Books for the New Year

Aylwin By Theodore Watts-Dunton

A vivid, enthralling, absorbing love-story, full of movement and life and vigor. Its open-air freshness, its thrilling interest and its intense and noble passion, will make it one of the most eagerly read novels of recent years. The Seventh Edition of this remarkable work, by the friend of Tennyson, Browning, William Morris and George Meredith, is now selling in England. Crown 8vo.....

The Life and Letters of Lewis Carroll

(Rev. C. L. Dodgson), author of "Alice in Wonderland," etc. By S. D. Collingwood, B.A., nephew of Lewis Carroll. With 100 illustrations from photographs.

The Life of Lewis Carroll is the life of Rev. C. L. Dodgson, an Oxford man, but it is also the life of the author of "Alice in Wonderland," of "Sylvie and Bruno," of "The Hunting of the Snark." Mr. Collingwood is a nephew of Lewis Carroll, and knew him well. In the task which he has completed, he has suffered almost from an embarrassment of riches. In the photographic art he excelled, and produced a unique collection, as a glance at the list of illustrations to this volume will attest. Crown 8vo.....

With Nansen in the North By Lieut. Hjalmar Johansen

A Record of the Fram Expedition, with numerous illustrations from photographs.

In arranging for a Canadian edition of Lieut. Johansen's interesting work, Mr. Morang feels sure that he has met the wishes of a large constituency of readers. It must not be supposed that "With Nansen in the North," is but a repetition of the material contained in Nansen's great book of last year. That book was, of course, written immediately on the return of the great explorer, and, intensely interesting as it was, it still left something to be narrated by one who shared his perils and his glory. Whether Johansen deals with the voyage to the ice-fields, the precautions taken to preserve health, or the minutiae of experiences during the long exile among arctic snows, his narrative is always intensely interesting. ### The Town Traveller By George Gissing.

Being No. 3 of "Morang's Florin Series"

This is a decidedly cheerful story of lower middle-class English life, and the scene of it is laid in Dickens' London. That is to say, not only is it occupied with the classes of society with which Dickens chiefly and most successfully dealt, but even with situations and individuals that might have been the elder novelist's own. Above all, the atmosphere is that of Dickens. The Town Traveller himself is one Mr. Gammon, "a short, thick-set man, with dark, wiry hair, roughened into innumerable curls, and similar whiskers edging a clean razor-line half way down the cheek. His eyes were blue, and had a wonderful innocence, which seemed partly the result of facetious affectation, as was also the peculiar curve of his lips, ever ready for pipe or laughter, yet the broad, mobile countenance had lines of shrewdness and of strength." Given a hero of this wholesome type, a sharp-tongued, high-spirited and shrewish young woman to pit against him; an interwoven romance all about a peer married to a comely and estimable woman, who kept a china shop, and was unaware that her husband occupied such an exalted sphere, and you have the material of an interesting story.
