ABOLITION OF DEODANDS.—The two bills to abolish deodands, and to compensate the families of persons killed by accidents, which were referred to a select committee, have been printed as amended. Deodands and forfeiture of chattels are to cease on the 12th of September next. There are seven clauses in the second bill, by which it is proposed that an action may be maintainable against any person causing death by neglect, &c., notwithstanding the death of the person injured. The act is to have immediate operation.

POTATOES FROM VAN DIEMAN'S LAND.—A ship arrived in the London Docks from Hobart Town, called the North Briton, has brought 4,228 bags of wheat, 243 bags of flour, and among a variety of other articles, 20 baskets of potatoes, the production of that distant colony.

A small estate in the neighbourhood of Leyland, after the most strenuous competition, has been knocked down at something more than 40 years' purchase, a convincing proof that capitalists are not much alarmed at the recent liberal measures adopted by Government.—Preston Chronicle.

As an evidence that corn is already becoming a regular article of exchange, it is mentioned in the city that large quantities have been shipped from this country to France, and that they have been paid for by importations of gold.—Times.

PINE APPLES.—The supply of pines from the West Indies for the season has not yet ceased. A vessel has just arrived from Eleutheria, having the large number of 13,920 on board.—lb.

RETURN OF RAILWAY DEPOSITS.—From the 27th June to the 1st August, inclusive, the whole amount returned by the Bank of England to railway companies having concluded their parliamentary proceedings, in one way or other, amounts to no less a sum than £5,239,000.—Morning Chronicle

NORWEGIAN SALMON.—A vessel called the Compagniet, which has arrived in the Commercial Docks from Egersund, Norway, has brought, in addition to a cargo of wood, comprising, among other articles, the large number of 30,000 staves for coopers' use, and no less than 2725 boxes of salmon.

THE POTATO DISEASE IN THE ISLE OF MAN.—The potato crop, we are sorry to say, may be considered this year a complete failure. There is scarcely one field throughout the island which is not more or less affected with the prevailing disease. The stalks are first attacked with a dark blight, which rapidly spreads and destroys the whole of the tops of the potato, and then communicates with the tubers. Some fields are already so far gone that a putrid stench is emitted therefrom.—Morn. Sun.

Great want of reapers has been felt both in England and Scotland. Irish reapers have got from 3s. 6d. to 5s. 6d. a day, and, in addition, three pints of ale each.—The Albion.
