TO PREPARE LIST OF ALL ELIGIBLES

Systematic Canvass of Entire City to Be Commenced Monday.

matic canvass of the entire city will be commenced to reach and make a list of the men in the city eligible for active service. This plan of campaign was decided upon at a meeting held Thursday afternoon at the headquarters of the 216th Battalion, the Bantams, and attended by representatives of all the units now actively recruiting: The 170th, Major Watts; the 198th, Lleut.-Col. Hand, Cooper; the 201st, Lleut.-Col. Hagarty; the 204th, Lieut.-Col. Hagarty; the 204th, Lieut.-Col. Errice; the 208th, Lleut.-Col. Burton and Major Lewis.

Early last week the 216th Battalion, the Bantams, with whom the idea originated, made a canvass of a section of the city in order to lay something definite before the other commanding officers.

the city in order to lay something definite before the other commanding officers.

Will List Every Man.

At Thursday's meeting arrangements were made to institute a general cenvess of the entire city. The scheme adopted, which is the outcome of a suggestion made by Major A. C. Lewis, second in command of the Bantam's Battalion, and to be commenced on Monday, April 17, calls for a canvass to be carried on principally in the hours between five and eight o'clock in the evening. Seven hundred and fifty men specially trained for the work will be engaged, and the object is to list every man of military age in order that he may be given an opportunity to join one of the battalions.

The men will be asked to enlist, but no pressure will, be brought to bear on them. It is felt that by this method the sligible men will all be reached without the constant bother of being successively canvassed by numberless recruiting sergeants attached to the different units. The names secured will be listed each day by a staff of experis, and those who could not be canvassed directly for recruiting purposes on the night of the first call, will be approached systematically as soon afterwards as possible.

Public Co-Operation.

In this way every battalion will be given an opportunity to secure the men necessary to complete its complement, and the public is earnestly asked to cooperate in this effort to reduce recruiting in Toronto to a system.

The men engaged on the canvass have been fastructed to approach every house in the city in the most courteous manner, to ask every man to enlist, but to use no pressure in order to bring this about, nor to argue with the man, the object being to give every man its opportunity to do his duty, and to have, when the work is completed, a list of all men of military age in the city, it is expected that the entire canvass will be completed within a week, and the re-

SHEA'S THEATRE.

For next week the Shea management present as the headline attraction those talented entertainers, Sam Chip and Mary Marble, presenting the musical fantasy, "The Clock Shop." It is a genuine noveity, which serves to introduce a company of eight talented artists in a song and dance revue. The special extra attraction of the bill will be Frank Milton and the charming De Long sisters in an amusing rural playlet entitled, "The Diamond Palace." "The Dare-Devils of War," a Universal feature film, will show in two reels marvelous views of the Italian army and navy in action. Lady sen Mei is a talented Chinese prima donna; Page, Hack and Mack have a dancing novelty; Al Herman, "The Assassin of Grief and Remorse," is a dever monologist; Bicknell, a comedy clay-modeler, and Fatricol and Myers in a singing and dancing melange complete the bill.

THE HIPPODROME.

"Frocks and Frills," a clever little musical comedy sketch with eight talented boys and girls in song dance and instrumental numbers, will headline the bill at the Hippodrome next week. Novei electrical and scenic effects and gorgeous costuming add to the attractiveness of the sketch. "The Flirt," a Buleoird feature, with Marie Walcamp and Juan De La Cruz, is the special feature him. It deals with the experiences of a bautiful girl who uses her beauty to break masculine hearts. Irene hobson will offer an amusing comedy sketch, while Elkins, Fay and Elkins are three clever entertainers. The Faynes have a singing, dancing and chatter melange, while "silent Nora" is a sleight-of-hand artist and illusionist. Grey and autintic sing and dance in pleasing fashion, while the dialog is full of snap and action, containing much clean, wholesome comedy.

Pte. Cronk Appeals to Os goode Against Order of Commissioner Boyd.

MISPLACED CONFIDENCE

City May Ask for Extradition of A. F. Lobb as Result of Judgment.

Private Cronk of the 180th Battallor and his wife have had a great deal of Pte. Cronk first made application to Commissioner Boyd over a year ago for the custody of the child. The first application resulted in an order whereby the child was to spend periods of two months alternately with his grandmothers. A term of the order was that every week the child was to be weighed at the city hall. If a loss of weight was apparent the custody of the child was changed. With the fluctuations in weight, due to teething and children's aliments, the parents felt that the order was a strange one, but it stood. The paternal grandmother refused to take the child down during the last three weeks so Commissioner Boyd made an order that the child be brought to court.

the Town of Hanover in an appeal from an arbitration award which allowed the plaintiff nothing when the iown expropriated a mill which they had leased to him for a period of three years, while the lease had about a year to run. Perram claimed $1600 on the basis of a possible profit on war orders he might have received, whereas the town claimed they had relieved him of an unprofitable investment. The judgmont stated that Perram was entitled to recompense for the cost of moving and the loss of power he suffered. This, after rental and a debt he owed to the town, had been deducted,
