> The Separate Blouse for Autumn Wear Unless it is made of white lingerie we silk, the waist or blouse for the comin color as exactly as possible the tail-ored suit. For then the effect, the cost removed, will be that of a one piece dress. This style of gowning has become so firmly accepted by the majority of women that anything else looke incorrect.

Autumn medels are unusually smart and becoming this year because of the evident tendency of the designers to make a blouse that will resemble the waist of a dress. Revers, lapels, collars and frills trim the foundation material, which is kept as nearly as posthe the color of the skirt, and lighten colors that would otherwise be to sombre. Chiffon and mousseline de soie, two materials that are about the same thing, except that the chiffon often has a little crepe effect, are the materials ordinarily used, because they are transparent, and with them suit colors that I may bake on wash day.

When ironing is being done it is also an excellent time for the slow cooking of stock for soups, baking and boiling meats, and the making of cakes and puddings. Of course this method is practical only in the family where the laundry work does not consume the shell them and put them in cold water for a few minutes. Next cut in halves, shell them and put they olks carefully so as not to break, the caps for them with a fork and mix with the yolks and vinegar, and if liked rub thru a sieve. Refill the work and vinegar, and, if liked rub thru a sieve. Refill the whites of the eggs, with mixture. Smooth evenly over the mixture. Smooth evenly over the top; then brush with beaten egg and the mixture. Smooth evenly over the option for some months; they seem to go the structure of fuel, because some other day when but little and thin silces of lemon.
