CANADIAN LUMBER NOTES

(Issued by the Canadian Forestry Association, Ottawa.)

About nine million acres out of a total of 210 million acres in Quebec province are under agricultural development. The chief crop of the remaining 200 million acres is and will always be timber for the reason that the soil is unfitted for tillage.

More than two-thirds of the technical foresters in Canada in 1914 have been military service at the front. The enlistment of forest rangers has likewise been heavy.

The use of hydro-aeroplanes for detection of forest fires is being considered by certain governmental and private interests in Canada.

In order to save for the Indians of Canada their large timber holdings against loss by forest fires, the Indian department at Ottawa is obliging licensees to pile and burn their "slash" after taking the logs out of the woods. The precaution will save numerous bad fires.

While Canada spends about four millions yearly in studying agricultural problems, only a trifling sum has been spent on the study of forest problems. More than two-thirds of the whole of Canada is better adapted for tree growing than anything else and will pay profits according to the scientific care bestowed on it.

AFTER A YEAR OF PROHIBITION IN ONTARIO

Unanimous Feeling of Satisfaction in Province

Some Opinions Expressed

N. R. Rowell and Premier Hearst Interviewed—Assertion That no One Would be so Bold as to Ask Return to Old Conditions

In answer to a request for a statement on the first anniversary of prohibition in Ontario, Newton Rowell said:

"I am in receipt of the strongest testimony from all parts of the province, of the great political benefits which have resulted from the operation of the Ontario Temperance Act during the past year.

"The results have been so satisfactory that large numbers of those who were opposed to the adoption of the measure are now its warm supporters.

man of the Ontario license board. "I believe the act is being administered satisfactorily. The government has received about $150,000 in fines during the last twelve months from cases started by its own inspectors alone, independent of the police fines, which go to the municipalities.

"We have received no complaints of lack of hotel accommodation, all reports state that this is better than before. The bar was the important factor under the old system; now the hotel man is paying more attention to accommodation. The act has practically done away with open drunkenness. Merchants throughout the province report increases in sales of all kinds of commodities. We have a great many letters from all sorts of people, expressing satisfaction with the administration of the act, and none have so far asked for its repeal."

Church of England

The Canadian Churchman, the official organ of the Anglican church in Canada, in an editorial entitled: "Prohibition a Success?" says:

"Prohibition laws in the six provinces have been almost universally well received; but the measure of their success is in exact ratio to the determination of the authorities to enforce them.

"While provincial prohibition is good, dominion prohibition would be infinitely preferable. The benefits gained from these laws are almost everywhere apparent in the very thought of going back to the old system is out of the question. In a word, the Church of England in Canada is solid for prohibition.

"Prohibition removes temptation from the young and stops the casual drinker. To shield young boys by removing the bar from the saloon and from the sight of the street is a measure of great value. Many of us have
