It is stated, on competent authority, that Mr. O'Brien traversed the district about Mullinahone armed with pike and pistols, and surrounded by a body guard of several hundred men similarly equipped, and fully determined to resist to the death any attempt upon the body of the leader of the tebel movement. Mr. O'Brien, thus himself and escorted, had the temerity to halt at the police station at Mullinahone, and called upon the sergeant of the party, consisting of only six or seven men, to surrender-a command with which the sergeant did not think lit to comply. After a parley Mr. O Brien changed his course of tactics, and endeavoured to induce the police to fraternise with the pike-men. With so small a force at his command, men. With so small a force at his command, and the numbers opposed being extremely formidable, the sergeant promised to think over the matter by the following morning, and on this promise the General? resumed his march: The moment, however, his back was turned the police set about putting their house transfer as a tabe prepared to give Mr. O'Brien stand that Mr. Waghorn, after a long and the property of the prepared to give Mr. O'Brien stand that Mr. Waghorn, after a long and the prepared to give Mr. O'Brien stand that Mr. Waghorn, after a long and the prepared to give Mr. O'Brien stand that Mr. Waghorn, after a long and the prepared to give Mr. O'Brien stand that Mr. Waghorn, after a long and the prepared to give Mr. O'Brien stand that Mr. Waghorn, after a long and the prepared to give Mr. O'Brien stand that Mr. Waghorn, after a long and the prepared to give Mr. O'Brien stand that Mr. Waghorn, after a long and the prepared to give Mr. O'Brien stand that Mr. Waghorn, after a long and the prepared to give Mr. O'Brien stand the give Mr. O'Brien stand in order, so as to be prepared to give Mr. O'Brien an over-warm reception should he have the hardihood to repeat his visit on the morrow. The precautions, it seems, were unnecessary, as he left Mullinahone the next day without repeating his traitorous device to seduce the police from their allegiance. There is just one shadow of an excuse for this unfortunate gentleman. He must be one of the most down-right lunatics that was ever left free from the Duntin, July 31 .- The news of the action at Ballingarry, with the defeat and flight of Mr. Smith O'Brien, was published in a second edition of this morning's Freeman, and it would be impossible to picture the consternation into which the robel party has been thrown by this disgraceful issue of an insurrection which has heen in process of gestation since the memora-ble year of the monster meetings; and now, after all the stimulants that had been applied to bring it to a healthy maturity, has been crushed in the bul by a handful of policemen. This is a sad response to all the ravings and blusterings about the armed millions united in a holy cause, the " wild blood of Tipperary fighting to the death. &c. Alas! for the last appeals of Mesos. Daffy, Martin, and Later! The rebellion, to use their favourite phrase, has been "squelched," and, in all human probability, before the opening of the commission on Ruesday next the leaders will be in the hands of the "enemy." The clubs, panic stricken, are dissolving all over the country. Throughout Tipperary the disarmament is almost general.

Four penuants are now flying in the Suir, before Waterford—the Tweed, Lord F. Russell; the Strondoli, Lord A. Beauclerck; the Rhadamanthus and Frolic, gun brigs.

The police then inquired whether certain persons, whom they named. swere present-ten answered, who were at once preceived regular commissions to act as fieldofficers and Captains, in the rebel army. The spattics were all known to have been connected with the seditions Clubs of the city, and have for some time back, been numbered amongs the suspected. Their proceedings have, therefore, been watched so closely by the authorities, that just as they were about to depart for headquarters, at Slievenamon (which some of them purposed doing this very day), all their highflown expectations of military rank and eternal glory were abruptly and unexpectedly terminated by their most opportune arrest.

DISCOVERY OF REBEL UNIFORMS .- A peculiar discovery was made a few mornings ago.

Two travellers of respectable exterior landed by one of the Kingstown packets from England, and on their arrival they were watched by two of the detective police, who were acting upon private information which they had received. A friend of the strangers having warned them that they were in danger, they eluded purstonning for a second at one of the intermediate stations. The luggage of the travellers was taken possession of, and found to contain fourbeteen suits of uniform-green and gold, and of every costly manufacture.

[Since we sent the above to be put in type, we have read that a contradiction to the whole eport is given by Lieut. Waghorn himself.] PARIS .- NATIONAL ASSEMBLY, Thursday .-At the sitting yesterday, M. Banchard read the report of the committee appointed to inquite into the events of May and June. This is a document of the very highest importance, and likely to be followed by most serious consequences. It consists apparently of three parts. The first relating to the events of the 17th March and 16th April, which preceded the convocation of the National Assembly; the secoud to the émeute of the 15th May; and the third to the insurrection of June.

The reporter first passes in review the re-presentatives compromised.

M. Ledru Rollin is compromised in the affairs of April and May. No charge is raised against him in the affairs of June. MM. Caussidiere and Louis Blane were compromised in all the disturbances which have agitated, and have figured in them more or less directly Considiere was seen on the barricades on the 25th of June, and Leuis Blanc on the 24th, at the abattoirs of Clichy. M. Prudhon was signalised on the 27th of June, in the Faubourg St. Antoine. M. Louis Blanc is proud to have taken part at the Hotel de Ville on the 15th of May. Lamartine does not appear to have been compromised.

The affair of the 17th March, is qualified as a manifestation; that of the 16th April, as a conspiracy; that of the 15th May, as an overt act of treason; and that of June, as civil war. The celebrated bulletin of the Republic. No. IG, is cited in the commencement of the report, and Madame Georges Sand stigmatised as

The Parisian population has so exhausted all ordinary sources of excitement, and is so sen-sual, so irreligious, and so desperately depravd, that it can find zest only in horrors and bomination. The orgies that were committed in the wine vaults of the Tuilleries and of Neuilly are such as a veil must be drawn over. The same scenes would have been enacted in the wide theatre of the whole city, had it been conquered. The imaginations of the Patislans have been excited by their pemicious literature and dramas, which are a mixture of lineautious-uess, over-wrought horrors, and a mingled philosophy of the Communist atheistical kind, all calculated to excite to criminal indulgence without in ral restraint. There is a cynical, laughing, cold blooded ferocity in the city population when roused, a love of fifth and refined cruelty, all brought to light within the last few days, enough to make man despair of his fellow. Hour after hour we said here, when talk-ing of the scenes of 1793 and of 1791, it is mpossible that such horrible occurrences can ever be repeated-times have changed, the people are educated and seffined, they have had the example of that period, and its consequences quisition.

Paris .- An awkward duty for a Christian finister, well performed .- When the people of Paris were zealously engaged in planting "trees of liberty," they planted one in the front of the Institution of Deaconesses. The Rev. M. Vermeil, the president of the institution, a triend of our own, and from whom a letter appears in our present number, was invited to bless the tree. He replied, " It is not the manner of Protestants to bless an inanimate object, but I will pray for you, if you like."
"Yes, yes," responded a thousand voices "pray for us." M. Vermell then read to them portion of scripture, and commended them and the nation to the care and grace of Jehovah. The multitude listened in silence and deep interest; but when the prayer was ended, they rent the air with shouls of Vive M. Vermeil! Vive le Protestantisme! Vive la République! And such was their enthusiasm that the worthy pastor with difficulty prevented them from carrying him through Paris in triumph.—

defeat; it is said to be quite disorganised, and all the ambitious hopes of Charles Albert are demolished. A brief sketch of the actual events will here be interesting. On Sunday, the 22nd ult., the Austrians made an attack 22nd and the 23rd the Piedmontese were driven from their positions in all the country between the Upper Adigo and the Lag di Garda, and the plain of Verona and the Min-cio. The Sardinians retired towards Villafrance. On the 21th the contest still conthuned, and Charles Athert, by a series of judicious manueuvres, contiived to recover the position at Somma Compagna, and the news the two armies met and fought a pitched battle on the heights overlooking the plain of Villafranca 70lbs, was obtained, above our last quotations, In Wheat and Plour, a fair amount of business done; the Irish demand for Indian Cornhaving fallen off, the sales were very light, and prices receded since then. The weather has been very fine, and the reports of the potato crup shew that there is every probability of a and completely routed them. Charles Albert retreated to Goito, where his beaten forces were again dislodged; and by the last accounts the King, after having in vain attempted to make a stand at Asola, was in full retreat towards Cromona, where he had sent officers to provide recessaries for his defeated army.—Eur. Times.

It is stated, that the King applied to the French Republic for assistance; and there are conflicting accounts respecting General Cavaignae's intention on the subject.

Rome .- There were serious outbreaks on the 19th and following days. The ministry had resigned, owing to the Pope's refusal to declare war against Austria. An extraordinary confier, arrived at Paris from Rome with news of the 22nd, states that the Pope not having been able to form a Ministry imbued with sentiments of neutrality, the people and the Chamber of Deputies had established a Provisional Government. Yet this latter intelligence was not confirmed by accounts from Genoa, dated 25th.

Narnes.—The King designed an invasion of Sicily, for the purpose of re-gaining his authority in that island.

GERMANY .- It is understood that Lord Cowley has been appointed to proceed to Frankfort, in order to represent British interests with the newly formed Central authority over the German Empire.

It is stated on high authority that Chevalier

Bunsen, who left London two days since, had been recalled by the King of Prussia to occupy an important post now vacant in the Prussian Cabinet. It is also stated that Lord Palmerston has decided upon sending an English Ambassa. dor to Frankfort (Lord Cowley is spoken of), whose office it will be to act as mediator in the Danish question, and to recommend energetically a settlement of that question. He will be seconded in this by M. Bansen, one of the negotiators of the late armistice. M. Bansen is replaced here by Secretary of Legation, Prince Lowenstein.—London Chronicle.

DESMARK AND SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN .- The Victoria, Prust, arrived at Hell on Thursday evening from Hamburg. She brings no intel-ligence of importance from the duchies. The chief matter of interest is a letter contained in he Borsenhalle, addressed by Count Nesselrode to all Russian diniomatic agents, stating that the military preparations of the Emperor of Itassia have been made with strictly defensive, and not aggressive intentions.

Austria. The Emperor was expected to return to his palace at Shombrunn, near Vienna, in the first week of the present month.

THE CHOLERA .- STETTIN, July 27 .- Accounts from Sweden state, that, notwithstanding the quarantine regulations, the cholera has penetrated into the interior of the country, and in Finland Oaland it has assumed a most virulent character. Trade and commerce, which are already lying prostrate, are yet more impeded by the superfluous quarantine regulawe have, however, the prospect of a splendid harvest.

INDIA AND AUSTRALIA MAILS.-It is satisfactory to learn that a contract for the monthly conveyance of the mails between Sydney and Singapore has been at length granted to the India and Australia Steam Com-pany, by which means the route to Sydney for passengers and letters will be shortened at least one-third of the time now occupied by sailing vessels. The arrangement is, to proceed from Ungland to Singapore by the Peninsular and Oriental Company, and from thence by the India and Australia steam-ships to Sydney, and return by the same route. The time occupied between Southampton and Sydney will be about 72 days. This expediting of remittances will be a great saving of capital to the Austrafeel very grateful to Lord Grey for his energy in perfecting their communication with the mother country.—Morning Chronicle.

The efforts of the firemen, aided by the Troy, West Troy, Greenbush, Arsenal, and Shenectady companies, were directed as well as they could be under such appalling circumstances but they were powerless against such an amazing force of flame, of raging wind, and the fierce heat of the wide-spreading and all-consuming element.

The fire was not arrested until after 5 in the afternoon; and only then by a providential change in the wind, which threw the current of flame back upon its vast track of devastation, followed by a heavy and drenching rain. This alone preserved to the city all the business and commercial portion of it that has escaped.

TRADE WITH THE UN. Strong representations have been made to the American Government on the subject of these duties, by the Hon. Messrs.
