REV. E. SCOTT, New Glasgow, Nova Scotia.

The letters from the New Hebrides which are given in this issue will be read with deep interest. Mr. and Mrs. Mc-Kenzie have wrought long, faithfully, and patiently, on Efate, oftimes amid much discouragement, but at length their hearts have been gladdened by seeing the seed springing up and bringing forth fruit. But with the success in that direction comes the shadow of another hindrance. Mr. McKenzie's statements regarding the French but confirm the idea that they have come to stay. If we cannot prevent their coming or their remaining, we can commit our missionaries and converts into the hands of Him to whom the work belongs. Doing our duty we can leave results with God.

The success which has crowned the labors of Mr. and Mrs. Robertson on Erromanga are well known. But there too, as the Report shews, they have their discouragements. One of the greatest at the present time is the labor traffic, which draws away so many of the young men, the hope of the mission. In their discouragements in that far off field our
