RUSSELL BEAT PRICE AFTER EXTRA ROUND

Eleven Bouts Decided on Opening Night of Boxing Championships at Arena.

Ted Price, St. Charles, and Russell, Canadian champion, clashed in the 115 lb. class. The elusive Judean boy managed to keep out of harm's way and made it an even thing for the three rounds, and won by a narrow margin in the extra session.

The 118 lb. class brought together Oliphant, 92nd Highlanders, and Courtney of the Classics. Neither of them showed very much science, but were willing mixers and provided an interesting bout, with Oliphant having the upper hand most of the way.

Oliphant having the upper hand most of the way.

Morecroft of the 92nd and Doig of St. Charles, another pair of 118-lib. boys, provided an interesting mix up, with the soldier boy getting a close decision.

The best bout of the evening was between Lisner of the Judeans and Barwell, British United, at 125 lbs. Lisner had a good lead all the way, but the British United boy kept after his man and made it a hard battle for the entire journey. What looked on paper to be the making of a good bout came to a sudden stop when Kirg of St. Charles walked into one of Red Gallagher's rights to the Jaw after about one minutes boxing in the first round of the second 125-lb. bout. Chris James of the 76th Battalion, a graduate from the 125 lb. class, had a good margin over Smith of the Riversides. James didn't show as much steam as characterized his work on previous occasions, but won his bout easily.

Wynoski of the Classics had no difficulty with Lavery of the Riversides, and stopped his man in the second round.

Aram. St. Charles, and Smith of the 92nd put up a hard battle. Neither mag showed much ability, but they made it a hard bout, with Aram having the better of the argument. howed much ability, but they made in hard bout, with Aram having the bet-

Chapman of the Riversides, who was over weight in the 125, clashed with his clubmate, Woods. Woods had all the better of the bout and won with ease.
Paynter and Wilson of the 92nd mixed it in the heavyweight class to see who would have the pleasure of getting a crack at Jack Pierce of the Riversides tonight. Paynter won the honor by stopping his man in the third.

The Summary.

105 lbs.—Aifert. Judeans, beat Goodchild, Beavers. Decision.

ENGLISH SOCCER SOME SURPRISES

LONDON, Nov. 27 .- The English League soccer games produced a number of surprising reversals today, the most startling being the defeat of Manchester starting being the defeat of Manchester City by Preston North End, who scored their first win in the competition this season. Stockport County got into second place in the northern section table by beating Bolton Wanderers by 4 to 2. The positions at the top of the Midland table are once more reversed, Notts County exchanging positions with the Forest team.

ARGONAUTS OUTPLAYED TIGERS IN EVERY DEPARTMENT OF GAME

It will be hard for the Tigers to all while they worked the criss-cross, fake hemselves out of Saturday's defeat by bucks, bluff kicks and end runs times the Argonauts The result the contention that the Hamilton team, starting the championship season in the form, caught the Toronto oarsmen in no condition and won two games before the best team in the Big Four settled down without number. Garrett easily outkicked Manson, and the Argonaut defence ran back punts with tantalizing frequency, while the wings were so steadily down under the punts that the Canadian champions' backs were nearly always nailed in their tracks

The score at the Stadium was Argonauts 26, Hamilton Tigers 3. That about represents the play, tho the winners went tracks.

True, the two McKelveys did not start, but surely the form displayed by Erskine and Lutz in their places was up to the Stunday afternoon's performance of Sammy Manson, the best half-back in Canada. It was sure an off day for Sammy, He started off by losing the first ball, that Garrett punted over Tigers' line, to Frank Knight for a touch down, and thruout the four quarters the first ball, that Garrett punted over the feet-footed Argonaut outside wing was a spectre that gave Manson the razzle dazzles. Sammy's blust places were worked once, except to fool himself. He didn't pass at all and if he had the Argos' lightning wings would have nailed him anyway. That was their instructions, bell or no ball, from Coach McEvenue.

The rain had little more effect than to would have a feet of the search and little more effect than to would have a feet of the load of the leachers, that Robbins was not only given the certain and little more effect than to would have and little more ef ing the decisions as he saw them, but correct. As a matter of fact, Griffiths declares that Reddy Dixon did not make an error the week before, and that those keep away a portion of the crowd that would have filled the other half of the bleachers. The going was fair and apart from an incipient slip the footing was not affected. writers who are prone to carp on alleged unfair decisions would be better employunfair decisions would be better employ-ed if they used their efforts to eradicate rough and dirty tactics, that have been all too prevalent the season just closed.

While the Argo defence worked like the regular machine it was likely the marvelous following up of the wings led by Knight and Burns that featured the work of the winners. Tigere not more than two or three times during the four quarters gained their yards by bucks, trick plays or end runs, while Argos marched along with the ball in two-step time. In fact Bob Isbister, who worked with Dutch Heuther on the yard sticks, after the first quarter stood ready, facing the Tigers' line ready to move from force of habit. The Argos and Tigers dined together after the game at the Walker House, and later had a good time mingling with the big Saturday night crowd at Shea's. Be-tween the acts Messrs. Wrenn of the Tigers and Lobraico of the Argos ren-dered a few of their noted specialties, and were applauded.

The half-time episode was interesting Mounting a chair in front of the critical grand stand, Ald. Sam McBride cut loose his choicest English and was rewarded with a final bid of $200 for the ball from Frank Dissette of the St. Charles' Hotel. Clark, Tigers' right middle wing, shed Cark, Figers right middle wing, shed his smile on Saturday afternoon. Not once did he make his yards like the week before, because he couldn't find a hole. Also Tigers' end runs were smothered ere they started and apart from a sprint by Brskine early in the game and a run by John McKelvey towards the finish, Tigers furnished no fireworks on Glad Murphy day. manager of St. Michael's Hockey of which Murphy was a member.

by John McKelvey towards the finish. Tigers furnished no fireworks on Glad Murphy day.

An evidence of the desire to contribute to the good cause is the incident of A. I. Mackenzie, a son of the late Ross Mackenzie, as on of the late Ross Mackenzie, who arrived too late from the north country to see the game, but purchased his badge after he reached Toronto on Saturday night. He is en route to Montreal to join his regiment, that leaves shortly for the front.

Death on Germans

Here is a clipping taken from an Am rican paper, which sounds pretty fair: "Twenty thousand dollars is asked by Max Schneider for alleged injuries received by being kicked out of a milk wagon by a thorobred stallion he was outside.

"He claims to have suffered a transverse compound fracture of the right leg, together with great mental anguish."

The above is another and powerful argument in favor of the thorobred as a war horse. Doubtless if this stallion could be secured and bred to thorobred mares, a war horse could be evolved that could successfully repel the invasion of an enemy without subjecting the rider to any danger whatever. It will be noted that he works especially well on Germans, Schneider for example.
