From a score of widely scattered centres reports have come in showing that seeding is in some cases three weeks earlier than usual, that the increase in the acreage is very much higher, that the work is well advanced, and that the prospects are excellent. Increased acreage and a good crop will mean much, not only to the West, but to the whole of Canada.

Andrew Robinson, a La Cross, Wis., farmer, had made arrangements to have his old horse, Babe, sent to a farm 18 miles away to spend her remaining days when Robinson would die. Last week she was sent to the farm, but no sooner had she been left alone than she leaped a fence and reached the Robinson home in time to attend her old master's funeral, following the hearse without even a halter.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

Canadian railways are taking a constantly increasing interest in forest fire prevention along their lines. Both the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific railways have provided public notices in smoking compartments, warning against the throwing of lighted matches, cigarettes and cigars from the train. The Canadian Pacific has printed fire warnings on the menu cards. The Canadian Pacific, Canadian Northern and Algoma Central railways print fire prevention matter in their advertising literature, particularly in the circulars intended for campers, tourists, etc. A large percentage of the fire loss is preventable, and there is a steadily increasing realization of the fact that most of the loss can be avoided through the creation of an intelligent public sentiment along this line.

Queen Alexandra has purchased or rather begged for, the gift of a crucifix made by a Belgian soldier. This soldier, who is lying wounded in a British hospital, is a young seminarist and has been carving beautiful crucifixes out of the odd bits of wood and cigar boxes he could find. Queen Alexandra, hearing of his skill, wrote asking for one of the crucifixes. A beautiful one was sent, and in return came a handsome leather bag, packed with every kind of requisite for a soldier's comfort. The Queen Mother also sent her autograph portrait, on which she had written a quotation in Latin.

Fearless Charles Hyland of Butte, Mont., might not seem like the likeliest white in Alaska, a young woman who may become his wife required him to make a contract to marry her March 1, 1916, provided he matches her $5,000 with an equal sum. He gave her a wedding ring, which she is to wear for the first time on March 1, 1916. If he is successful in his chase for gold.

Despite the German "blockade," the imports of petroleum into Great Britain during the first three months of 1915 amounted to 101,254,000 gallons, or but 8,000,000 gallons less than for the same period in 1914. The Marine Insurance Company constituted a new High Court of Admiralty in London to try British claims against German ships.
