

February 12, 1932.

Dr. S. Mack Eastman,
2, Chemin de la Boisserette,
Geneva, Switzerland.

My dear Dr. Eastman,

Let me acknowledge your letter of January 7th. It was very good of you to take the trouble to write me at such length. When I gave my radio address on Disarmament on last Armistice night, a great many people thought I ought not to have said what I did about the impotency of the League; but events have moved with such swiftness since then that I think I have been more than justified.

You may be interested to read the enclosed copy of a speech on Disarmament in New York last month.

With kindest wishes,

Ever yours faithfully,