

|                                                              | PAGE |
|--------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| Glimpses of Counter Life . . . . .                           | 129  |
| "Nothing New Under the Sun" . . . . .                        | 136  |
| Honesty, a Novelty for Drawing Trade . . . . .               | 141  |
| Pigheadedness . . . . .                                      | 145  |
| No Counting Without Results . . . . .                        | 149  |
| False Smiles and Hypocritical Greetings . . . . .            | 153  |
| Prospect Shown by Retrospect . . . . .                       | 158  |
| Modern Evidences of Enterprise ; or, Hyperbolic Bombast      | 163  |
| Two Hours on a Delivery Waggon . . . . .                     | 169  |
| Tricks in Trade . . . . .                                    | 175  |
| A Successful Drummer always a Gentleman . . . . .            | 180  |
| Human Nature as Seen Behind the Counter . . . . .            | 185  |
| Shang-Whang Tea . . . . .                                    | 191  |
| A Town Gone to Seed . . . . .                                | 195  |
| "Don't Count Your Chickens Before They're Hatched" . . . . . | 201  |
| Brown, Mrs. Jenks and the Eggs . . . . .                     | 206  |
| "Omni" and the Drummer . . . . .                             | 211  |
| The Hill of Mercantile Life—A Dream . . . . .                | 217  |