CHILDREN'S AID WARDS OVERSEAS FIND FRIEND THROUGH THE SOCIETY

Boy Tells of Girl Who Wrote Him Inspiring Letters.

The manner in which friendships are made by the war god is illustrated in a letter which Inspector Joseph Sanders of the Children's Aid Society has just received from overseas from a ward who is serving with the A. M. S. An exceptionally talented girl, a former ward of the local Children's Aid, has a feeling of deep sympathy and interest for fellow wards, especially the boys who have joined the colors. She has chosen the writing to them of new letters as a way of doing her bit to help them to get through the war, especially talented along this line.

One of her correspondents is particularly appreciative, and mentions this in his letter to Mr. Sanders. He says: "Do you remember a girl writing to you for the address of some of our boys out here? You gave her my address, and she wrote me a lovely letter. I was surprised to hear from a stranger, but I was glad for she seemed such a nice girl. I told you that I was writing to her. She said to be of your girls. Anyway, she and I have been writing each other three months, and she writes such interesting letters. She also sent me a few snapshots, and I intend to go and see her when I get back."

Getting Along Well.

While this soldier boy states he is "getting along fine here," he is homesick for "dear old London."

He says of his present life: "I am sorry, Mr. Sanders, but I dare not say anything in regard to tending the wounded or my letter would be turned over to you and you would not get it. I haven't had much to do with working with the wounded, but I like attending to the wounded, but it is very trying sometimes."

Another letter from overseas just received by Mr. Sanders comes from a sailor boy, written on the eve of putting out to sea after six weeks in Grimsby docks. The seaman writes, "It is just fine at sea now, but we have had a very rough time in the docks. He had apparently been engaged in mine-sowing, and reported the getting of two German submarines."

Lots of Soldiers.

"I suppose the soldiers are getting pretty thick in London now," he is adding, "there are as many soldiers and sailors in England as there are honey bees in Canada. Everywhere we go, there is nothing but soldiers, of whom a few are U. S. fellows. There is a big Yankee battalions in our docks at present, and we have a fine time ashore with them."

One favor this lad asks of the inspector, "There is only one favor I would like you to do for me, and that is, will you kindly tell me where my sisters are, and send me their address, please?"

H. D. S. A. RECEIVES DOZEN NEW MEMBERS

Twelve new members were received at a meeting of the Honorably Discharged Soldiers' Association held Friday evening. The association now has a membership of one hundred and forty members. Twenty-five applications for membership were also received. Comrade T. J. Lunn presented the association with a decorated announcement board to be placed in the clubrooms. Comrade Shreeve was appointed caretaker of the building.

NEW INNOVATION.

A unique and novel innovation was introduced at the opening of the hydro building on Wednesday afternoon last by Dick's, the quality florists, who have large and beautiful floral designs used as decorations for the opening ceremonies. These decorations were possible through the co-operation of the contractors whose labors resulted in the magnificent structure erected.

COLORED TROOPS OF LONDON CAMP ACTED AS HEROES AS SHIP SETTLED TO BOTTOM

Draft From Carling Heights On City of Vienna.

STOOD AS IF PARADING

Sergt.-Maj. Edwards Praises Men Highly For Perfect Behavior.

Thrilling indeed is the story of the conduct of the troops from Carling Heights Camp who were on the ill-fated troopship City of Vienna when she struck a rock off the Atlantic coast, as recounted in a letter received today from Regimental Sergt.-Major Harry Edwards of this city, by a member of The Advertiser staff.

Colored Men Splendid.

Among the troops on board the boat were the members of the drafts sent from the Colored Reinforcing Depot here, and from G Company, 1st Depot Battalion, W. O. Regiment.

According to the senior sergeant-major, the boat had proceeded about twenty miles from Halifax, when, in a dense fog, she went on the rocks. The conduct of the colored troops of which he had charge was splendid.

Stood at Attention.

"I am very proud of them," writes Sergt.-Major Edwards, "for the splendid manner in which they stood at attention during the trying and anxious period in which many hundreds of men were getting off the ship. The spirit of the boys of Birkhead was manifested by the troops on the doomed vessel, as they kept singing during the anxious hours, while in a dense fog and with terrible sea running, the men were being put over in the small boats."

Bless the Red Cross.

Sergt.-Major Edwards, who was promoted to ship's sergeant-major on embarking at Montreal, was the last to leave the boat, which was sinking rapidly. He was taken to the shore in a small boat, where he was given the men by the Canadian and American Red Cross. All the Ontario boys are saying "God bless the Red Cross."

We lost absolutely everything we had," he adds, "but we have since been re-equipped. On landing at Halifax we went into a brand-new barracks."

After having been highly commended for his work in maintaining absolute discipline on the sinking boat, he was promoted to sergeant-major, and is expecting to leave again for overseas.

SEVEN VEGETABLES FOR DINNER; THAT COMES OF HAVING PRIVATE GARDEN

Of Course, Some of Them Were From Last Year's Plants, It Is Confessed.

A rivalry in regard to war gardens has sprung up among the citizens of London such as would have been deemed beyond the realm of possibility in the summer of 1917.

"We had seven kinds of vegetables from our garden for dinner at noon today," said a prominent London woman to an Advertiser reporter shortly before the paper went to press. "Then, as we had no more, we went to the garden and picked some more. Potatoes—good or better than those that are selling for 30 cents a peck, and green beans, peas, parsley in the cream sauce for the fish, and pickled tomatoes and cucumbers."

"But," said the reporter, "you don't mean to make me believe you already have tomatoes ready for pickles?"

"Oh, no," replied the housewife calmly. "They were picked last fall, but they were grown in our garden last year, and they are just now ready to eat."

"Humph," said the girl with the hoe, "he said the girl with the hoe, 'that's a nothing vegetable. We have tomatoes on our vines two inches in diameter. We could have them picked right away if we wanted them for the purpose, and as for our beans, we have been using them so many weeks I can't remember when we started.'"

White Grub Bad.

The white grub, a number of gardeners here, has been a real choice onion. One man pulled up his whole onion patch on that account, the remaining ones being too small to eat. The chairman found a couple of his flourishing cabbages beginning to wilt. He pulled them up to get at the roots, and found the white grubs. He dispatched the said white grubs, and the cabbages again. According to latest reports the cabbages are now doing nicely.

Potato Bugs Troublesome.

Potatoes are causing much anxiety, not to mention trouble, at present. One man doesn't eat them because they are a nasty, squishy variety. The kind to which he became injured was a variety that had had a lot of water. He said he had had a lot of water, and he said he had had a lot of water, and he said he had had a lot of water.

DRIFT OF ENGINEERS OFF TO BROOKVILLE

A draft of Canadian Engineers, numbering 102, left this city last night at 7 o'clock, via Grand Trunk, for the Engineers' Training Depot, Brookville, Quebec, where they will receive further training before proceeding overseas. The draft was in charge of Capt. Roy Garrett, and is the first to leave this city for some time.

The departing soldiers were escorted to the station by the Canadian Garrison Regiment Band, and presented a fine appearance as they marched through the streets. There was a large crowd of friends on hand at the station to bid them good-bye, and every man was loaded down with parcels of good things to eat.

LOCAL GARAGES TO CLOSE ON SUNDAYS

London garage owners believe that they are much entitled to close on Sundays and have a rest day as any other businessmen, and with that end in view all city garages will close commencing Sunday, July 21.

Even Sleeping Baby Could Not Prevail Against Those Rules

But Street Car Conductor Lost a Fare Through Obedience.

Pity the poor street car conductor! As students of human nature they meet some peculiar cases for study, the female of the species providing the greatest field for observation. According to a recent ruling of the London Street Railway Company, no baby carriages are to be taken on cars unless the contents are first removed. This is to protect the infants from the jolts and bumps of the car, and to prevent the possibility of lifting baby and carriage onto the car together.

Baby Was Asleep.

Yesterday a North Belt car was proceeding along Adelaide street, when a member of the Mothers' Club, accompanied by the evidence in a carriage, signalled the motorman to stop. She then attempted to board the car, and proceeded to pass the carriage with Snooks inside to the conductor.

"You will have to remove the baby first," cautioned the knight of the road. "But he is asleep, and it is not necessary to remove him," replied the mother of one.

"I am sorry, but it is against the rules to accept baby carriages with the infant inside," firmly insisted the conductor.

Rules "Is" Rules.

"Oh, but he is asleep, and I do not wish to waken him," pleaded the woman in the case, as the passenger inside became impatient at the delay.

"Rules must not be broken," diplomatically observed the man in charge. "I will walk then," haughtily declared the custodian of the baby, as she strutted with very independent ward the dutiful conductor.

"She might have wakened him if she spilled her darling on the pavement," observed the transfer king, as he pulled the bell twice, and the North Belt car wobbled on its course.

RENWICK AVENUE MAY YET HAVE RIGS PASS ALONG IT THIS YEAR

Fine Gravel Being Used to Bind Rocks Together.

Renwick avenue, in the north end, will be a good road yet. This spot has been the scene of several stormy sessions at the board of works. The residents of the avenue asked for a gravel road. Several times the board has refused to grant the request. Large rocks predominated. The efforts of the road roller to bind them together into a solid smooth substance failed. The roller spent about twelve days on the effort, and the longer it tried the more it accomplished, and the more the residents got. They saw $1,000 for the gravel, and the board refused to pay about $300. They have notified the board of works that they will not pay for gravel unless no meeting is held by the board on or before July 18.

At the last meeting of the committee, when the residents of the street served notice on the board, the board refused to pay about $300. They have notified the board of works that they will not pay for gravel unless no meeting is held by the board on or before July 18.

After having been highly commended for his work in maintaining absolute discipline on the sinking boat, he was promoted to sergeant-major, and is expecting to leave again for overseas.

MOVEMENT ON FOOT TO HAVE ELIMINATED DOUBLE INCOME TAX

Those Affected Here Asked to Write Board of Trade.

Canadians working in the United States and living in Canada, and Canadians holding investments in Canada, must pay a double income tax, the United States claiming one and the Dominion the other. This serious matter is being considered by boards of trade with a view to trying to eliminate the double tax. The Windsor board recently held a session on the subject. The attention of others boards, including that of London, has been drawn to the matter. The question will be taken up here at an early date, and in Windsor meetings there are so many interested have been asked to communicate with the secretary of the board of trade, stating how they are affected.

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Baby's Own Tablets cure these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child will prevent their coming. The Tablets are guaranteed by a Government analyst to be absolutely harmless even to the newborn babe. They are especially good for summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. ### GOVERNMENT TEST CASE TRY S. A. ALBERTA IS AN ENEMY OF THE PEOPLE

Two Questions, Order-In-Council's Legality and Power to Suspend Habeas Corpus, Will Be Decided on Merits of Nipissing Appeal.

ALBERTA DECISION WILL NOT COME UP

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, July 12.—A brand new case of first instance has been found for the consideration of the Supreme Court of Canada, which will sit on Thursday next, to determine the validity or invalidity of the order-in-council of April 20. The court will hear an application for habeas corpus preferred on behalf of Pte. Geo. E. Grey, of Nipissing, when the two questions, viz., the validity of the order-in-council abolishing exemptions granted under an act of Parliament and the power of the Government to suspend the right of habeas corpus will be dealt with and adjudicated upon.

No Alberta Appeal.

No appeal will be taken from the decision of the Supreme Court of Alberta. In this manner the question of the right of the Government to so appeal will be disposed of; moreover R. B. Bennett, K.C., the able and resourceful counsel, who secured the verdict before the Alberta court, will not plead the case, unless he happens to be associated with the counsel for Grey.

WHAT CASE IS.

OTTAWA, July 12.—The important question of the validity of the order-in-council of April 20, cancelling exemptions granted under the military service act, reached the supreme court of Canada this morning. The case was an application for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Pte. Geo. E. Grey, of Nipissing, who is under arrest because he refused to do a military uniform at the Nipissing camp, and to be inducted into the army. After hearing the application in chambers, Mr. Justice Anglin consented to the issuance of an order referring the matter to the full supreme court, which will sit on Thursday next, July 18.

In the course of the proceedings before the court, Mr. Justice Anglin explained that Grey, the applicant for the writ of habeas corpus, is a farmer, who had been refused exemption by the local tribunal. He went before the appeals tribunal at Halifax, and secured exemption, so long as he remained on the farm. From this decision the military authorities appealed to the central appeal judges, and the application was before Mr. Justice Duff on April 20, when the order-in-council was issued. Like similar appeals relating to the validity of the order-in-council, it was not proceeded with.

Mr. Justice Anglin referred to the fact that the order-in-council had been passed when Parliament was in session. That was an objection to it which he said he would like to hear discussed. He also expressed a desire to see the judgment of the Alberta and Quebec courts.
